SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO BLAZE – Firemen battle brush fire which blackened nine acres Monday afternoon along the Trabuco Creek in the north section of San Juan Capistrano. County and state forestry fire fighters battled the blaze for an hour and a half before gaining the upper hand. A forestry spokesman said the blaze "looked spectacular," but did not pose a serious threat to nearby homes and equestrian facilities. Forty firemen, manning eight engines, two bulldozers and two water tankers, were on the fire line. Firemen said they were investigating reports that youngsters were seen playing with matches prior to the outbreak of flames. Wind gusts hampered the fire fighters.

Carter Seeks Steel Price Hike Rollback

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) – President-elect Jimmy Carter said Monday he has "sent word" to the nation's steel companies that he hopes they can reverse recent price hikes to help hold down global inflation.

But he said the steel companies so far have been noncommittal in responding to his plea.

A spokesman for Carter said most of the contacts with the steel companies were made by senators and House members.

"I haven't talked to them (the steel company executives) directly but I have sent word to them," Carter said in an interview with Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News.

Carter said he believes the price hikes will have a severe impact on inflation worldwide and may serve as an excuse for oil-producing nations to increase their petroleum prices.

Carter said: "If prices are going up I think it would be a good excuse for Iran and other nations to say 'Well, if you increase steel prices in the middle of our oil meetings, then it's legitimate for us to raise our oil prices."

Two Fugitives On Statewide Spree Caught

SAN LUIS OBISPO (AP) – Two more fugitives were captured Monday in a statewide crime spree that resulted in a killing, six abductions and the wounding of a sheriff's deputy, the sheriff's office said here.

Sgt. Nick Marquart said that Lake County Sheriff's deputies reported that they had in custody Michael Heide, 34, of Concord, Calif. and Nancy Green, 22, of Pittsburg, Calif.

Acting Sheriff Tim Storton of San Luis Obispo County said Louise Peterson, 23, of Salem, Ore. was arrested Sunday after a shootout with deputies in Atascadero.

Still sought for questioning in the statewide dragnet was William Caldwell, 26, of Concord.

The Lake County Sheriff's office confirmed that two persons were in custody but declined to discuss details immediately.

The sheriff's office radio reports said that Heide and Miss Green were captured after a sheriff's deputy spotted their car speeding and found by radio check that it was a wanted vehicle. Deputies and the California Highway Patrol gave chase, stopping the car near the community of Lower Lake.

The report said the car occupants had loaded pistols but gave up without a fight.

At least two businesses were robbed in the course of the rampage begun in Concord, Calif. on Saturday by two men and two women.

Soviet Airliner Crash Kills 70 Near Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) – A Soviet TU104 airliner crashed shortly after takeoff on a flight from Moscow to Leningrad, killing 70 persons on board, Western airline sources said Monday.

A spokesman for the Soviet airline Aeroflot confirmed there had been a crash, but declined to say how many persons died. He said an investigation was under way.

There was no immediate word on whether any passengers or crew members aboard the plane survived the crash Sunday night.

The TU104 is a turbojet aircraft with a regular capacity of 100 passengers. In winter some seats are often removed on Soviet airliners to make room for extra coats and heavy clothing. The plane became Aeroflot's main airliner in 1956, but in recent years has been largely replaced by more advanced models.

The Western sources said Sunday's crash occurred at about 7 p.m. Moscow time approximately 20 miles from the Moscow airport. The airliner began losing altitude immediately after takeoff, one source said.

The airport was closed down and ambulances with flashing lights were seen in the area at about the time of the crash.

The controlled Soviet news media seldom report on air crashes or other disasters.

Earlier this year there were several unconfirmed reports of Aeroflot crashes, including one on Jan. 3 in which a TU134 carrying 86 passengers is said to have crashed near Moscow.

In March, at least 120 persons were reported killed in an Ilyushin 18 crash near Voronezh, south of Moscow. In June, 46 persons were killed when a TU154 aircraft crashed in Equatorial Guinea on a flight from Angola to Moscow.

IRVINE MAKES OFFER

City Acts To End Housing Lawsuit

By ART BARRETT
Register Staff Writer

IRVINE – The Irvine Co. and city officials Monday announced an offer aimed at ending housing lawsuits that block construction of the $250 million 1,534-acre Irvine Industrial Complex East.

The terms of the joint offer are that the Irvine Co. will build, for low-income workers, 48 apartment units per year for 10 years.

Using tax subsidization through the Housing and Community Development Act (HCDA), the city would build streets, gutters and improve parks, as well as reduce code restrictions so the rental units can be built less expensively to help hold down rents.

The same tax-supported funding used by the city for improvements will be sought by the city and company for the apartment renters. Under section eight of HCDA, renters could obtain the difference between the monthly rent and what the renter can afford to pay.

Irvine Co. President Ray Watson explained that the heads of household qualifying for low income housing can

Quake Registering 7.3 Jolts Peru, Chile Cities

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) – A strong earthquake shook northern Chile and southern Peru Monday night. Police in Tarapaca province reported three persons injured, and a Santiago newspaper said at least one person was killed.

The University of Chile's seismological institute recorded the quake at 7:41 p.m. EST and said the epicenter was located 30 miles south of the town of Iquique.

The police chief in Iquique reported there were no casualties in his area although the quake brought down a wall in his city and some adobe structures collapsed in rural areas.

The chief reported that sections of the Pan American Highway were cracked or damaged by landslides. But he said traffic was able to move with caution along the road.

The radio station in the town of Arequipa, north of the border in Peru, said the quake sent residents fleeing into the streets. But the Peruvian civil defense agency in Lima said no casualties were reported.

The U.S. National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., said the quake registered 7.3 on the Richter scale. The Richter scale registers ground movement, with six on the scale signifying a severe quake. A quake registering seven is considered capable of causing widespread damage.

Chutist Lives After Falling 7,000 Feet

BIDFORD ON AVON, England (AP) – His parachute failed to open, his reserve chute tangled and sky diver Graham Flemons plunged more than a mile into a plowed field. He lived.

Flemons, 25, was being treated for serious internal injuries and a broken leg after the 7,000-foot fall Sunday. He is a member of the British Parachute Association's free-fall exhibition team.

Former Teamsters' Official Named In Payoff Indictment

CHICAGO (AP) – A powerful former official of the Teamsters' largest pension fund is named in a federal indictment to be announced today, according to informed sources.

The sources said Monday that Alvin Baron, 50, a lawyer now living in Las Vegas, Nev., will be indicted for allegedly taking a $200,000 payoff three years ago to arrange a $1.3 million loan from the Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund.

Baron, who left the fund in 1975 after serving as its $100,000-a-year assets manager, allegedly received the payoff from Moy E. Bryant, owner of the Mount Vernon Mortuary in Fair Oaks, Calif., the sources said.

The $1.4 billion pension fund, which covers 450,000 Teamsters members and retirees, has been the subject of investigations by the Labor and Justice Departments for mismanagement and making loans to shaky business ventures, some allegedly associated with organized crime.

The Baron indictment will be the first to come out of the Justice Department inquiry.

Although Baron was recruited for the fund by former Teamsters President Jimmy Hoffa and wielded considerable influence during his nine-year tenure, sources said fund attorneys first supplied Justice Department investigators with evidence of the alleged payoff.

A source close to the fund said Bryant attended a meeting with fund officials in April to discuss why he was delinquent in making loan pay-

ON RHODESIA DEADLINE

Black Nationalists Deny Accord

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) – In an apparent switch, two black Rhodesian nationalists said Monday they had not agreed to a British-proposed March 1, 1978, deadline for independence under black majority rule for Rhodesia.

Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe also strongly criticized British conference chairman Ivor Richard.

Nkomo and Mugabe said at a news conference they still were demanding a Dec. 1, 1977, majority rule deadline for the white-ruled breakaway British colony, but would go ahead and discuss other issues at the conference.

Richard announced last Friday that the two allied black leaders had agreed to the 1978 date, breaking a three-week deadlock. Nkomo and Mugabe, who had been refusing to discuss any other issue until the deadline was settled, indicated then that they had accepted the proposal. But they said Monday that "we are reserving our position."

In a joint statement, the two leaders bitterly accused Richard of trying to divide them, being intransigent, "not negotiating seriously" and favoring other delegations by showing them documents he withheld from Nkomo and Mugabe.

The two leaders met with Richard again on Monday, and the chairman told reporters they had discussed the structure of an interim government for Rhodesia before black majority rule is achieved.

Ford 'Not Depressed' About Election Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) – President Ford's chief spokesman issued a denial Monday of reports that the President has become bitter or emotionally depressed over his loss to President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, said instead that the President is looking forward to an active role in rehabilitating the Republican party and a "new and challenging phase of his life" after he leaves office on Jan. 20.

At a White House news briefing, Nessen was asked about a Newsweek magazine story reporting that Ford is feeling badly about the election loss.

Nessen said he had talked to Ford about the story and "I can tell you any speculation that the President has turned into a recluse or that the President is depressed just simply isn't true."

"The President has a very good attitude," Nessen said. "He is going to embark on a new and challenging phase of his life."

Besides a final State-of-the-Union address, Nessen said Ford is considering a "state of the world" address and a possible farewell speech to the American people.

$25,000 PER VOTE

Countian Outspends Carter, Ford

By JOHN O'DELL
Register Staff Writer

Jimmy Carter spent about 50 cents a vote in his winning presidential campaign; Irving Levin spent $25,000 per vote and didn't even come close.

Irving, as the 58-year-old Fullerton resident prefers to be called, only got two votes – the most expensive ones in county history.

Although he was a legitimate write-in candidate only in Orange County (the only place he registered as a contender), Irving spent $50,000 of his own money taking his campaign to every state but Alaska and Hawaii.

For 30 months the self-employed media consultant let his business slump as he drove himself – sometimes in a white Cadillac convertible, sometimes in a red, white and blue Volkswagen – anywhere people would listen to him.

His message was simple. "Anyone can run for president. I'm qualified to be president, I'm a natural born U.S. citizen, over 35 and Brooklyn born."

(The Constitution sets only three requirements for presidents – that they be natural born citizens, over 35 and residents of one of the states.)

Levin maintains that while candidates Carter and Gerald Ford were spending millions of dollars to convince voters they were qualified, he established his qualifications with a $2 copy of his birth certificate.

He said he attempted to show in his often satirical "campaign" that the political process has lost touch with the general public.

"I tried to get people to think, and a lot of them did – they didn't vote."

And even though the people that did vote didn't vote for Irving – except two Orange Countians, himself "and some other nut" – he said the $50,000 and 30 months were time and money well spent.

"But now I've got to settle down and get business back together. Jerry Brown can have a rock concert to help pay his campaign debts, but I have got to raise the money myself."

One opportunity is a book Levin's been asked to write, detailing his experiences as a presidential candidate nobody ever heard of.

He can write about the time he held a "whistle stop" tour on an Amtrak train from Los Angeles to San Diego, walking up and down the aisles showing commuters how to spell his name.

Or the press conference he held at the Los Angeles Press Club – the one nobody attended except a crew from the local CBS affiliate, which shot some film and ran it on the night's news with no sound.

Levin said his whimsical campaign was fun, but not something he'd care to repeat. "Besides, the kids are asking when the old man's gonna get sane again," he said with a grin.

Oswald Probers Sent To Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) – Investigators for the House Committee on Assassinations have been dispatched to Mexico in an effort to verify a report that the CIA, for unexplained reasons, withheld information about Lee Harvey Oswald from the Warren Commission, a spokesman said Monday.

The investigators will interview two retired agency employes who reportedly heard Oswald offer a deal to Soviet officials in Mexico City less than two months before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the committee spokesman said.

Oswald's voice was picked up through electronic surveillance of the Cuban and Soviet embassies and transcribed by the two agency employes, according to the Washington Post.

David A. Phillips, a now-retired CIA officer who was stationed in Mexico City at the time, also has recalled Oswald making such an offer.

In Sacramento, Calif., CIA Director George Bush told reporters Monday that the agency did not withhold information from the Warren Commission and that it had done "everything it could to cooperate."

Renoir Sells For $1 Million

LONDON (AP) – "La Promenade," painted by Pierre-Auguste Renoir in 1870, was sold to a London art dealer for $1,023,000 Monday night in an auction at Sotheby's.

It was the major attraction among 20 Impressionist and modern paintings from the Spingold collection in New York that sold for $2,423,685.

The collection was formed by the late Nate B. Spingold, vice president in New York of Columbia Pictures, who died in 1958, and by his fashion-designer wife Frances. She died last January.

Davis Ellis Jones made the successful bid for "La Promenade."

Blaze Starter's Home Burns

RED BLUFF (AP) – A fire Monday destroyed the home of a man who was fined for starting a 70,000-acre brush fire near Red Bluff this summer, authorities said.

Edward Reed, 49, was away from home when the blaze gutted the house and a nearby storage shed in the isolated Skinners Mill area about 30 miles east of Red Bluff, the state Division of Forestry said.

Spokesman Hamilton Mills said the cause wasn't known but appeared to be accidental. No one was injured.

A spark from Reed's lawn mower was blamed for starting a brush fire near this Northern California community in June and July. Reed pleaded no contest to using a lawn mower without a spark arrester and was fined $250.

Teamsters, UPS Resume Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) – Formal contract talks resumed Monday for the first time in more than a week as representatives of the Teamsters union and United Parcel Service attempted to settle a nine-week strike.

Sources said the company submitted revised contract proposals but there was no indication whether they received a favorable union response. Both sides have maintained a self-imposed news blackout.

Some 17,000 UPS employes struck Sept. 15, shutting down company facilities in 15 states from Maine to North Carolina.

'Phyllis' Actress Lowry Dies

NEW YORK (AP) – Actress Judith Lowry, 86, who played the "Mother Dexter" character on CBS Television's "Phyllis" series, collapsed and died on a city street here Monday, authorities said.

Mrs. Lowry, who began in acting in 1913 with a stock company in Washington, was walking in Greenwich Village with a son, Semmes Lowry of Long Island, when stricken by an apparent heart attack, a spokesman for the "Phyllis" show said in Los Angeles.

The spokesman said Mrs. Lowry had been on vacation in New York during the Thanksgiving holiday. She had planned to return to Los Angeles to resume filming "Phyllis" on Wednesday.

Peasants Invade Mexican Farms

MEXICO CITY (AP) – Some 400-500 peasants have invaded private farm land in the central state of Durango, the federal attorney general's office said Monday.

The Mexico City newspaper Excelsior reported earlier that about 1,000 peasants had seized 720,000 acres of land there.

"It's much less land than that, but until federal police agents complete their investigation, we won't know exactly how much," a spokesman for the attorney general's office in the city of Durango said by telephone.

He said the peasants moved onto the land Sunday in a zone some 220 miles north of the city of Durango and near the border with Chihuahua state.

Missing Mountaineer Found Dead

FRESNO (AP) – A Southern California mountain climber missing for three days was found dead Monday in a remote section of the Sierra Nevada east of here, the coroner's office reported.

Steve Lester, 29, of Alhambra had fallen 135 feet while climbing 13,000-foot Mt. Mills, officials said.

Fresno County Sheriff's office had reported earlier, on the basis of radio communications from the scene, that Lester was found alive, but that report was erroneous.

Searchers reported temperatures were 22 degrees below zero on the peak Lester began climbing alone last Friday

Holiday Traffic Deaths Lower

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents killed 467 persons during the Thanksgiving weekend, considerably fewer deaths than would be expected during a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The National Safety Council said its statisticians figure that about 530 persons are killed during a non-holiday four-day period.

Prior to the holiday, the Safety Council estimated that fatalities could number between 450 and 550 from 6 p.m. last Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

The number contrasts sharply with 600 or 700 persons killed over the holiday during the 1960s and early 1970s, said a spokesman for the National Safety Council.

9-Year-Old Bodies Identified

LAKEPORT (AP) – A nine-year-old missing persons case was resolved when Lake County Sheriff's officials discovered the skeletal remains of two men in an automobile buried in Clear Lake.

Sheriff's officials today identified the men as Melvin L. Murrin, of Yakima, Wash. and Chester Lowe, of Kelseyville, Calif.

The men were reported missing to Lake County officials on Dec. 22, 1967 by Lowe's wife, Christine. At the time of the report, Lowe was 53 and Murrin, 46.

State park rangers noticed the car lodged in mud in one of the park channels about two months ago. They were unsucessful until Saturday in recovering the vehicle.

SNIPING FINALE – Armed Portland, Ore., policemen, wearing bullet-proof vests, close in Monday on Daniel Harmon Jones, 20, of Independence, Calif., on the roof of a Portland Holiday Inn. The two-hour sniping episode, in which shots were fired into rush-hour traffic, resulted in the wounding of a policeman, who was hit while standing on a sidewalk a block from the motel. Authorities said Jones was charged with attempted murder and held on $100,000 bail.

Turkey Sets Up Tent-Camps For 40,000 Quake Victims

VAN, Turkey (AP) – Four refugee tent-camps were being set up Monday to house some of the estimated 40,000 persons left homeless by last week's earthquake in eastern Turkey. But rescue workers said many victims were refusing to leave their devastated villages.

Tayar Hindistan, chief Turkish Red Crescent relief officer here, said many persons would not leave their farm animals in the freezing weather, "but the winter will eventually force them all down" from the mountain villages.

Hindistan said the Red Crescent warehouses were full of relief supplies and they were now able to supply most of the devastated area with tents, blankets and food.

An airlift of 40 U.S. Air Force cargo planes have brought 1.2 million pounds of emergency supplies, according to U.S. Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson, who stopped in Ankara Sunday and Monday before flying on to Morocco.

Officials here said more than 1,000 refugees were already housed in schools and public buildings in Van and there was room for another 3,000.

A World Health Organization representative here, Cancetto Gautuzzo, said that more medical supplies were needed but "otherwise the supply situation seems under control and adequate."

Rescue officials stopped releasing casualty figures Saturday, when the confirmed death toll stood at 3,626. Officials feared the toll would reach 5,000, but sources said rescue workers were having difficulty keeping track. Many bodies were being buried without registration, the sources said.

Among those villagers who refused to be evacuated was the husband of Dervisan Alatas. Mrs. Alatas said he stayed behind even though both their daughters died in the quake because "he must care for the animals."

There were an estimated 1 million head of cattle and sheep in the agricultural area before the quake and the weekend blizzard, government officials said. They said the Turkish government was considering buying the cattle so the remaining farmers could go to the refugee centers.

The family of Ahmet Guler, 55, survived the quake and blizzard, but lost his 150 sheep. "I am so upset about my sheep," he said. "They were my only means of livelihood."

In an accident apparently unrelated to the quake, 21 persons were killed Monday in a bus and car collision near here, the semi-official Turkish news agency Anatolia reported.

The agency said both vehicles were thrown into Lake Van by the collision.

Comic Dies

"They tried to resucitate him," a spokesman said, "but he was obviously dead on arrival."

The actor's family was at his side when he was pronounced dead, the spokesman said.

Cambridge, a rotund comic who starred in the films "Cotton Comes to Harlem," "The Watermelon Man," and "The Biscuit Eater," was hospitalized in 1972 with a fluid-retention problem caused by high weight.

"I'm lucky I didn't have a heart attack," he said at the time. "I'm going to do just what they tell me to do."

Cambridge, who lived in Ridgefield, Conn., was a perenniel dieter who once shed 170 pounds after ballooning up to nearly 300 pounds.

Cambridge acted in several black written-and-produced plays in the early '60s, and gained national attention when he became a fixture on NBC's "The Jack Paar Show."

His parents, Alexander and Sarah Cambridge, emigrated from British Guiana to New York, where they settled in Harlem.

"I was brought up to believe I was different," he once said in an interview. "Being West Indian, my mother is enourmously proud. She feels if you're not West Indian, you're nothing."

Upon graduating from Hofstra College in 1955, Cambridge skirted from job to job while trying to break into show business. After working alternately as an airplane wing cleaner, judo instructor, maternity hospital ambulance driver, hot rod racer and cab driver, he landed his first acting role in 1956, playing the part of a bartender at $15 a week in an off-Broadway revival of "Take a Giant Step."

Burglars Rob Milan Bank Of $4 Million

MILAN, Italy (AP) – A team of burglars using duplicate keys and cutting torches broke into a major Milan bank over the weekend and rifled about 400 safe deposit boxes, police said Monday.

The exact amount of loot in Italian and foreign currency, jewelry and gold bars was not determined but police sources said it may range around $4.5 million.

Investigators reported the burglars, believed to number between six and ten, worked leisurely, leaving behind half-eaten sandwiches, empty wine bottles, cigarette packs and 14 oxygen containers used for the cutting torches.

But they left no firm clues in what could be the largest bank theft in Italy, detectives added.

Angry customers rushed to the bank soon after the theft was discovered Monday morning by bank employes.

"They have taken everything," an elderly lady cried. "Imagine, I put everything I had saved into the bank after a burglary at home. What security?" She did not disclose the amount of her loss.

A Milan newspaper, Corriere D'Informazione, labeled the burglars "the golden gang" and said, "the hit of the golden men could be a perfect operation in all respects."

According to police accounts, the thieves gained entrance Friday night or early Saturday to the Lombardy Province Savings Bank, using duplicate keys to open a side entrance.

Carter, Steel

Carter said also that he will make his first Cabinet-level appointment in the next few days when he announces whether he has decided to name Atlanta banker Bert Lance secretary of the treasury or director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Carter said he has been talking to many of those under consideration for Cabinet appointments.

"They know they are under consideration but none have a commitment from me," he said.

Carter said he has narrowed the list of candidates to about five each for secretary of state and defense and to about ten for secretary of the treasury.

On the subject of steel price increases, Carter said the steel companies so far have been noncommittal in their responses to his plea for a price roll back.

"I would hope they would give me a chance as an incoming president to try and stabilize the inflationary spiral but I can't say that my efforts have been successful so far," he said.

On the other hand, Carter said, "I can't foresee any need for mandatory wage and price controls."

Asked if he might offer a job to outgoing President Ford, Carter said, "I would like to have President Ford help me."

Noting that Democratic President Harry Truman had enlisted former Republican President Herbert Hoover, who headed a special commission on proposals to reorganize the federal government, Carter said he would like to "call upon President Ford occasionally" for help.

Earlier, Carter's chief spokesman said that Carter is optimistic about relations with the Soviet Union. He left open the possibility that Carter has received a private message from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Fatal Stabbing Suspect Held

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP) – One man was in custody and another dead Monday following an early morning stabbing incident, police said.

Mark Vonderhaar, 19, of Vallejo, Calif., was booked for investigation of murder following the death of Mark Pryor, 21, also of Vallejo.

Vonderhaar reportedly told police the stabbing followed a fight over money and narcotics.

Police Arrest 3 On Cocaine Sale Charges

FOUNTAIN VALLEY – Three suspected narcotics peddlers were arrested here Monday afternoon and police said they seized a half pound of cocaine valued at $13,000 as undercover officers climaxed two months of surveillance.

Booked on suspicion of the sale of cocaine, police said, were Gary Desantis, 34, of 16808 Bushard St., Fountain Valley; John Union, 33, a transient, and Gordon Bruce Emerson, 22, of 6401 E. Nohl Ranch Road, Anaheim.

The arrests were made at a local cafe during a meeting arranged by narcotics officers, police said. The cocaine was seized at the time of the arrests, officers said.

Garden Grove police narcotics officers assisted local officers during the surveillance period, police said.

CIA's Budget Can't Be Revealed

SACRAMENTO (AP) – CIA Director George Bush said Monday that he will never reveal the full budget of his agency to the public, but that he is reporting fully to Congress.

Bush also told 700 guests at a businessmen's luncheon that he does not expect President-elect Jimmy Carter to make any radical change in the Central Intelligence Agency.

Bush told Sacramento's Comstock Club that the CIA reports to seven committees of Congress, and "that's adequate oversight."

"There's a myth abroad that nobody knows, except for the director and maybe the President, how much money the CIA spends," Bush said.

"Every single penny of the CIA budget is reported to the proper committees of Congress. And they're not going to be, as long as I'm director, reported to the people, because I don't believe that you can lay out innermost details of our intelligence and still have an intelligence capability that's meaningful," he added.

He said less than two per cent of the CIA budget is spent on covert activities, and that those activities are now approved in advance by both congressional and administration oversight agencies.

The rest of the budget is spent on intelligence-gathering about nuclear proliferation and other military subjects, international drug traffic, terrorism and other subjects on which the government must be informed, Bush said.

He refused to discuss foreign policy, domestic politics or the sources or methods of the CIA, but he attacked CIA critics for revealing secret information and sources.

Asked about the Democratic president-elect, Bush said he has met four times with Carter, and that although he expects to be relieved of his job as soon as Carter takes office, he does not expect major changes in CIA operations.

"It is my instinctive feeling that he (Carter) understands the need for a very strong intelligence capability," he said.

Court To Rule On Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Supreme Court said Monday it will decide whether former president Richard M. Nixon should control records of his administration, including 888 reels of White House tape recordings.

The court agreed to hear arguments by Nixon's attorneys that Congress violated the ex-President's rights to privacy and invaded the powers of the presidency two years ago when it gave control of the massive records to the General Services Administration.

A three-judge federal court in Washington upheld the Presidential Materials and Recordings Preservation Act, discounting arguments by Nixon's lawyers. If the Justices agree with the lower court, an estimated 42 million pages of documents, including about 200,000 prepared or reviewed by Nixon, and the tapes will remain with the GSA.

If the Supreme Court rules in favor of Nixon, the material would be shipped to San Clemente, Calif., the ex-President's home since his resignation Aug. 9, 1974.

The court will hear arguments in the case next year.

After the Watergate scandals forced his resignation, Nixon asked the government to ship the documents and tapes to San Clemente. The GSA agreed to let Nixon retain title to the presidential materials in a pact that required Nixon to donate a substantial portion of them to the government at a later date.

That agreement was sidetracked, however, when Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski requested a delay in handing over the documents to Nixon.

The former President sued, and Congress then passed the legislation.

The act calls for the GSA to govern public access to the material. The Senate has rejected one set of proposed regulations for such governing, and another proposal is pending.

The material is available to Nixon but such access is subject to GSA regulation.

In their appeal to the high court, Nixon's attorneys said the materials reflect the former President's "entire personal, political and official life." They said he "never intended the records ... or his diary to be reviewed by anyone other than himself or his family."

Nixon said the materials covered by the 1974 act include notes and letters from friends and family members as well as taped conversations with his wife, daughters, physician, attorneys and friends.

The Justice Department and several groups who filed friend of the court briefs opposing Nixon's bid for control said the presidential records are government property, even if Nixon mixed personal records with those of the office he held.

Among the tapes are the 30 segments played during the Watergate cover-up trial of Nixon's top advisers.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington last month, ruled that those tapes now can be released to the public.

Transcripts of the tapes were made available at the time of the trial. Release of the tapes, however, would let the public know what expletives were deleted from transcripts and also give the tone and inflections of voice used by Nixon, Watergate figures John D. Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell, John W. Dean and others.

Irvine Housing

earn up to $13,400 annually for a family of four.

Irvine Co. and city officials believe this latest offer is the answer in resolving two lawsuits that have held up construction of the complex expected to employ an estimated 38,000 workers.

Watson added that the timing of the Irvine Co.-city offer was not linked to the current negotiations in which three firms are competing for the company's ownership.

The settlement outline, presented Monday, reportedly had gained approval from four-fifths of the city council in secret session. Councilman John Burton reportedly opposed the plan.

If the plaintiffs accept the offer, Watson said construction would begin on the industrial complex soon after the first of the year.

The first lawsuit, brought two years ago against the city and the Irvine Co. by UCI social ecology lecturer Westley Marx, was rejected in Superior Court. Marx is seeking to have that decision reversed in appellate court.

The second lawsuit, unlike the first which challenged the environmental impact report on the industrial project, charges that the city's general plan does not provide housing for low and moderate income workers.

Marx, seven other residents, and the Orange County Fair Housing Council, are the plaintiffs in the second court challenge, currently in Superior Court.

The proposed industrial complex is located just north of the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station. The complex has been stalled because lenders would refuse to loan to prospective business tenants while the park is under the cloud of a lawsuit.

An official on the city-company settlement team told The Register that it is doubtful the Irvine Co. or the city will increase the current offer if it is rejected by the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs have maintained that 644 apartment units are needed for low income workers. Since the original projection, the Irvine Co. negotiated a 524-acre land swap with the Marine Corps. This reduced the area of the proposed industrial park to its current 1,534 acres.

The city-company settlement teams have met with plaintiff representatives and all agree that low income housing is possible here only in the form of rental units, the proposal stated.

To make rental units eligible for tax support under existing state and federal programs, the city would waive or reduce park, garage, carport and parking requirements; increase allowable densities; accelerate processing time and use funds from federal tax sources to pay for processing fees.

The city also would pursue a program of inclusionary zoning and seek membership in the Orange County Housing Authority or a similar agency for the purpose of gaining added tax-support to subsidize student co-ops and elderly housing projects.

The New Jersey court supported the plaintiffs in that case and ruled that each community must bear its fair share of the low and moderate income housing burden.

"They (fund officials) noticed in Bryant's records that he had made a payment of $200,000 in 'loan fees' and asked him what it was for. He said, 'That was the payoff I had to make to get the loan,'" the source said.

When questioned further, Bryant said he personally gave the money in three installments of $50,000, $75,000 and $75,000 to Baron, who told him it would be spread around, the source said.

Bryant's Mount Vernon corporation borrowed $2.8 million from the fund – with initial loans totaling $1.5 million made in 1964 and 1965 and the $1.3 loan granted in December 1975, the source said.

Sources said the fund had "cooperated fully with Justice on this matter" and currently is foreclosing on the Mount Vernon loan.

Baron's duties were assumed by Daniel J. Shannon, executive director of the Central States fund, after fund trustees asked Baron to resign.

Weapons Found At Pendleton

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) – A pistol, clubs and a list of the names of "white-power" Marines were found in the barracks where whites and blacks battled, a spokesman said Monday.

But he said neither the weapons nor the list of 16 servicemen identified as Ku Klux Klansmen was in the room invaded by armed blacks Nov.13.

The attack left six white Marines injured. Two are still hospitalized after being stabbed by screwdrivers. Thirteen blacks have been charged with conspiracy and assault.

In a formal statement, Lt. Col. Dan Brown, the base public affairs officer, discounted claims by spokesmen for the KKK and the San Diego Urban League that the Marine Corps believes it was an attack by blacks on what they regarded as Klansmen.

Brown said the list of names was found in a room other than where the assault took place and identifies members of various units at the sprawling base, not just those in that barracks.

Their meetings were in Oceanside, off base, Brown said.

A "wall-to-wall search" of the barracks building turned up a number of knives, clubs and other weapons including a .357-magnum revolver. But none of them were found in the room where the fighting took place, he said.

Any possible charges involving the weapons or illegal beer-drinking by the white Marines will be handled separately from the assault investigation, said Brown.

The public affairs officer denied a claim by David Duke, KKK director at New Orleans, that some white Marines have been transferred from Camp Pendleton because of alleged Klan activities.

"I don't know of anyone being held incommunicado, no people transferred so far," he said.

Duke said the blacks believed they were attacking Klansmen but were wrong.

"If those had been Klansmen, they would have defended themselves adequately;" he said.

Gilmore Book, TV Deal Made

NEW YORK (AP) – Literary agent Scott Meredith said Monday that deals have been made to produce a television movie about convicted Utah murderer Gary Gilmore and to publish a book and magazine articles concerning "at least the last part of his life."

A large share of the proceeds would go to the families of Gilmore's victims, he said.

Gilmore has been demanding that a sentence of death by firing squad be carried out.

He estimated that the book would earn $200,000 and magazine sales $150,000.

The TV movie, he said, was expected to bring about $150,000.

Food Going Up, Farmers Warn

Shortages Blamed On Weather, Worker Problems

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Weather and union problems struck a more than $1 billion blow at California farmers this year, so there will be some higher prices at supermarkets in 1977, a farmers' group said Monday.

The California Farm Bureau Federation didn't specify items or prices, but it stated that "some products definitely will be in short supply and costlier at the supermarket."

The group's president, Fred Heringer, said: "Nearly every farmer suffered to some extent, but for some the losses were catastrophic. Production from entire orchards was lost, cattlemen without feed or pasture were forced to liquidate."

And the outlook for 1977?

"Farm prices down and production costs up, resulting in another loss in net income," the bureau predicted.

Last year's California agriculture industry grossed $8 billion. This year that figure probably will wind up between $7 billion and $8 billion, said Dick Thompson of the state Department of Food and Agriculture.

The farm bureau said "calamities" that struck California this year started with a severe freeze in January and ended with renewed dry weather in October after unusual heavy rainfall in September.

It said raisins, figs and dates suffered heavy losses so "consumers can expect to pay considerably more for these limited supplies.

"Production of the premium varietal wines from the Napa Valley was sharply reduced. Wine connoisseurs can expect a high quality wine – but the limited edition will cost more."

The report said there were losses of up 25 per cent in apricots, tomatoes, lima beans, peaches and pears, but carryover supplies will limit the impact on prices of those crops.

"But price increases will definitely be felt. Consumers enjoyed favorable prices for the past year because of surplus conditions. This year, even though the farmers received less for their product, the cost to consumers is expected to increase anywhere from three to six cents per can of product," the bureau said.

Although livestock ranchers suffered the brunt of the losses – $460 million – California problems will have little bearing on lamb and beef prices, the report said. Such prices are determined largely by national conditions, it said.

Be A Know-It-All With 1977 Almanac

Yvette Mimieux, the film actress, was born in France, right? Wrong! Yvette is right out of Hollywood. And Julie Christie was born in Chukur, India, Audrey Meadows in Wu Chang, China.

Not the most earth-shaking information you might want to know someday, but they do point up the fact that the new 1977 World Almanac leaves few facts unturned.

The new World Almanac, for instance, also carries a county-by-county recap of the presidential election, all the pertinent information of the 1976 Olympics at Montreal, new and old facts about world nations and their leaders, team and individual sports records, population statistics, a chronology of events in 1976 and much, much more.

It's all there, a million facts crammed into the 976 pages of the 1977 World Almanac.

Again this year, The Register is sponsoring the World Almanac in Orange County. It's on sale now at more than 1,100 retail outlets and at The Register, 625 N. Grand Ave., Santa Ana.

If you choose to order by mail, just use the coupon below, and an almanac will be sent to you for $3.85.

Blood Test Claimed Heart Attack Clue

NEWPORT BEACH – Officials of a medical research firm here said Monday they have made a major breakthrough in developing a means to detect potential heart attack victims through blood tests.

Dr. I. Sultanian, scientific director of Nuclear Medical Systems Inc., said, by using the new method, all a doctor has to do is send a sample of a patient's blood to a lab and it can be determined if there is a heart problem.

Dr. Sultanian said it is a giant step in preventive medicine.

He said the secret of the new diagnostic tool is that the presence of myoglobin can be detected in the blood. "Myoglobin comes from the heart muscle and when there is damage, the substance leaks into the blood stream," he said.

"It is the first test of its kind in the world," he said. "If the myoglobin count is high in the blood, it indicates that a myocardial infarction (heart attack) can occur or has occurred."

Current practice to determine heart attack potential is based on the patient's characteristic clinical history, his typical electrocardiogram and a blood analysis.

"These data are very often insufficient to establish the diagnosis definitely. Case histories exist where a patient has collapsed after being tested and pronounced OK," said Dr. Sultanian.

He said the new Myoglobin-I125 test kit can diagnose heart attacks much earlier than other methods being used today.

The testing kit is now available for hospital and medical laboratory research use on a worldwide basis, said J. Irani, president of the Newport Beach firm.

Changes In Earth's Orbit Cause Ice Ages – Scientists

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) – The great ice ages of the last half-million years were caused by changes in the earth's orbit around the sun, scientists said Monday. And having made this determination, they predicted a long-term trend toward cooler climate in the future.

Columbia, Brown and Cambridge university scientists said they determined with certainty that cyclical changes in the shape and tilt of the earth's orbit and seasonal position were the "fundamental cause" of the ice ages.

Dr. James D. Hays of Columbia's Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory said proof of this finding was in the precision with which measurements of ice age time as indicated in cores taken from the ocean floor matched the known cycles of changes in the earth's orbital tilt, shape and wobble.

This means, he said, that the natural trend of climate over the next 20,000 years will be toward "extensive northern hemisphere glaciation and cooler climates.

"As the cooling trend continues," Hays said, "it will accelerate. It will accelerate when the ice begins to accumulate, and that could take place maybe even in the next thousand years."

He cautioned that the trend is a very long-term one, that it could get a little warmer before it gets cooler. The long-term trend is toward cooling, however, he said.

"In the last million years, only 10 per cent of the time has it been as warm as it is now," Hays explained. "We are now on the downside of the present warm interval."

He added that the effects of human activity on climate are still largely unknown. These activities include the burning of fossil fuels, but Hays noted that eventually "we will exhaust our fossil fuels."

The research is to be reported in the issue of Science magazine released on Friday. Reporting with Hays are Dr. John Imbrie, who is Henry L. Doherty professor of oceanography at Brown, and Dr. Nicholas J. Shackelton of Cambridge in England.

"We are certain now that changes in the earth's orbital geometry caused the ice ages," the scientists said. "The evidence is so strong that other explanations – variations in solar radiation, the earth's magnetic poles, etc. – must now be discarded or modified."

The work confirms a theory put forth in the 1920s by Milutin Milankovich, a Yugoslavian geophysicist, but never widely accepted or disproven.

Extensive analysis of data gathered by the international effort called CLIMAP over the last six years made confirmation of his theory possible, Hays said. CLIMAP is an acronym for Climate: Long-Range Investigation Mapping and Prediction.

Connally Hints He Might Take GOP Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) – John Connally told Republican governors Monday the party has to come up with some fresh ideas or die – and suggested he might be available to lead the party committee.

In a corridor news conference, Connally said he is not campaigning for the job of party chairman but made it clear he might be interested under the right circumstances.

And Mary Louise Smith, the outgoing national party chairman, agreed with Connally at least on the need for new directions if the GOP is to bounce back from this month's election losses.

"We would be foolish to go ahead doing things just as we have in the past," Mrs. Smith told the governors' conference.

Glomar Recovered Russian Sub — Time

NEW YORK (AP) – The Glomar Explorer, a ship built by the late Howard Hughes and used by the CIA, successfuly salavaged a Soviet submarine with its hydrogen-bomb tipped missiles from a depth of 16,000 feet in the Pacific Ocean, according to Time magazine.

The current issue of the magazine quotes an unidentified senior U.S. Navy officer as saying that "it was all one hell of a success" despite the story floated by the CIA in March 1975 that the recovery had only partially succeeded.

The 1974 salvage operation, dubbed "Project Jennifer," recovered virtually intact a 320-foot-long Golf-class II diesel-powered Soviet submarine built in 1961 which sank after an explosion in 1968, according to Time.

The CIA declined comment.

All equipment aboard the sub is said to have been analyzed, including secret codes, three 700-nautical-mile-range SSN-5 missiles carrying hydrogen-bomb warheads packing a much bigger punch than the uranium-fission weapons once the staple of Soviet defense.

The Navy also examined the sub's torpedoes, said Time. Before the sub was retrieved, according to the magazine, the United States knew almost nothing about Soviet torpedo technology.

Time quoted a Navy official as saying, "It was dated somewhat, but still a technical mother lode of stuff." Another Navy expert is quoted as saying that construction details of the sub showed that the Soviets "can turn these things out like Mexican fritters."

After careful analysis, said Time, the sub's hull was broken up and jettisoned at various spots in the Pacific.

The Glomar Explorer, now sitting idle in Suisun Bay, Calif., near San Francisco, is a 36,000-ton ship fitted with a tall derrick amidships. It towed a submersible barge the size of a football field – used to cradle the sub – when it sailed on June 20, 1974, from Long Beach, Calif., toward an area 750 miles northwest of Hawaii. The ship was allegedly designed to mine mineral deposits from the ocean floor, but was actually on a CIA mission approved by the White House to examine the sub and its contents without the knowledge of the Soviets.

Time speculated that the CIA didn't claim the project had failed totally because it wanted to defend the high cost of "Project Jennifer" – about $550 million, all billed to the Navy. The magazine also theorized that had the agency claimed complete success, it might have unnecessarily embarrassed the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the National Science Foundation said in Washington that the Glomar might be used to drill into the earth under the ocean.

The foundation announced it has authorized a study of the feasibility of converting the vessel for deep sea scientific research drilling. The three-month study will be made by Global Marine Development Inc. of Newport Beach, Calif., at a cost of $75,000.

If such a use is found to be practical, the foundation said it might consider recommending to the administration and Congress that the Glomar Explorer be converted for use in a program designed to study rocks and sediments of the ocean floor.

Another ship, the Glomar Challenger, has already been subcontracted for such drilling and has recovered samples from every major ocean basin except the Arctic.

The foundation said use of the Glomar Explorer would allow scientists to drill much more deeply into the seabed than ever before, operate in deeper water and conduct research in areas where the Glomar Challenger is not able to work.

The deep sea drilling project is managed by the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in La Jolla, Calif., under a contract between the National Science Foundation and the University of California.

IN SLAYING TRIAL TESTIMONY

Barela Says Defendant Victim's Death Accident

SANTA ANA – Murder defendant Ruben Barela testified Monday that he accidentally fired the shot that killed Edward P. Velasquez, 21, last May 31.

Barela said he thought Velasquez was going for a gun so he pulled his gun up out of his car window and tried to speed away. "When I punched it (the accelerator), the gun fired."

Barela, 17, of Santa Ana, is standing trial in Superior Court here with Anthony Soza, also 17, of Orange.

Prosecutor Bryan Brown charged in his phase of the jury trial that Barela and Soza are members of the gang "F-Troop," and that Velasquez' death was "an F-Troop execution."

But attorney Terry Giles, representing Barela, said in his opening statement that neither Barela nor Soza is a member of "F-Troop," and the Velasquez' killing was not planned or premeditated.

The shooting "had elements of self-defense and elements of an accidental firing," Giles told the jury in Judge Everett W. Dickey's court.

Barela testified that "F-Troop" had disbanded about two or three years ago, but that the area in which he lived was still known as the "F-Troop" area. He said he tattooed "F-Troop" on his hand when he was 14 because he had seen the older youths in the neighborhood with "F-Troop" jackets.

Barela testified that he didn't know Soza very well May 31 because Soza was from the El Modena area of Orange.

The two got together May 31, Barela said, because there was a birthday party for Barela's father, and Soza was in the neighborhood visiting a girl friend.

Barela said he heard of a party in the Delhi area of Santa Ana, and that he decided to drive to that location after a carload of girls dropped by his house.

He said Soza got in the back seat with two girls while he got in the driver's seat with one of the girls.

He testified that the girls became frightened because he was driving in the Delhi area, at which time Soza said, "Don't worry, I've got protection," and then held up a gun.

"I said, 'That's alright,' " Barela testified, " 'If they try to get in from your side, you get them, and if they try to get in from my side, I'll get them.' "

He said a short while later they cruised past Velasquez' car and he heard Velasquez say something.

Barela said that after Velasquez determined that he and Soza were not from the Delhi area, he "called us out," meaning he wanted to fight.

"I said, 'No, it's alright,' and that's when I saw him duck down like he was getting something," Barela said.

He said while everyone in his car ducked out of sight, he pointed the gun out of the window and hit the accelerator. The gun went off accidentally, he said.

"Did I hit the car or did I hit him?" he said he asked Soza.

Later Barela said he asked Soza, "What's wrong with the gun – it went off."

An expert witness testified earlier Monday that the gun did have an extremely light trigger pull.

The case is expected to be handed to the jury for deliberations late this week. Brown is asking for first-degree murder convictions.

IN PROSECUTOR'S OPENING STATEMENT

Yoshimura Tied With Fugitives

OAKLAND (AP) – The prosecutor in the Wendy Yoshimura weapons trial said Monday that the Japanese-American artist spent three and a half years "running with the most wanted fugitives in the United States."

Alameda County Assistant Dist. Atty. Jeff Horner, in his opening statement to the jury, repeatedly linked Miss Yoshimura's name with the so-called Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris. Also, for the first time, he mentioned newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst.

"I do not intend to bring the SLA out of the slime and put it back into the public light," Horner told the jury of seven women and five men. "But you should be aware that the SLA took credit for murder, robbery and kidnaping."

He said that at the time the Harrises and Miss Yoshimura met in the summer of 1974 the Harrises were wanted "for one of the most widely publicized acts of this decade," the Feb. 4, 1974, kidnaping of Miss Hearst.

Horner said that Miss Yoshimura's fingerprints as well as prints of the Harrises were found in a Pennsylvania farmhouse that he said was an SLA hideout for three months.

Horner also said Miss Yoshimura's fingerprints were found in a Sacramento apartment which, he said, was rented by Mrs. Harris in November 1974.

Earlier, Horner told the jury that revolutionary literature addressed to Miss Yoshimura was found in a Berkeley garage the state contends she rented as a weapons storage facility for radicals.

Horner said "a working library on how to conduct a campaign of urban guerrilla warfare and terrorism" was found in the garage in 1972.

Horner listed what he called "a frightening arsenal" of weapons and explosives confiscated by police, including a pipe bomb, a Chinese-made machine gun and assorted other weapons. He said the police inventory of weapons ran 31 single-spaced, typed pages.

Miss Yoshimura, free on $25,000 raised by Japanese-American supporters, was indicted by an Alameda County grand jury on four counts of possessing bomb components, explosives, a machine gun and a destructive device with intent to injure persons and destroy property.

The 33-year-old artist listened intently as Horner spoke, rarely taking her eyes off him. Her mother and father, a gardener from Fresno, Calif., sat in the front row of the crowded 60-seat courtroom.

FAA Ruled Liable In Fatal Roberto Clemente Crash

A federal court judge has found the Federal Aviation Administration liable for damages in the death of former baseball star ROBERTO CLEMENTE, who was killed when his plane crashed while on a mercy flight to earthquake ravaged Nicaragua in 1972. U.S. Dist. Court Judge Juan R. Torruella ruled the FAA was liable because its employes did not inspect the plane before takeoff to determine if it had a proper crew and if it was properly loaded. The suit was brought by VERA ZABALA CLEMENTE, ROBERTO CLEMENTE JR. and LUIS ROBERTO CLEMENTE, identified as heirs of Roberto Clemente. The plane, a McDonnell Douglas DC-7, crashed shortly after taking off from San Juan, Puerto Rico. It was in the process of returning to the airport when it went down in rough seas more than one mile off the coast.

"I swim 1,000 yards a day in the pool, and every time I go to make a turn, he tries to bite my hand," Goldwater said. "So once in a while I throw him in." The 67-year-old Arizona Republican said he's been playing the role of a Bohemian since he arrived last week – fishing, watching the sunrise, walking along the beach. "You can lead your own life here," he said. "You don't have to shave when you don't want to. Some days I shave, and others I don't. I wear whatever I can grab. If it doesn't match, then you can always say the lights were off."

Nobel laureate ALEXANDER SOLZHENITSYN moved from Switzerland to Vermont because he hoped to be happier in the United States, and not because he was harassed by Soviet secret police as he once claimed, city authorities claim in Zurich. Responding to an inquiry in the local parliament, city officials cited a variety of factors that made the exiled writer look for a new home after spending less than two years in Zurich. They said Solzhenitsyn feels more at home in Vermont than in this city of bankers and jewelry stores. They also said he prefers the climate of Vermont to the dampness of lakeside Zurich.

The last known surviving "Scottsboro Boy," CLARENCE NORRIS, flew to Montgomery on Monday and was handed the pardon which ended his 30 years as a fugitive. Norris, now 64 and a laborer employed by the City of New York, was granted the pardon by the state Pardon and Parole Board five weeks ago. Instead of receiving it by mail, he chose to pick it up in person in the city where he served 15 years in prison.

'SHE WAS MAGNIFICENT'

Rosalind Russell's Friends Recall Her Courage, Talent

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) – "I've held on this long because of people like you. My life is like a rope, and I've tied a knot for every friendship. Those knots keep me from falling off."

It was Rosalind Russell, smiling as she faced the dinner gathering of 60 close friends. The pain from arthritis and cancer was intense.

That was July 17. The party was given in Miss Russell's honor at the home of Gloria and James Stewart. Two days later she entered UCLA Medical Center for replacement of a hip socket. Her stomach cancer got worse and on Sunday she died in her Beverly Hills home.

She was 63.

"She was magnificent to the end," said a close friend, producer William Frye. "She wanted to be at home and not be a bother to anyone. Even though she was in terrific pain for the past three weeks, she would not go back to the hospital."

Frye recalled the Stewart party as typical of Miss Russell's courage. She was surrounded by old and new friends of Hollywood – Irene Dunne, Lucille Ball, Jack Lemmon, Bob Newhart, Carol Burnett, Joshua Logan, Don Rickles – as well as friends from other places.

"Jimmy (Stewart) made the most touching speech of introduction," said Frye, "and then Roz responded. Despite the intense pain, she spoke loud and clear. When she finished, I noticed that Carol Burnett was crying. She wasn't the only one."

Born in Waterbury, Conn., Miss Russell once attributed her long, successful film career to the fact she wasn't a sex symbol. "I do think the girls who were the sex queens have a most difficult time of it when they are no longer sexy," she said.

She played dramatic roles in such 1930s films as "China Seas," "Under Two Flags," "Night Must Fall" and "The Citadel." In the 1940s, she played a series of career women, and in 1958 she was the bohemian guardian of a young boy in "Auntie Mame."

A requiem mass will be said for Miss Russell on Wednesday morning at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills, followed by interment at Holy Cross Cemetery in Culver City.

Instead of flowers, she had asked that contributions be made to the Rosalind Russell Memorial Fund for research of cancer and arthritis.

She had suffered from arthritis for 15 years and became interested in research into the disease. "I'm going to fight it the way I fought polio with Sister Kenny," she vowed.

Miss Russell in the 1940s became an advocate of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, the Australian nurse who developed a method for treating polio victims. The actress starred in a film "Sister Kenny" in 1946; it was a box-office failure but remained Miss Russell's favorite film.

Nominated four times for Academy Awards, Miss Russell never won the Oscar – except for an honorary Oscar, the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian award in 1973.

Surviving are her husband, producer Frederick Brisson, whom she married in 1941, and a son Lance, 33, a former investigative reporter and now assistant Los Angeles County public administrator.

NJ Solon Pleads Guilty To Paying Bribes

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) – New Jersey Senate President Matthew Feldman pleaded guilty Monday to charges he paid $6,400 in bribes to a restaurant chain to win a $240,000 contract for his liquor company.

The politically powerful Bergen County Democrat, who made the admission to U.S. District Court Judge Frederick Lacey, could receive a $6,000 fine but no jail sentence. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 8.

Feldman, 57, a former mayor of Teaneck and the highest ranking member of the state Senate, admitted making the payoffs in cash to Donald Schwartz, a vice president of Emersons Ltd., a nationwide restaurant chain. In return, Feldman's family-owned firm, Federal Wines & Liquors of Kearny, became the exclusive liquor supplier to the chain's five New Jersey outlets.

"I was aware they constituted an illegal trade practice," Feldman said of the payments.

The case against Feldman was developed by the Securities and Exchange Commission during its inquiry into Emersons Ltd., whose employes allegedly demanded similar payments from other liquor distributors.

BY EUROMART LEADERS

Post-Inauguration Talk Date Favored

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) – Leaders of the European Common Market favor postponement of a major conference between rich and poor nations until after President-elect Jimmy Carter takes office, it was reported Monday.

The so-called North-South conference between eight industrial nations including America, and 19 developing countries, has been scheduled to open in Paris Dec. 15, more than a month before Carter's Jan. 20 inauguration.

Foreign Minister Garret Fitzgerald of Ireland said there appears to be general acceptance of the nine Common Market members that the North-South conference be postponed until February or March.

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany agreed. At a separate news conference, he said, "It's very important (to realize) that there is no U.S. policy beyond Jan. 15 and it makes absolutely no sense to push ahead."

U.S. officials in Washington also said there was an emerging consensus that the North-South conference should be postponed. The reasons they gave were inadequate preparations and the fact that President Ford's outgoing administration could not make long-term commitments.

A postponement of the North-South conference would have repercussions on the ministerial meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) that also is scheduled to begin Dec. 15 in Qatar.

There had been rumors the OPEC price-fixing meeting would be rescheduled to open after the North-South conference.

The authoritative Middle East Economic Survey reported Monday that most of the Arab oil countries that form a strong majority in the 13-member OPEC would like to put off the meeting until Dec. 20.

That report was made before it appeared possible the North-South Conference would be postponed two or three months.

The Economic Survey's article said: "The reshuffling of dates is a reflection of the intricate poker game now being played between the industrialized nations and the OPEC-Third World grouping, neither of which wants to show its cards until it has seen the other's hand."

It appears that OPEC will approve oil price increases ranging somewhere between five and fifteen per cent. The cartel's current fixed price for a barrel of benchmark crude is $11.51.

Washington, fearing an oil price increase will trigger a new round of international inflation, has been lobbying OPEC members to hold the line or adopt only a minimal boost.

Fitzgerald, speaking to reporters at the end of the first day of a two-day Common Market summit meeting, said the European leaders believe intensive talks with Carter's new administration are necessary.

$325,000 COLLECTED

Irishwomen To Accept Norway Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) – Declaring that they are "no petticoat brigade," leaders of the women's peace movement in Northern Ireland pledged on Monday to use a $325,000 gift from the people of Norway to benefit both Roman Catholics and Protestants.

Mairead Corrigan, a cofounder of the movement, said a trust fund would be set up with the money to provide care for children, to establish small factories to create jobs and to begin other community projects. She said unemployment is 26 per cent in Northern Ireland.

Miss Corrigan, 23, and Betty Williams, 32, will receive the Norwegian People's Peace Prize at a ceremony tonight in Oslo's seaside town hall, then be honored at a torchlight parade.

"It is fantastic that the Norwegian people – many hundreds of miles away from us – show their support for us in this way," Miss Corrigan said at a news conference. "They started what has snowballed into support from America, Germany, France, The Netherlands and many other countries.

"It will help us win this battle of will to create peace and love between all Northern Irish people."

The prize money was collected among individual Norwegians after Gunnar Borrevik, foreign editor of a newspaper in Kristiansand, said the two women deserved an award for their efforts to end sectarian warfare in the British province.

A number of other newspapers joined the effort and a goal of $145,000 was set. But the collection grew to double the amount that would have been awarded as this year's Nobel Peace Prize.

The Norwegian Stoting, or parliament, which makes the Nobel award, decided not to give it this year after a parliamentary committee reviewed the qualifications of 50 candidates.

There was widespread sentiment here for giving the Nobel prize to Mrs. Williams and Miss Corrigan, but they launched their peace campaign in August – too late for the 1976 Nobel deadline.

Missourian's Brand Of Flu Still Unknown

ATLANTA (AP) – Officials at the national Center for Disease Control said Monday they will know within a week whether a Missouri man who became ill this fall had swine flu or some other virus.

"The epidemiologists are now going over the information in the laboratory and are trying to put that together," said Katherine Lord of the CDC. "We would hope we would have some information within the week."

Mrs. Lord said the epidemiologists have been gathering data on the illness which hit Larry Hardison, a 32-year-old telephone worker in Concordia, Mo. They have also been examining about 20 people with whom he came in contact to determine what virus they contracted.

"We will be able to identify what it was from some of the specimens, but at the moment, we have not identified what their virus was, either," she said.

Elmer R Spurrier, head of the Missouri Health Department, has said that state specialists were confident that Hardison had a case of swine flu based on blood tests.

Betty Hooper of the CDC has said the blood test showed "a four-fold" increase in swine flu antibodies in the four weeks after he took ill. But she indicated CDC wanted to do more than confirm the Missouri tests before ruling on the nature of Hardison's illn

Dairyman's Life Saved By Breakfast

HICKMAN (AP) – His wife called dairy worker N.Y. Jones to breakfast just in time to save his life.

Jones left a cow corral moments before a high-voltage power line fell on it Sunday.

"It was a miracle he wasn't in there," said Ron Hale, manager of the Foster Farms feed lot near this Central California community.

But a herd of Holstein heifers housed in the corral weren't so fortunate when a flock of starlings took off and snapped the line.

At least 30 heifers were knocked to the ground by the electrical jolt and 11 were killed.

"Some got up one by one after a while," Hale said. "Some never did."

Police-Killer Death Rule Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Supreme Court will consider during this term whether mandatory death sentences are valid for murderers of police officers, the justices said Monday.

It was four months ago that the court rekindled the national debate in ruling that death is a constitutional punishment for murderers, but it said states cannot pass laws making the death penalty mandatory for specific crimes.

Juries and judges must be allowed discretion to make the punishment fit the crime, the court said at that time.

The justices now will consider an exception – the murderers of police officers – to the July 2 ruling that struck down the death penalty laws of Louisiana and North Carolina. The court has upheld the death penalty laws in Florida, Georgia and Texas, ruling that they allow sufficient discretion.

The case to be reviewed comes from Louisiana, where Harry Roberts was sentenced to die for the 1974 murder of a New Orleans policeman.

The court on Monday refused to review three cases involving the death penalty in Georgia.

In one, it let stand a decision of the Georgia Supreme Court upholding the conviction and death sentence of Samuel Gibson III, 17, convicted of rape and murder in 1975. Gibson's attorneys argued that the black teenager was unconstitutionally sentenced to death by a jury drawn from a panel which had disproportionately few blacks, women and young people.

In a second case, the court let stand a decision by the Georgia Supreme Court that George Elder Dungee and Carl "Junior" Isaacs were constitutionally convicted and sentenced to die. They were among four men convicted in the mass murders of the Alday family at the family's farm outside Donaldsonville, Ga. in 1974.

In the third case, the court refused to review the case of Alpha Otis Stephens, convicted in Georgia in the 1974 murder of Roy Asbell after Asbell discovered Stephens burglarizing his son's home. Stephens was sentenced to death by a Bleckley County court.

The justices also agreed to decide whether an Alabama law establishing height and weight standards for state prison guards unconstitutionally discriminates against women, and whether North Carolina prisons have to treat an inmates' union the same way they treat the Boy Scouts or Jaycees.

A long dispute over school desegregation in Wilmington, Del., was passed on to the 3rd U.S. circuit court of appeals.

In the Louisiana death penalty case, Roberts had focused his appeal on the actions of his trial's prosecuting attorney. In fact, Louisiana officials have conceded that the Supreme Court's decision last summer erased any chance that Roberts would be put to death.

But the justices, in an order limiting their consideration of the case, said they will study "whether the imposition and carrying out of the sentence of death for the crime of first-degree murder of a police officer" is constitutional.

When the court struck down such manadatory laws, some 20 states provided for the death penalty as the only sentence to be handed down for certain crimes.

In the Delaware school case, the court refused to accept the jurisdiction in an appeal by state officials saying that a lower court went too far in ordering school desegregation.

The Justice Department said the case deserved review but should be studied by the third U.S. court of appeals.

A three-judge federal court ordered Delaware officials to consolidate the predominantly black Wilmington school district with 10 school districts in New Castle County, where 78.5 per cent of the students are white.

Delaware Atty. Gen. Richard R. Wier Jr. said he intends to pursue the state's appeal in the circuit court.

The justices agreed to review a ruling by a three-judge federal court that Alabama cannot impose height and weight standards for prison guards because the standards discriminate against women.

Alabama authorities said the statute had no discriminatory motives, but Dianne Rawlinson, a 22-year-old college graduate whose 115-pound weight fell five pounds short of the standards, charged she was discriminated against.

The high court also will consider an appeal by North Carolina of a lower court's order that it recognize a prison union.

The state said it should not have to grant the same privileges to an inmate union as it does to the other outside organizations.

Court Upholds Law Banning Oral Sex

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Supreme Court Monday refused to consider whether a state law against husbands and wives having oral sex with each other is constitutional.

The justices let stand a decision of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals upholding the conviction of Aldo and Margaret Lovisi of Virginia Beach, Va.

The Lovisis were sentenced to two years in prison in 1970.

It was the second time they had sought Supreme Court review. The first time, following a State Supreme Court decision upholding their conviction, then-Justice William O. Douglas voted to grant review.

The couple then appealed to a federal court for release on grounds their constitutional rights had been violated. U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. turned them down and his decision was upheld by the circuit court by a 5-3 vote.

The Lovisis were convicted on the basis of photographs of sexual activity at their Virginia Beach home involving them and a visitor, Earl Dunn. Dunn and Lovisi testified that they took the photographs.

Mrs. Lovisi's two daughters by a previous marriage, then 11 and 13, testified that they took the pictures. The Lovisis met Dunn by advertising in a sexually oriented magazine.

The circuit court held that "once a married couple admits strangers as onlookers, federal protection of privacyidissolves."

In addition to challenging the constitutionality of the law, the Lovisis argued that the circuit court decision confused privacy with secrecy.

"Properly understood, the right of privacy clearly permits those who invoke it to share their privacy with third parties without, at the same time, waiving the right as against the state," they said in a brief filed by the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation.

LA Supervisors Vote To Force Watson To Testify

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The County Board of Supervisors voted Monday to compel Assessor Philip Watson to testify about the way his department assesses yachts.

Just before the vote Watson and his attorney had walked out of the hearing, refusing to testify until he was guaranteed the right to cross-examine witnesses, hear the specific charges against him and put on a defense.

The supervisors unanimously voted to ask the Superior Court to order Watson to testify at their hearing or be held in contempt of court.

Watson told a news conference he "can get a fairer hearing in the press than in the McCarthy hearing" he accused the supervisors of conducting over the past month.

Watson said that Ward's office began investigating the yacht assessment practices three months after the assessor's own internal audit division began a probe of his Marine Assessment Division.

He said two of Ward's three prime witnesses were responsible for "atrocious mismanagement" in the marine division and had gone to Ward "to protect their flanks."

Watson's attorney, Doug Dalton, said that witnesses called by supervisors chairman Baxter Ward have made serious charges regarding the political and social ties between Watson, his top aides and owners of luxury yachts that dock in Los Angeles' harbors.

He said the best way to get at the truth was to allow crossexamination of these witnesses, and he refused to allow Watson to answer any questions without a guarantee of his constitutional rights.

Watson said, "What they do and what they say are two different things.

Hearing Jan. 5 For Suspected Police Slayer

WESTMINSTER – Preliminary hearing for Bobby Joe Denney charged with the fatal shooting of Cypress Police Sgt. Donald J. Sowma has been set for 9 a.m. Jan. 5 in the municipal court here.

Denney, 32, of Hawaiian Gardens, pleaded innocent Monday when he was arraigned before Judge W. Patrick McCray. Judge McCray ordered Denney held without bail in Orange County Jail. He is being represented by the public defender's office.

Denney allegedly shot and killed Sgt. Sowma, 44, and fired at two other officers in the early morning of Nov. 19 during an abortive attempt to burglarize the Pomeroy Art Gallery and adjoining office of Dr. Ira Pomeroy, 5651 Lincoln Ave., Cypress.

A murder complaint with a death penalty provision has been issued by the district attorney's office against Denney, the son of a Carter County, Okla., sheriff.

Students' Slayer Sentenced To Die

PASADENA (AP) – A man convicted of murdering two Bible students last February was sentenced to die in the gas chamber Monday by a Superior Court judge.

Richard L. Johnson, 29, of Altadena was found guilty last Nov. 4 of the execution style slayings of Robert Morton, 26, and Katherine La Corte, 18, both students at the Living Waters Bible College in nearby Monterey Park.

Under California law the conviction and sentence will automatically be appealed, although Judge Kenneth White denied a defense motion Monday to postpone the sentencing until after the California Supreme Court rules on a case which challenges the constitutionality of the state's death penalty law.

Morton was found bound, gagged and shot several times in the head, while Miss LaCorte was shot in the face.

A passerby found the bodies in Morton's van at a lookout point on Chantry Flats above Arcadia.

Besides finding Johnson guilty of two counts of first-degree murder, the jury determined that because more than one person was killed, the death penalty is warranted under state law.

Multiple killings are among the "special circumstances" for which a death sentence may be imposed.

Deputy Public Defender Martin Staven had asked Judge White to dismiss his finding of special circumstances on the grounds that the death penalty law is unconstitutional.

White Louisiana Teachers Refuse Black Merger

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) – An all-white Louisiana teachers organization voted down a proposed merger with its all-black counterpart in a move described by officials Monday as economic rather than racial.

Louisiana remains the only state in the nation with segregated teacher associations.

Less than four per cent of the 28,000 members of the white Louisiana Teachers Association cast ballots on the merger proposal, which fell six votes short of the required two-thirds majority for approval in secret balloting at the state convention last week. The tally announced Monday was 665 in favor and 341 opposed.

Prior to the vote, officials had predicted that rejection might come from the black teachers, and Basile Miller, incoming president of the black group, was among opposition leaders.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 1

Your birthday today: In this coming year of mixed influences and constructive changes, your logical goal is a broader field of self-expression. Much that was important or annoying to you is outgrown and left behind. Relationships need nothing more than sincerity. Today's natives are energetic, headstrong, fatalistic. Thrift comes naturally. Those born this year have a gift for theater, politics, salesmanship. They will leave home early. Their curiosity should be answered sensibly—no baby talk.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Set your own standards: problems are stiff. This month is going to be complex, any backlog of work will be troublesome beyond expectations.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: It's your turn to listen to tales of woe. Help people see their situations in a constructive light. Your progress looks great, but hard work is essential.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: You're free to concentrate on the job. Spending time on talk or meaningless moves causes you to miss subtle but important information.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Personal wishes conflict with duty. Where it's a case of money, you get easy cooperation; otherwise, tough persuasion is needed. Don't seek shortcuts.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Complicated plans involving precise timing go astray. Extras or schedule changes confuse travel. Emotional issues call for putting pride aside.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Recognize what's in your best interest. You can't escape the consequences of being overcritical. Past difficulties reappear.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Assume that others are as sensitive as you, and treat them accordingly. Others take advantage of you, but you're ahead in other ways. Intuition brings a solution.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Resistance annoys you, but keep your feelings quiet. Wait till you're in a secure position and know the facts before speaking out.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Get started on your goals, don't dawdle. If you cause inconvenient reactions, you must cope with them. Don't discuss details yet, since there's more to come.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Reorganization is on your agenda, but first finish what's already on hand. Cheer up! With overtime and a little help, you can effect changes tomorrow.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: News is unreliable. Conditions in far places aren't as expected. Focus on your own welfare; try to coax someone into closer relations.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Everything seems to translate into money. Today it all goes out, not much comes in. Shake off people who borrow or hint at uses for your cash.

Best To Ship Alaskan Oil To Japan, Study Advises

SACRAMENTO (AP) – A federal study says short-term exchange of Alaskan crude oil with Japan is the most economical policy for all concerned, the principal author said Monday.

The study examines major alternatives for disposal of hundreds of thousands of barrels of oil due to start arriving at an Alaskan coastal port in mid-1977.

Even if a West Coast terminal is built to receive the oil for shipment east, it couldn't be ready for even limited use until sometime in 1978, long after the oil starts flowing.

The long-overdue report on alternatives to a West Coast tanker terminal is expected to be released publicly in draft form this week by the Federal Energy Administration in Washington, D.C.

Bob Shinn, now a aide to the California Energy Commission's chairman, was chief author of the original draft.

In an interview, he said the 800-page report had no major changes from the draft he submitted and was due for release in September.

"Several alternatives are viable, not the least of which is exchanging oil with Japan," Shinn said.

Exchanging U.S. oil with Japan or any other nation requires authorization from the President.

Another option is moving the oil by pipeline across Canada to the Midwest, and still another is using the Panama Canal.

Shinn said that the study shows that the exchange would be 70 cents to $1 a barrel cheaper than shipping the crude through the Panama Canal and also would be cheaper than a pipeline, he added.

"So it's either trade with Japan or curtail production," he said.

State Initiative Spending Limit Ruled Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – Limits on spending to qualify statewide initiatives for the California ballot are unconstitutional, the state Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The unanimous opinion said the state law limiting such costs violated the free speech provisions of the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

But the court upheld a provision limiting to 150 days the time for circulation of petitions to put a measure on the ballot.

The action was brought by George G. Hardie, leader of the unsuccessful Prop. 13 campaign in the November election seeking to legalize greyhound racing in California.

GM Data On Employes May Be Subpoenaed

WASHINGTON (AP) – The government probably will subpoena certain employe medical records from General Motors Corp. if the big automaker does not voluntarily help fill a "critical gap" in information about lead poisoning, a federal agency head said Monday.

Dr. John F. Finklea, director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, said that lead exposure poses a "major health problem" for about one million U.S. workers, including 5,000 to 15,000 in battery plants and smelters.

GM was asked for the information last Aug. 13 by the agency's Cincinnati office and refused in a letter dated Sept. 20, Finklea said.

He said the matter has been turned over to the general counsel at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. If GM continues to refuse, he said, "I assume the department will take appropriate legal action."

He said a subpoena could be issued before the end of 1976.

In Detroit, a GM spokesman said:

"We felt we needed time to evaluate the type of data they were requesting. It was felt some of the studies we had done were not very conclusive and could be misinterpreted. Once we review our data we will review the NIOSH request."

GM conducts extensive, regular monitoring for lead exposure in its plants, particularly battery plants, the spokesman said. All employes get a blood test at least once a year, with those directly involved in production getting one every three months.

GM, in refusing the request, said it would make at least some of the information public when the Occupational Safety and Health Administration of the Labor Department holds public hearings on proposed federal standards for worker exposure to airborne lead, Finklea said. Those hearings have been postponed several times and are now set for some time in early 1977, he said.

Finklea said his agency, which performs research and makes recommendations for the Labor agency, wants the GM data now so that it can be reviewed and analyzed by independent scientists.

The request covers medical records dating back to 1943 on workers at GM's Delco-Remy Battery Plant at Muncie, Ind., which uses lead to make batteries. GM also makes batteries at plants in Los Angeles, Olathe, Kansas and in Canada.

Finklea said the GM information would help determine the relationship, if any, between low levels of airborne lead in a factory for long periods of time and the lead levels in workers' blood. Federal officials aren't sure whether standards for worker exposure should rely on airborne lead or blood lead levels.

Michigan Man Sentenced To Electric Chair

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) – William Nabozny, 39, of Dearborn, Mich., was sentenced to death in the electric chair Monday for the murder of a Detroit banker.

Licking County Judge Winston Allen set Nabozny's execution date for April 18 after hearing psychiatric testimony that no mitigating circumstances existed which entitled Nabozny to be spared death.

Under Ohio's death penalty law, upheld last week by the Ohio Supreme Court, death is a mandatory penalty when murder is committed with aggravating circumstances present but no mitigating or alleviating, circumstances.

Nabozny was convicted June 8 in the murder of James Crawford, 25, assistant branch manager of the National Bank of Detroit, who was abducted while on his way to work Dec. 4, 1975, and held for $250,000 ransom.

His body was found Dec. 10 on a rural Licking County road. He had been stabbed.

Cuff Links A Key 'Link' In Slasher Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A hotel secretary testified Monday that cuff links taken by police from the apartment of the man accused of being the Skid Row Slasher belonged to her former coworker, a victim of the slasher.

Rebecca Marco, secretary and office manager the Los Angeles Hilton, offered the first testimony that linked the defendant, Vaughn Orrin Greenwood with the series of murders.

Greenwood, 33, is on trial for 11 counts of murder stemming from nine deaths in the Skid Row area in late 1974 and early 1975 and two killings in 1964. He is charged additionally wth one count of assault.

Mrs. Marco said three sets of cuff links introduced as evidence in the trial were the same ones worn to work by George Frias, a secretary to the hotel's convention service manager. Frias was found slain in Hollywood apartment on Jan. 30, 1975, with his throat slit from ear to ear.

Questioned as to her certainty by Greenwood's attorney, Deputy Public Defender Charles Gessler, Mrs. Marco altered her testimony only to say that the cuff links resembled the ones she had seen Frias wear.

The convention manager, Frank Baptista, also testified he specifially remembered one of the cuff link pairs, made of jade, and that he had discussed them with Frias.

A third witness, police homicide detective Sgt. Charles J. Hughes, testified he had investigated several killings on Skid Row.

Powell Vows Carter Will Hear Variety Of Opinions

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) – Jody Powell, Jimmy Carter's chief spokesman, says he will use his access as a Carter insider to referee staff competition and to make sure Carter gets a variety of opinion on key issues.

"If I feel like the governor is getting just one side of the story or someone is playing games with him, I'll try to make sure that's ended," Powell said in an interview on his expected White House role after Carter becomes President on Jan. 20. Carter has named Powell as his White House press secretary.

Powell said he wouldn't necessarily try to mount a counterattack to thwart someone else's plans but rather would try to see that Carter was given another point of view.

"The same thing would be true among the staff," he said. "If it seemed to me that there were one or two people who were so dominating the White House that other people couldn't get through, then I would feel a responsibility to break that up a little."

It's always a case of making sure he's got his options and that he's given what he needs to do his job," Powell said.

Powell defined his adviser's role as political in nature and defined that as the politics of public relations and the politics of staff relations designed to make sure Carter gets the information and the opinions he needs.

The president-elect always has encouraged a degree of competition and overlapping among staff members. He has indicated strongly he plans to use a "spokes of the wheel" approach in organizing his White House staff rather than letting access be determined by one or two men at the top.

Powell said he also believes competition is good but said the object is "to keep the thing from reaching the point where it does a disservice or when one person kills off another."

"The whole key to productive and healthy competition is that people feel secure and are able to compete on a rational sort of basis," Powell said.

"If you're in a high jeopardy situation where people feel their relative standing, their access and their jobs ride on every decision and everthing they're involved in, that's when you get the back stabbing and the gut punching and that sort of thing."

He said Carter understands completely that "if he wants people to compete and sort of overlap a little bit he's got to make sure that being on the wrong side is not a mortal wound and that giving advice that turns out not to be too wise in retrospect doesn't end peoples' careers or cause them to be shut out.

"It's the same sort of principle that insures staff members feel free to disagree with the boss," he said.

Powell said he believes it important to the success of the system that four, five or six principal White House staff members under Carter remain relative equals.

Powell said he is sure the White House staff under Carter will contain a large number of Georgians and said that's natural "because most presidents have selected most of their personal staffs from people with whom they have worked for a long period of time."

Powell, 33, comes from Vienna, Ga., some 25 miles from Plains.

Powell said he sees no indication at all that any of the Southerners who will serve in the White House are motivated by any feeling of spite because the South has been excluded from the presidency and from the nation's mainstream since before the Civil War

"I think there is certainly not a feeling at all of revenge or getting even," Powell said. "I do feel a particular desire to do a good job and run a good administration because there is a certain feeling that people in other parts of the country may not be familiar with Southerners or may have formed a negative stereotype about the South.

"If we do things right we can help to end that stereotype," Powell said.

Swinging Single Is A Grandpa Groupie

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: I know a 52-year-old divorcee who hangs around with senior citizens, pretending to be their age. She plays up to all the men (especially the rich ones) in hopes of snagging herself a husband. Isn't this unfair competition to the women who are 65 and older who are also in the market for husbands?

She doesn't tell her age, but goes to all these senior citizen affairs and just eats up the compliments when people tell her how "young" she looks.

I and a lot of women here in St. Ptersburg, Fla., would appreciate your comments.

SIXTY-SIX AND LOOKS IT

DEAR SIXTY-SIX: Sorry, but age has never entered the ground rules in the mating game. All is fair in love and war, from St. Petersburg to St. Peter!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is hung up on self-hypnosis and reaching the subconscious mind through sleep suggestion. He is now determined to play a tape to our 12-year-old son (only child) every night for an hour, shortly after he has fallen asleep.

My husband has cut that tape, using his voice, transcribing informational and soothing words of encouragement. He believes that it will help our son develop his intellectual capacities.

I think that while there is much to be said about sleep suggestion, and it may be the answer for some people, a child's God-given sleep should be undisturbed.

Our son is a very good student, and he's active in sports. He somewhat fears his father, and I don't believe my husband should assail the boy's mind night and day.

What are your thoughts?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: If the boy is emotionally secure, a good student and active in sports, I'm for leaving his subconscious mind alone. It's not the taped suggestions per se that can harm the boy, but rather your husband's determination to impose his influence on his son night and day.

DEAR ABBY: ON THE SPOT wrote in to say she works with women who ask her where she bought her dress, shoes, etc., and then how much they cost. I have the perfect answer. When people I know ask me a similar question, I tell them it was either the Salvation Army or Goodwill, but I'm not sure which.

They usually chuckle and ask me again, but the answer is always the same. Finally they realize that I am not going to tell them, and they quit asking me.

Meanwhile I chuckle to myself because when I was young, most of my clothes did come from the Goodwill Resale Shop, and people were always complimenting me on my wardrobe.

Mental Tests Slated In Family Slayings

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) – A military college student charged with murdering his parents and two brothers during a Thanksgiving holiday trip to his home was held for psychiatric evaluation Monday.

Superior Court Judge Fred C. Galda said he would set bail after the psychiatric report was in and ordered Harry De La Roche Jr., 18, held at Bergen County Jail until then.

"I will hold the question of a dollar amount to ascertain whether this man will pose a danger to himself and society," Galda said at what was to have been a bail hearing here Monday.

Asst. Bergen County Prosecutor Richard Salkin asked Galda to hold De La Roche without bail, noting that he could face four life prison sentences if convicted. If bail were set, Salkin said, he would ask that it be $1 million.

John R. Taylor, attorney for The Citadel freshman, said he would not recommend releasing De La Roche on bail at this time because he had no place to go.

"He can't go home; he can't go to his relatives," said Taylor.

The youth has told police he discovered the bodies of his parents and brothers at 4 a.m. Sunday when he returned to his Montvale home after visiting a friend.

His mother, Mary Jane De La Roche, 50, was in her bed. Harry De La Roche Sr., 46, a Ford Motor Co. administrator, was in an adjoining bedroom. Each had been shot twice in the head with a small-caliber gun.

Eric John De La Roche, 12, found in his bedroom, had been shot twice in the face and once in the chest, then bludgeoned on the head. The body of the other son, Ronald Ernest De La Roche, 15, was found stuffed into a metal wardrobe in the attic of the two-story house. He had been shot once in the head.

The tall, slender De La Roche stood motionless with his fists clenched at his side during the 15-minute hearing. He wore wire-rimmed glasses, black slacks and a yellow shortsleeved shirt.

Bergen County Prosecutor Joseph Woodcock said Sunday, "The young man apparently came home at 3 a.m. and shot his parents and two brothers while they were sleeping.

"We have evidence that will link him to the murders, but I will not discuss a motive," Woodcock said.

Police learned of the deaths after they stopped the youth's car on Sunday for disregarding a stop sign, Woodcock said.

"He said he had gone through the stop sign because he wanted to report that his family had been shot and killed," Woodcock said.

Joyful Plant

Carl Linnaeus named the pitcherplant "nepenthe" which in Greek means "a freeing from or oblivion from grief." He chose that name because he felt it was such an unusual plant that any botanist seeing it for the first time would at once forget all his past troubles and be filled with joy.

Aides Hedge On Timing Of Carter Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) – A key adviser to President-elect Jimmy Carter said Monday he does not know now whether the $5-7 billion savings in defense spending, a Carter campaign promise, will be included in Carter's 1978 fiscal budget.

Barry Blechman, the defense specialist on Carter's transition budget analysis staff, said a decision on proposed reductions would be made only after looking at the budget proposed by President Ford.

Blechman, on leave as head of the defense analysis staff at Washington's Brookings Institution, is part of a nine-person staff charged with preparing alternative proposals to Ford's 1978 budget.

Ford plans to submit that budget by Jan. 17, three days before he leaves office. Carter reportedly plans to send his alternative proposals to Congress by Feb. 15.

Asked whether Carter would be able to implement in the 1978 budget his pledge to slash $5-7 billion from the Pentagon budget, Blechman replied in a telephone interview: "It depends on how the Ford budget stands. I don't know what will happen."

Carter never made clear during the campaign whether his proposed cuts would represent a net reduction from the $111.1 billion 1977 defense budget that runs until next September, or a reduction from the budget of $121 billion or more the Ford administration is expected to propose for the 1978 fiscal year.

If the new president makes cuts of up to $7 billion in Ford's 1978 budget, it probably still will be bigger than the 1977 budget.

Rex Granum, Carter's deputy press secretary, said in a telephone interview that Carter never specified a year for his proposed budget cuts.

"A year in which we have total control of the budget would be a reasonable test" of the campaign promise, Granum said.

Experts estimate that Carter will be able to change only about 20 per cent of the 1978 fiscal budget. He will have total control of the 1979 budget.

A recent Brookings analysis of U.S. defense priorities, of which Blechman was the chief author, said that defense spending will have to increase in real dollars for at least the next five years.

Rejected MIG25's System, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Soviet MIG25 high altitude interceptor has an on-board flight computer system similar to one that U.S. specialists decided not to produce for U.S. planes, even though it allows a ground controller hundred of miles away to fly the plane and fire its missiles.

"We've never seen the need for it. We have that capability but we've never developed it," an Air Force spokesman said of the system that was found on the Soviet Foxbat that was flown to Japan earlier this year by a defector from the Soviet Air Force.

At the same time, a Defense Department spokesman said of all the systems on the plane, U.S. specialists were most impressed with its huge and efficient engines.

The spokesman said there was some evidence after a thorough going over of the aircraft that the Russian engine technology was further developed than that of the United States.

One reason for the larger engines found in the Foxbat is that the plane is much heavier than military planes of similar size in the U.S. arsenal. The Foxbat is constructed primarily of steel instead of lighterweight metals used for U.S. Air Force planes.

The United States has no counterpart aircraft to the Foxbat.

GE To Build Two 12-Story Wind Generators

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The largest windmills in the world — 12 stories high with 200-foot propellers — will be built next year by General Electric Co. to see if wind can make cheap electricity.

GE's Space Division received a $10 million contract to assemble two 1,500-kilowatt wind turbine systems. Each is expected to produce enough energy to supply more than 500 homes.

The test program is sponsored by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Its purpose is to determine the economics of large wind turbines when connected to electric power grids, and whether they can help meet the nation's electrica needs in the final two decades of the 20th Century.

The windmills will be located at sites where winds average 18 miles per hour.

Introducing Fact Menthol. The low gas, low 'tar.'

Sure, you've tried a low 'tar' menthol to help ease your mind a bit. And with all the talk you hear, that's understandable.

According to some critics of smoking, gases are part of the controversy too.

You see, smoke is mostly gas. Different kinds of gas. And despite what we tobacco people think, these critics say it's just as important to cut down on some of the gases as it is to lower 'tar' and nicotine.

No ordinary menthol cigarette can do it. But Fact can.

Fact is unique, the first cigarette with a revolutionary Purite filter. And Fact reduces gas concentrations at the same time it reduces 'tar' and nicotine.

Meaning you get low gas and low 'tar.' Together.

But that's not all.

Take a minute to read our pack. It tells you how Purite makes this the first low 'tar' menthol with good, rich taste.

And that's a Fact.

fact
20 CLASS A CIGARETTES
fact:

Fact is the first menthol cigarette with Purite granules.
The selective filtering agent.
Selective.
That means it reduces specific gases in smoke that taste bad.
Without removing the elements that taste good.
So, for the first time, you get low gas, low "tar," and satisfying taste in a menthol cigarette.
Fact: The low gas, low "tar."

Available in regular and menthol.

Fact: The low gas, low 'tar.'

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Hinshaw Trial Deliberations Delayed 1 Day

SANTA ANA – Jury deliberations were delayed one day Monday in the conspiracy-theft trial of Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, R-Newport Beach, due to the loss of a juror and the shortage of court reporters.

Juror Dominic Carr was excused by Superior Court Judge Frank Domenichini because Carr had to be hospitalized over the weekend for a heart attack and would not be able to return to the jury for several days.

In Carr's place, alternate juror Buford Reynolds was chosen by lot to join the jury in concluding deliberations.

The trial, now in its 11th week, was further delayed by the lack of a second court reporter. A second reporter is needed to record proceedings when the regular reporter is called to read excerpts of testimony requested by the jury.

Jury deliberations began last Wednesday, but were recessed after that single day because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Hinshaw is being tried on charges that, while Orange Couny assessor, he used assessor employes and supplies in his successful 1972 congressional election campaign.

FROM TAX COLLECTOR

Jury Indicts Two In Record Theft

SANTA ANA – An Orange County man and a fugitive from a federal arrest warrant have been indicted by the Orange County Grand Jury on conspiracy charges stemming from the April 1975 theft of microfilm tax records from the tax collector's office.

Henry Leroy O'Brien, 44, was arraigned on the indictment Monday, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Arnie Westra. Orange County law enforcement officials still are seeking Alfred Edward Adams, 44, who also is being sought by federal authorities on another arrest warrant not connected with this case, Westra said.

The two are charged in the indictment with conspiracy to commit forgery and grand theft.

Westra alleges in the indictment that O'Brien had in his possession the stolen microfilm tax records and a check encoder belonging to the Burroughs Corp. The encoder, Westra said, is used to place the magnetic ink on payroll-type checks. Adams allegedly was part of the conspiracy to commit forgery, Westra said.

The indictment consolidates and supersedes two separate cases which had been in Superior Court, Westra said.

The indictment is the result of an investigation conducted by district attorney's investigator King Conner in cooperation with detectives from the Anaheim police department and the Orange County and Los Angeles sheriff's departments, Westra said.

S.A. MAN GIVEN PRISON TERM IN WIFE'S DEATH

SANTA ANA – Bernard Edmund LaChapelle, 29, was sentenced to state prison for five-years-to-life Monday on his conviction of second degree murder in the shooting death of his wife last June.

But Superior Court Judge James H. Walsworth sentenced the Santa Ana man under a penal code section which will allow him to review the case after four months, and possibly reduce the length of the term.

LaChapelle was given an extension until Jan. 3, 1977 before reporting to the adult authority for the start of his prison term.

The former Massachusetts resident pleaded guilty to murdering his wife, Linda, 28, last June 14 after he found her sleeping with another man.

LaChapelle gave himself up immediately after firing the fatal bullet.

Hearing Slated In Knifing Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A 26-year-old Los Angeles man has been bound over for trial in connection with the multiple stabbing death of an 80-year-old woman near Farmers Market in October.

Municipal Court Judge Elwood Lui set a Dec. 6 arraignment hearing for Ellis Lloyd, accused in the death of Hazel Archibald who investigators say was stabbed 30 times.

Russ Dissidents Ask Support In U.S. To Free Prisoners

By Philip Caputo
Chicago Tribune

MOSCOW – When the guard came into the communal cell, Sergei Kovalev was writing a letter to his wife. It was one of the two letters he is allowed to write home each month from the prison camp where he is serving a seven-year sentence for speaking his mind.

The bell had just sounded, signaling the prisoners to leave their barrack-like cell to begin the day's routine of hard labor. The guard was there to make sure everyone turned out on time. Kovalev was almost finished with his letter.

"Can you give me half a minute?" he asked. "I only have to finish the last line."

"Sure, go ahead," said the guard as he escorted the other prisoners outside.

Kovalev completed the line, then walked out into the prison yard to join his fellow inmates.

"Kovalev, you're nearly a minute late. You know what that means," the guard said.

"But you just told me I could stay behind and finish my letter," the 46-year-old biologist protested.

"It doesn't make any difference what I said, you're late for work," the guard replied with Orwellian logic. "Prisoners who are late have to be punished."

Kovalev's punishment was several days' solitary confinement in a cell where he had to sleep on a cold concrete floor and subsist on bread and water.

According to several prominent civil-rights activists in Moscow, this incident took place early this month and is typical of the harassment that Kovalev, a Soviet dissident, suffers daily in the camp. It also illustrates that political prisoners in the U.S.S.R. – there are anywhere from 10,000 to 25,000 – continue to be subjected to vindictive and often arbitrary punishment.

Three well-known Russian activists described Kovalev's plight to two American correspondents during a conversation Friday night in a Moscow apartment.

"Kovalev is suffering from a hermorrhoidal condition, but the prison authorities won't give him any medical attention," said Valentin Turchin, a Russian cyberneticist who is active in the Soviet Union's democratic movement.

"There is a hospital in Leningrad for prisoners who need special operations, but the camp commandant told Kovalev that he would not be sent there."

Turchin was one of 19 Russian scientists and dissidents who recently signed an appeal calling for Kovalev's release. Andrei D. Sakharov, the Nobel Peace Laureate, headed the list of signators.

The appeal, typewritten on two sheets of onion-skin paper and circulated among western reporters Friday, states that Kovalev has been sent to a strict-regime camp to "rectify" his democratic convictions.

Dissident sources said the Soviet authorities are trying to "reeducate" him by subjecting him to long periods in isolation, feeding him reduced rations, and limiting visits from close relatives to one every four months.

FAA Steps Up Deadlines For Safety Work

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Federal Aviation Administration moved up its deadline Monday for airlines operating wide-body airplanes to strengthen their floors.

The agency had given the airlines until Dec. 31, 1978.

Administrator John McLucas said airlines flying McDonnell-Douglas DC10s now have until Dec. 31, 1977, to strengthen their floors. He gave airlines flying the Lockheed L1011 until March 31, 1978. Airlines flying the Boeing 747 were given until June 30, 1978.

Although he set those specific compliance dates, McLucas also told his staff he wants all modifications made by the end of 1977. He said he would personally decide whether any airline needs additional time past that date.

The changes were ordered after the crash of a DC10 near Paris, France, when a cargo door blew off and the resulting decompression buckled the floor and jammed the control cables.

The administrator said the Lockheed plane is "considerably less likely to experience a floor problem" than the DC10.

That's right. Our percent of patient satisfaction is so high, that we have the confidence to dispense our semi-flexible contact lenses on a money back guarantee basis.

So, if you have never tried contact lenses, or if you have, and were unsuccessful, why not give us a call? What have you got to lose? A large majority of our patients were previously unsuccessful with other types of contact lenses.

* Kids make excellent contact lens wearers and adapt to them as well, if not better, than adults.

* Approx. ⅓ of our patients are successful "bifocal fit" contact lens wearers.

PLO Says It's Willing To Recognize Israel 'Privately'

By JON MARGOLIS
Chicago Tribune

WASHINGTON – Two officials of the Palestine Liberation Organization told Jewish leaders in Washington that the PLO is willing to recognize Israel as a permanent Jewish state, but not say so publicly

The statement by the Palestinians, one a high-ranking PLO officials, came in a private meeting held in the U S capital two weeks ago, the first between the PLO and established Jewish leaders in this country

Despite the conciliatory message which one participant called "new signals to be taken seriously," the Jews who met with the PLO officials remained wary of the Palestinian intentions

An official of the World Jewish Congress in New York said that the same Palestinians were telling non-Jewish guests that they still "retain the dream" of abolishing Israel

And Herman Edelsberg, the director of the B'nai B'rith International Council, said the Palestinians gave no assurances that Gaza Strip-West Bank Palestinians state urged by the PLO would not one day turn on Israel

"I said to them, 'first you would move against Jordan.' One of them said, 'Jordan is ours,' and the other pointed out that 70 per cent of the Jordanians were Palestinians," Edelsberg recalled

"Then I said that next they would move toward the West, against Israel. They said nothing. To me it was a very eloquent silence."

A somewhat more hopeful view of the meeting was taken by Arthur Waskow, who is active in left-of-center politics and Jewish affairs. "If they mean it, and if they have the power, it was hopeful," Waskow said

But he added that it was clear that the two Palestinians were part of a moderate faction which faces opposition within the ruling echelons of the PLO This appeared to be one reason why the Palestinians are only offering to recognize Israel in private, supposedly secret, meetings.

The Palestinians were Dr Isam Sartawi, intellectual and Sabri Elias Jiryis, a graduate of the Hebrew University who is on the PLO executive committee

Jiryis has been trying to set up a permanent PLO office in Washington, but he has been ordered out of the country temporarily as of Tuesday

That office, like the meetings with Jewish leaders, appears designed to improve the PLO's image with the American public

The Washington meeting was set up by Tart Bell, the director of the Washington Public Affairs Program of the American Friends Service Committee, and was held at the committee's Washington offices

Bell called the meeting, "an excellent communication," and several participants agreed that the atmosphere was cordial. But the Jews present brought out their objections to PLO anti-Israel activities at the United Nations and at a recent conference in Iraq.

They also voiced their objections to PLO terrorism "They didn't call it terrorism," said one man, "they called it paramilitary activities."

The Palestinians said they could not publicly proclaim their willingness to accept Israel because it was their "trump card" at the bargaining table

"I told them this was no card at all," Edelsberg said, noting that the Arab nations have not and will not go to war for the Palestinian cause.

Another participant said: "There was no reason anybody could give to indicate they were telling the truth. I came away neither optimistic nor pessimistic. I guess I'm mainly confused.

It didn't require any great expertise for the late Sidney Silodor to see that three notrump would have been a better contract than five diamonds. Sidney also knew that North should have let him play three notrump, but there was no use crying over spilt milk. Sidney was in five diamonds and had to do his best to make it.

He called for dummy's jack of hearts. East produced the ace and immediately played the ace of clubs. Then East led a low spade.

Sidney was in dummy and had to tackle the trump suit. The normal correct play with the particular trump holding is to lead a low one and finesse the queen. This wins against singleton king, king-10, Kx or Kxx in the East hand.

This best play represents only a 33 per cent chance, but Sidney disdained it.

He led dummy's jack of diamonds! East covered. Sidney took his ace, returned to dummy with a second spade, led a second diamond, finessed successfully against East's 10 and wrapped up the contract.

When asked why he took this unusual play, Sidney replied; "East cashed his ace of clubs so quickly that I knew he thought he had a trump trick coming, so I decided to lay him for either his actual holding or king-ten x x."

Ask the Jacobys

A Canadian reader wants to know the significance of East's pass when the bidding has gone: one spade by South, double by West, redouble by North, pass by East.

A very few people play this pass to say "I think we can beat this one-spade contract." The great majority, including the Jacobys, play it as asking West to get out of his own troubles.

You betcha! Your nephew should write: U.S. Action, 806 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20525. Action's director is Michael P. Balzano, Jr.

GUNNY SACKS

Dear Trouble Shooter

Do you know where I can get some gunny sacks? My husband is a glazier and the putty sticks to his hands. He uses a rough material to rub the putty off. It's like cement when it hardens and is very hard to remove from his hands.

WANTS TO QUIT?

Dear Trouble Shooter

We would appreciate if you would let folks know that the next Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking will be held Dec. 6 through 10 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Family Fellowship Center, 1315 N. Durant, Santa Ana.

Reservations can be made by calling 543-3395.

In five short days, people who never thought they could stop smoking have done so and are on the road to better health.

J.L.H.

The Trouble Shooter's heard from some of your "satisfied customers," Ma'am, and he's happy to recommend your plan. What's more, it's free.

CRYING NEED

Dear Trouble Shooter

Some time ago, a lady wrote you asking for information on a club for those of us between the "swinging singles" and the "golden agers." I think you kinda brushed her off with the idea that there were many charities she could help and that such an organization was not at all necessary. Hate to differ with you, but there is a crying need for one.

Many of us have found the singles' clubs to be mostly lonely hearts and drinking buddy affairs. And, of course, we have not reached the golden age era yet. So, where do we go?

Many of us are supporting elderly parents and this, along with a full time job, takes up most of our slack time. But many a Saturday night finds us alone and just wishing someone to spend the evening with. Or, we'd like to go on a trip.

How about it? Is there someone "out there" willing to band together to get back in the land of the living? I'd be more than pleased to help set up an organization for us "In-Betweeners."

J.C.
Santa Ana

A number of organizations in these parts have been "born" in the Ol' Trouble Shooter's column, Ma'am. Chances are, "In-Betweeners" will get its start there, too.

Let's ask those who share your interest, and problem, to give you a jingle evenings at 546-2185.

CAN YOU HELP?

Dear Trouble Shooter

Please ask your readers to check and see if they have a copy of the June 1976 Woman's Day magazine. It has a transfer of a yellow rose saying, "Woman's Work is Never Done." I need a couple of these transfers badly.

I'm even willing to pay a small amount for them.

S.C.
Santa Ana

Let's ask anyone who can help to drop you a note at 2015 W. Edison, Santa Ana 92704. Can't find your phone number listed in the directory and you forgot to include it.

COSTUME STOCK

Dear Trouble Shooter

We're a shop dealing in costumes and older clothes (Hill House in Costa Mesa). We had a fire in our storage garage Aug. 30. The fire was set by two boys, 11 and 15. We had no insurance on the merchandise, and good, cheap costumes are hard to come by.

You can't imagine the need for cheap costumes. We discovered at Halloween time that people were desperate. Rentals have gone so high that most people cannot afford them, so they try to put together their own. Because of the fire, we didn't have enough to accommodate people who needed them, so we need to re-stock.

Please tell your readers that we are interested in old things - overalls, coveralls long johns, clown suits, black graduation robes, priest and nun attire, anything black and long.

We need things that can be used for dance hall girls, gypsies, genies, cheaper '20s styles and gay '90s costumes for children and aduls.

Your readers can bring what they have to sell to Hill House, 1914 Newport Blvd., Costa Mesa, but it would be better for them to call first 642-4292 to find out if we can use what they have.

We'd also like to find someone interested in making cheaper costumes for us.

Due to the fire, we are low on men's older and antique tails, morning coats, top hats, derbies, Homburgs, fedoras, etc. We buy and sell old and antique linens and quilts.

B.M.H.
Costa Mesa

The Trouble Shooter reckons he's accomplishing three things by printing your letter. He's helping you get a fresh start after a disastrous loss. He's giving his readers a chance to pick up some extra money to buy Christmas gifts. And, he's finding somebody in this area a more or less steady job sewing costumes.

Things around "Hill House" should be humming for the next few days. When things simmer down, let folks who read the Trouble Shooter's column know how things worked out, will you please?

SANTA LETTERS

Dear Trouble Shooter

I am writing for an organization at Mater Dei High School. It is the Catholic Service Program (CSP). We would like to tell your readers that we will reply to Santa Claus letters.

If any reader has a child who wants to write to Santa, send the letter to us along with a stamped, addressed envelope, and the child will receive a personal, handwritten reply.

L.A.
Anaheim

Tell those CSP members to sharpen up their pencils, little lady. They're going to have a lot of Santa letters to write.

I FOUND IT!

Dear Trouble Shooter

What are the "I Found It!" bumper stickers that I see everywhere I go all about?

T.W.B.
Santa Ana

The bumper stickers are the brainchild of Robert Screen, executive vice president of a Pasadena advertising agency which has launched a $400,000 media advertising campaign in Southern California on behalf of an evangelist group known as Here's Life America.

The advertising campaign will have two stages, "tease" and "reveal."

"I Found It" is the "tease" phase because it tells folks that somebody found something, but doesn't say what it is.

In the "reveal", phase, everybody will learn that "it" is a a better life through Jesus Christ and that they can "find it," too.

Got a Problem? Write The Trouble Shooter, P.O. Box 11626, Santa Ana, Calif., 92711. PLEASE DO NOT TELEPHONE YOUR PROBLEM TO US. Due to the volume of mail, not all letters can be answered or acknowledged. Those published will be signed with initials only, but you must include your name, address and telephone number.

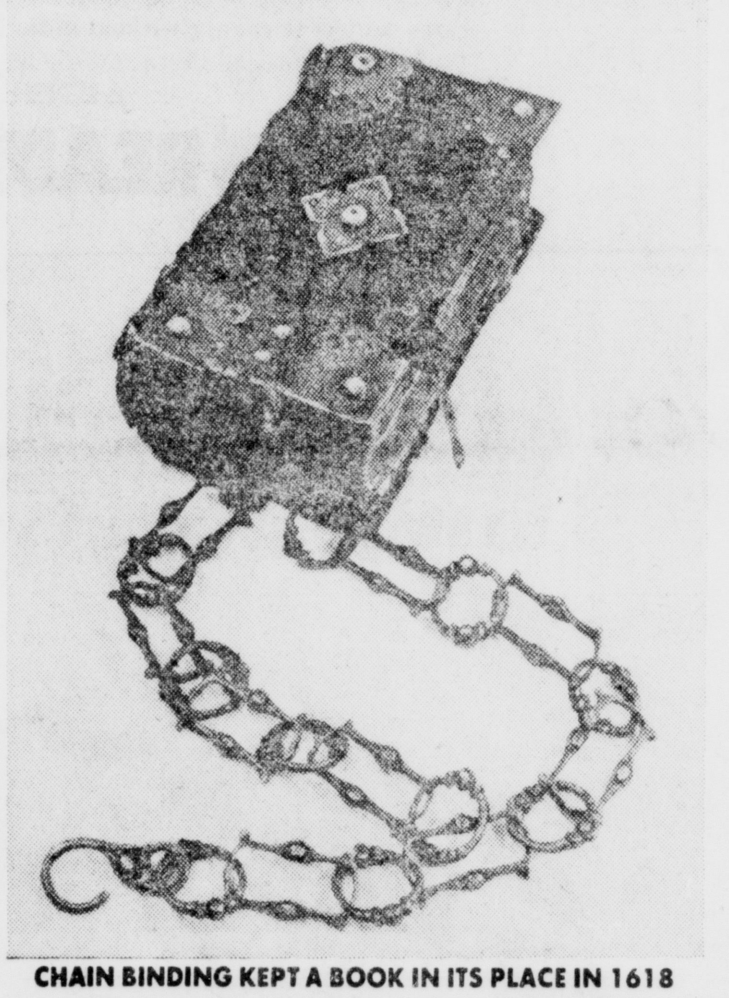
AN ASSORTMENT OF MINI-BOOKS AT C.S.F. LIBRARY RANGES FROM 'LIFE' TO PRAYERS

'Special Collections' Housed In Guarded CSF Library Room

By VICKI LIBERMAN
Register Staff Writer

FULLERTON – Collections of fishing flies, pornography, science fiction, dolls and television scripts all come together in a closely guarded, gated room on the fifth floor of the Cal State Fullerton library.

In fact, says librarian Linda Herman, just about anything that can't, for one reason or another, be handled in regular library sections ends up in the special collections room.



CHAIN BINDING KEPT A BOOK IN ITS PLACE IN 1618
Rare Miniature Manuscript Was Published In Germany

And, any object that is rare, unique or valuable automatically finds its way to Ms. Herman's shelves.

The collection, which was established in 1968, now includes about 65 different major groupings with more than 80,000 items. Some, like a $5,000 leaf of the Gutenberg Bible, are valuable.

Others, like a genuine "tribble" from an old "Star Trek" television script, are simply unusual.

Most of the items in the section are gifts or donations, but some, like a collection of 15th century rare books, were state-purchased.

One of the largest collections contains more than 6,000 science fiction paperbacks, tapes, books, pamphlets and periodicals, largely developed by Dr. Willis McNelly, professor of English and an authority on science fiction.

Ms. Herman said the science fiction collection is among the top five in the nation and is the most used group in special collections.

The science fiction grouping includes original manuscripts by Frank Herbert, Philip Dick, Harry Harrison and Ray Bradbury and even features scripts from the hit series "Star Trek."

"One episode was about the tribbles which were bisexual multipliers, and we even have one of those," Mrs. Herman laughed.

A collection of "Weird Tales," a 1930s science fiction magazine, is worth about $600, she said.

"But it's really hard to put a dollar value on many of these things. It's a supply and demand – if you have someone who really wants it, you can get a lot of money for it."

The largest collection contains more than 11,000 pamphlets on fish purchased from Dr. Leonard Schultz, Ms. Herman said.

The section also houses a collection of obscenity held for the Orange County district attorney's office and largely developed by Dr. Donald Sears. More than 700 brightly colored books, magazines and comics (with titles like "The Motorcycle Mamas" and "Sin in the Saddle") line the shelves in a corner of the section.

That type of material, and the fact that many of the items are quite valuable, have led to the top security atmosphere of the department.

Requested materials must be located by a librarian and locked gates and drawers are everywhere.

A collection of more than 700 maps includes a Revolutionary War plan of how the British won the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775. And a 14th century diagram on parchment shows the structure of the world.

Ms. Herman said volumes on fly tying – complete with tied flies mounted on cotton – are part of the Kerridge angling collection on fishing. Books on travel tips, stream information and fly tying date back to 1583.

An entire room is devoted to a theater collection donated by Dr. Fairfax Proudfit Walkup, former dean of the Pasadena Playhouse, and a former professor of theater at Cal State.

"She gave us costumes, clothes, dolls, trunks, scripts she wrote and produced, all kinds of things" Ms. Herman said. "Other items in the theater collection are old Laurel and Hardy scripts, old programs, scrapbooks of theater personalities, even tapes of the old Adventure Tomorrow television series."

Tucked away in various corners of the special collections room, one can find volumes on rare book dealers, the history of volleyball in the U.S., the holocaust of World War II, bookbinding, local history, and even the story of the California citrus industry.

Indian Lore, Dance Program Slated In SA

SANTA ANA – A program of American Indian lore and dance is scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Santa Ana city hall annex, 530 N. Ross Street. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Chief Red Dawn, a Santee Sioux Indian, and White Eagle, an American folk dancer, will participate.

Handmade pottery, baskets, crafts and models will be displayed in a segment called "From Artifact to Artform."

Grindle Quits Planning Post

By LARRY PETERSON
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Charging that campaign cash funneled through lobbyists to county supervisors prevents solutions to long-range planning problems, Shirley Grindle has resigned from the county planning commission, effective Jan. 1.

Mrs. Grindle, ousted only last month by fellow commissioners from her commission chairman post, submitted her letter of resignation last Thursday to Supervisor Ralph Clark, who appointed her to the commission in 1973.

"I'm not saying they're personally dishonest," she said of the supervisors, "but they're hamstrung in their ability to deal with the problems that face us.

"That is due primarily to the fact that 80 to 90 per cent of campaign contributions come from those with very narrow interests in getting development approved. Anyone trying to solve basic problems is likely to jeopardize his source of campaign funds."

Mrs. Grindle said she knew of three specific instances in which a commissioner had been instructed by the supervisor who appointed him to vote for specific projects "and in each case there was a lobbyist involved."

She refused to name the commissioner and projects involved, but claimed that it is common for developers to pay monthly fees to lobbyists who in turn make timely contributions to supervisorial candidates.

Her resignation letter to Clark, she said, reflected "favorably" on that supervisor, who, she said, had never instructed her on how to vote.

But the letter contains statements that could prove "embarrassing" to other supervisors, she said.

Clark refused to release the letter, saying it was "personal" and declined to comment on her accusations concerning campaign contributions. He said he did not wish to discuss the relationships between other supervisors and their commission appointees.

Clark said Mrs. Grindle is "one of the best planning commissioners the county ever had" despite her "sometimes very short ways of handling things."

He said he is mulling a list of 20 names as possible replacement and will make up his mind "in a week or two or maybe even earlier."

Mrs. Grindle, 42, said that she had been planning to resign earlier this year because the time she spends on the commission prevented her from holding a full-time paid job and receiving the income she needs to support herself and her son.

She had considered the decision a tough one, she said, but added that later in the year it became an easy one since she became "totally disillusioned concerning the ability of elected officials to face up to their responsibilities."

Canada Firm Tops Irvine Co. Bids

SANTA ANA – A Canadian real estate firm has taken the lead in bidding on the Irvine Co., a spokesman for the James Irvine Foundation, the company's majority owner, said Monday.

Foundation lawyer Howard Privett said the latest offer by Cadillac Fairview Corp. of Toronto, tops bids by Mobil Corp. and a combine led by Detroit developer Alfred Taubman and New York investment banker Charles Allen.

The other bidders, he said, will have until noon, Wednesday, to raise the ante. If a better deal is received by then, Privett added, the other two bidders will have until noon Friday to submit counter-offers.

Under ground rules set earlier this month by the foundation, offers are being accepted only from the current bidders because they were the only would-be buyers to meet a Nov. 19 deadline for submission of proposals.

The Cadillac Fairview offer totals $284 million, and includes $164 million in cash and $120 million in 10-year notes.

The $284 million total fell short of the $292.5 million face value of the Taubman-Allen offer.

But the foundation considered the Canadian plan best, Privett said, after applying certain "discounts" to the non-cash elements of each offer.

Information received by The Register last week concerning the foundation's evaluation criteria indicated that the Taubman-Allen offer is superior.

Privett said that the foundation reached its conclusion after receiving "new advice" as to the value of the notes offered by the bidders.

The new data, he said, is based in a recent drop in prime interest rate, which he said, has the effect of increasing the value of the notes.

However, when the evaluation data supplied by Privett is applied to the most recent Mobil offer, the adjusted cash value falls $1 million below that of a previous $273.5 million all-cash offer by Mobil.

Although Privett said the foundation considers the Taubman-Allen plan the least favorable of the three offers, the data he supplied show it is valued by the foundation at only $3 million less than the Canadian package.

He said, however, that some provisions of the Taubman Allen proposition are unacceptable to some of the company's minority shareholders.

He did not name the shareholders. Among the minority owners, the Taubman-Allen plan has drawn the support of Joan Irvine Smith, chiefly on the grounds that it is the only bid which would allow her to retain a part ownership in the company.

Cella, Evans 'Pre-Trial' In 16th Week

SANTA ANA – Pre-trial hearings in the fraud, conspiracy and grand theft case of Dr. Louis Cella Jr. and Stephens Evans may not be completed until next spring, attorneys estimated Monday.

Those hearings entered their 16th week Monday before Orange County Superior Court Judge William Speirs.

Testimony in the case now is being heard Monday through Wednesday while Judge Speirs uses Thursdays to review the massive documents and records connected with the pre-trial hearings.

The actual trial of Cella and Evans may not begin until summer, attorneys said.

Dr. Cella, who was California's largest political campaign donor in 1974 with loans and contributions totaling more than $500,000, and Evans were named in a 127-count Orange County Grand Jury indictment last January.

They were charged in connection with an alleged scheme through which they reportedly embezzled up to $2 million from two county hospitals, Mission Community and Mercy General, for political and personal use.

Cella and Evans, along with two other men also indicted last January, either pleaded guilty or were convicted on federal charges stemming from those same activities earlier this year.

The other two, George Ollendorf, the administrator for Mission Community and Theodore Schiffman, a Cella business associate, pleaded guilty to five counts each before Judge Speirs.

Evans was the administrator for Mercy General.

MUCKENTHALER CENTER DIRECTOR

Firing Stirs Fullerton Controversy

FULLERTON – The firing of Muckenthaler Cultural Center executive director William Gravesmill has sparked protests from members of the center's volunteer group.

Gravesmill, who had been with the center for 2½ years, was fired two weeks ago by the board of directors of the Cultural Groups Foundation of North Orange County, a 19-member body which controls the center.

Since that time, members of the Center Circle, a 252-member volunteer group which operates an art rental gallery and gift shop at the center, have protested the action to the board of directors, Mayor Robert Ward and City administrator Les White.

According to Mrs. JoAnne Olson, president of the Center Circle, the group is unhappy with the board's decision to fire Gravesmill.

"We have asked to meet with the board members, some time before Dec. 15 to have them clarify why he was fired," she explained. "We're a support group and we're a vital working core of the center and this whole thing was a secret from us. And nothing has been let on about why they did it."

Mrs. Olson said members of Center Circle also are members of the Cultural Group Foundation, which, along with the board of directors, controls the center.

"The city owns Muckenthaler but the board runs the center," she said. "There has been no communication between the board and the Circle about this. We think he (Gravesmill) has done a marvelous job and we get along very well with him."

Reports on the firing indicate board members cited poor judgment, lack of communication and outside involvements as reasons for their action.

Gravesmill had been placed on probation by the board six months ago.

He said he sees his firing as a "personality thing.

"The center has had tremendous growth in the past 2½ years and that has never been considered," he said. "The center does not deserve to be beaten apart by personality conflicts."

Gravesmill said he believes he should be allowed a public hearing and he may take his case to the state Labor Relations Board or to the attorney general.

Gravesmill has asked city administrator White for clarification on whether he was accountable to the board or the city.

Board president James Blake would not comment on the firing, but he did say:

"This kind of situation is normally a personnel matter and it only becomes public if an employe desires to make it public."

Panel To Consider Hospital Closure

TUSTIN – A final decision on the proposed merger of two Anaheim hospitals, which would include the closure of Garden Park General Hospital, will be made by the county's health planning council at its meeting tonight.

The proposal calls for the addition of 97 beds to West Anaheim Community Hospital and was denied by the facilities review committee of the council earlier this month.

The full board of directors of the council will review the committee's recommendation. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the council's offices, 202 Fashion Lane, Suite 219, Tustin.

According to the proposal, 50 of the added beds would constitute new cancer and rehabilitation wards at West Anaheim. The cost of the project, including the construction of a three story tower, would be about $7.8 million.

American Medicorp Inc., which owns both hospitals, says it will cost $7.3 million to renovate the aging Garden Park hospital, with no guarantee that declining usage of the facility will improve. With proceeds of the sale of Garden Park applied to the West Anaheim project, medical costs to the patients will reduce, officials have argued.

Citrus Grower R. R. Bivens Dead At 67

ORANGE – Services for Randall Ray Bivens, 67, a resident of the county for 53 years, are planned at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Todd Memorial Chapel, Pomona.

Burial will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Fairhaven Memorial Park, Santa Ana.

Bivens, who was a citrus rancher in Orange from 1921 to 1960, died Saturday at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. For the last two years he lived at 2755 Arrow Highway, La Verne.

He was a member of the First Christian Church of Santa Ana and Pomona and was a volunteer van driver for Meals on Wheels, the Red Cross blood program, the Braille Institute and also the Vietnamese refugees program in Pomona.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Roselynne A. Bivens; one daughter, Mrs. Marcia Taylor of Pomona; two sons, R. James Bevins of La Verne, and Robert M. Bevins of Pomona; one sister, Mrs. Martha E. Payne of Vancouver, Wash.; one brother, Col. Arthur Bevins, ret., of Hemet; and four grandchildren.

Here's something of value to stash away in your attic.

This may not look like much, but it's one of the best things you can store up there.

It's insulation. And whether you use this kind (which gets blown into place by professional contractors) or the kind you can roll out yourself, you're going to save money and energy.

Insulation keeps your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. And it can cut the amount of gas you use for heating up to 20%.

Don't wait. Insulate now.

The less gas you use, the more money you'll save. And with energy costs rising rapidly, you'll be saving more all the time.

Border Smugglers Object Of Probe

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) – "We wouldn't mind the smuggling, if they'd just pay taxes on it," joked a Starr County resident.

The smuggling involves an estimated 20,000 to 40,000 pounds of marijuana a week, brought from Mexico across the willow-lined Rio Grande into the brush of this South Texas county for distribution in northern cities.

It is the work of the "mafiosos," and a thriving "family" business in this county of 17,000 people according to state and county investigators working with a grand jury currently probing the smuggling activity.

"Mafiosos" is a word used in northern Mexico to describe those involved in marijuana or heroin smuggling.

Law enforcement officers say the identities of the criminals are known to many residents of the area on both sides of the border, but fear of involvement and physical harm, plus a distrust of law-enforcement agencies have made investigation difficult.

"I'd say there are at least 10 major families involved and when I say major families, I mean big dealers," said Herman Railey, a Border Patrol officer and foreman of the grand jury which began investigating drug trafficking seven months ago.

"These family operations have blood ties on both sides of the border," continued Railey. "One part of the family lives on this side taking care of the business and the other part – and possibly the family's roots – are in Mexico."

Arnuflo Guerra, district attorney for this county located about 130 miles up the river from Brownsville on the Gulf of Mexico, says about 2,000 persons are involved in the smuggling operation.

The investigation was sparked by a series of gang-like killings apparently drug-related. Three bodies were found stuffed in automobile trunks during a two-day period. "Everybody turns the other way until they find a body in their backyard," said Guerra.

"Most of the citizens here have developed an attitude of 'If you don't bother me, I won't bother you,'" Railey said. "It is common knowledge among the people here that several persons have been killed or murdered over the dope dealings. This was nothing new."

Similar types of gang-like killings have occurred just across the border in towns from Camargo to Reynosa where officials and the general population often shrug them off as internal struggles among the "mafiosos."

Gravity Studied By Bouncing Ball

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) – Physicist V.S. Tuman spends a lot of time inside a solid rock cave at Del Puerto Canyon near Turlock watching a suspended, hollow metal ball bounce around measuring gravity waves.

And when people ask him what possible, practical advantage that kind of thing could lead to, the professor has an answer.

"It was not so long ago that people asked Edison what the advantage of a light bulb was and wondered why Faraday was bothering with something like electricity.

"I'm measuring gravity waves out of a scientific curiosity even though I can't see any immediate practical purpose. But sooner or later the engineers will find some application or other. They always do."

A native of Iran who was educated in England, Tuman and his students at Stanislaus State College here pursue their experiments with gravity in a 300 square-foot observatory by recording the earth's natural vibrations.

He offered two analogies as examples to help laymen understand how it's done.

"Think of the earth as a sphere of Jello which takes various shapes and molds and oscillates at different pitches. These are called spheroid oscillations.

"Then there are also oscillations that result when certain gravity waves hit the earth much like fingers striking keys of a piano. Different vibrations are caused by different waves; we've measured 300 modes in all."

The gravity rays that touch off selected oscillations emanate from dying stars at varying intensity. Tuman and his students have classified each pitch with identifying signals and they record the patterns of vibrations as gravity shakes the "Jello" and fingers the "piano keys."

The prehistoric-looking site of his gravity meter is an ideal place to conduct the measurements, Tuman said, because its rock base extends 40 to 50 miles toward the center of the earth. This solid platform acts as a reliable antenna to receive and record the vibrations.

Pioneer Set Man Still At Work

By MIKE GOODKIND
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Anthony Montenaro, a set decorator newly arrived to television, thought the musical number being filmed needed a far better backdrop. So he asked his boss for $25 a week.

The money rented a truckload of props for Montenaro to fashion into a bunkhouse set for Merle Travis, or a living room for Sarah Vaughn. It was 1950 and Montenaro, usually employed in movies, was working for Snader Telescription Corp. because few movies were being produced at the time. Snader, now defunct, made three-minute programs. Each episode featured a major singer or musician of the day performing a single number, usually in front of the same drab curtain flanked by a couple of potted plants.

"Asking for the money was what you might call self preservation," recalls Montenaro, who started in show business as a prop man in 1934. "I wanted television to succeed. We had all the techniques from motion pictures. But there was no money."

The big shows were just starting in 1950. One of the first ratings battles ever was raging that year between CBS's Ed Sullivan Show and NBC's Colgate Comedy Hour. Howdy Doody entertained the kids every afternoon, and comedian Milton Berle, "Mr. Television," had been on the tube for two years.

"People would watch anything in those days, they even liked the commercials," recalls Montenaro, now 61.

He still works as a set decorator, sometimes in television, sometimes in movies "where there is more time to do things right." But wherever he works, his budget is bigger than $25 per week – lots bigger, like up to $40,000 for a single major TV production.

Montenaro came to Hollywood from Rochester, N.Y., during the Depression when jobs were hard to find and to hold. But he managed to keep working, first in props and then as a stunt man. He got into movie set decorating in the late '30s, then into television in its earliest days. He's been at the craft for more years than just about anyone in the business.

"I've dressed Western saloons, garages, warehouses, bathrooms, found covered wagons ..."

In 1951 and 1952, Montenaro moved into the burgeoning world of weekly series and dressed the sets for "I Love Lucy" and "Ozzie and Harriet."

In those days, Lucy's husband wouldn't just come home. He'd almost be sure to announce, "Lucy, I'm home."

"They were still using radio scripts. Little by little it became more like the movies. Television had all the movies' early mistakes to learn from."

Since the early 1960s, most of Montenaro's television decorating has been for made-for-TV movies. He operates as a freelancer. Every so often he does a series, like "Adam 12," a popular police show a few years ago.

Occasionally he designs the sets himself, but usually he works from the designs of others, gathering props and materials for the finished set.

"We beg, borrow or steal what we need," he says.

Montenaro's home life reflects the curious meld of show business and craft.

His wife, Antonette, concedes that the couple rarely has accepted the show business party invitations.

"I didn't like to hire babysitters," she says.

Mrs. Montenaro proudly explains that the furnishings at home are the result of her husband's decorating craft. The dining room table, where the couple's three married children and seven grandchildren still sometimes gather, was purchased after it was no longer needed in the television living room of Lucy's neighbor, Fred Mertz.

Most of Montenaro's neighbors are craftsmen and few are involved in entertainment. But seven blocks away, behind a stone wall, is the estate of Bob Hope.

One of Hope's sons once dated Montenaro's daughter, "and the boy would come to the house to pick her up." Mrs. Montenaro served on school committees with Mrs. Hope.

Montenaro sometimes watches the shows he decorated on the family TV.

"I miss them half the time but I kind of like to watch them to see what they left in or what they left out. It's smart to look at them because you learn."

Source Of Daytime Information

By LARRY DISTEL
Register TV Editor

When readers pop up with questions about Daytime TV, or otherwise indicate a strong interest in the daytime doings on the networks, I often suggest there are several magazines on the newsstands devoted entirely to this field of television.

One of the best ones, I feel, is "Daytime TV," a publication whicp covers just about every facet of TV as it relates to the magazine title, the soap operas and the game shows, and sometimes even into the syndication field.

There are regular personality stories, the various series are covered, and complete histories of the series run from time to time, including therein not only all the actors and actresses who have appeared in the past but often what has become of them since.

Another feature which probably serves as a guide to many in the industry to measure popularity of series and stars is a monthly poll of readers.

Latest poll has brought "Days of Our Lives" back to the top of the voting, with Bill Hayes and his wife, Susan Seaforth Hayes, each topping their own departments. The lady has been on top for six months, while husband Bill had previously drifted down as low as fourth.

Newest poll also has brought Maeve McGuire, who plays Nicole Drake on "Edge of Night," all the way from seventh place to second. "Hollywood Squares" continued its rather long hold on first place among game shows.

One thing I've more or less deplored about "Daytime TV," the magazine, is their dating policy. This newest poll is in the current issue, now on the stands, but already dated for next January. This predating sometimes knocks sense out of some dates within the text of the book.

But, all in all, for those who gobble up information on TV, this is a good source for the field it covers.

Back before "The Muppets" took the air on Channel 2, I suggested that the program, while on the surface an appeal to the younger audiences, also would be entertaining for the grown folks, too.

Some October rating figures seem to bear out that prediction. From a list of seven shows shown in Los Angeles in the 7 to 8 p.m. time period, "The Muppets" score best in four different age groups, the ratings show.

In its own Saturday time slot, it easily beats "Celebrity Sweepstakes" among women in both the 18 to 34 and 18 to 49 age breakdowns, and also the men. The figures indicate that many more women than men watch the show.

As for other shows which trail, those include "Let's Make a Deal," "Name That Tune," the "Andy Williams Show," "Price Is Right" and "Wild Kingdom."

By the way, for those men who are apt to dismiss "Let's Make a Deal" as attractive only to silly women (this isn't my quote, but has been directed my way by others), almost as many men watch the show as women. Also women place "Wild Kingdom" and "Celebrity Sweepstakes" ahead of "Let's Make a Deal," while for men "Deal" is in second place on this list of seven shows.

CBS is coming up with another made-for-TV movie aimed at the sports fans. This will be called "The Deadliest Season," and tells the story, the network tells us, of a professional athlete's hunger for success at any cost.

One might look at the title and theme and assume the sport is football. But not so. It's hockey this time, a sport that can get rough and does in the movie, rough enough, in fact, to lead to a tragedy on the ice.

Sporting top roles will be Michael Moriarty and Kevin Conway. Shot on location, the movie will be shown later this season on CBS, with no date scheduled.

'Candid Camera' Continues To Roll

NEW YORK – When you see those contestants jumping for joy and screaming their heads off on the TV game shows, that's totally artificial and unnatural behavior. It's just an act they're putting on because they want to impress the producer. They feel that's what the producer is looking for and that's what they want to give him.

"But it's not a natural reaction," said Allen Funt, a man who knows about people's behavior. Funt has been catching people off guard with his hidden cameras and microphones for almost 30 years with his highly successful "Candid Camera" show.

The series hit the airwaves on the ABC radio network in 1947 as "Candid Microphone" and graduated to television a few years later, making the rounds on all three networks at one time or other. It's now seen in syndication on some 100 stations around the country.

"The point of our film is underplaying people," said Funt in his huge office on West 55th St. "Theater is larger than life. Normal behavior is smaller. When we tell someone he's just won $500 you can't see it on his face. The effect is totally underplayed. This is natural. The reactions on those game shows are pure fantasy."

JILL BROOKS AND PAUL MAURE IN SCENE FROM 'THE NUTCRACKER'

10th 'Nutcracker' For Ballet

LAGUNA BEACH – The Sugar Plum Fairy will weave her magic on the youngsters of Orange County when Ballet Pacifica launches its 10th season of "The Nutcracker" in the Laguna Moulton Playhouse, 606 Laguna Canyon Road on Tuesday, Dec. 14. Performances run through Sunday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. with 2:30 p.m. matinees scheduled for Dec. 18 and 19.

Dancing the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy in different performances will be Judith Aaen (guest artist), Jill Brooks and Molly Lynch. Their Nutcracker Prince partners will be Louis Carver; Paul Maure, formerly of the Nouveau Ballet de Monte Carlo; Victor Moreno, who has partnered such famous ballerinas as Danilova, Tallchief and Slavenska; and David Panieff, formerly principal dancer of the Los Angeles City Ballet.

Snow Queens will be Jill Brooks, Jennifer Engle, Lisa Robertson and Kristi Stephens. Louis Carver, Roger Faubel and Paul Maure will alternate as Snow Kings.

In every performance the roles of Drosselmeyer and Mother Ginger will be portrayed by Laguna actor Charles Colgan.

Considered to be the most popular ballet in the United States, "The Nutcracker" story by Hoffman concerns a little girl who receives, as a Christmas gift, a wooden nutcracker carved to resemble a man. In the magic of Christmas Eve, the nutcracker comes to life and eventually turns into a handsome prince, who takes the little girl, Clara, through the Land of Snow to his Kingdom of Candy, where she meets the Sugar Plum Fairy. The role of Clara will be danced by Rika Creed, Shawn Daywalt, Laurie Miller and Julie Renfro.

Music is by Tchaikovsky; choreography and costumes are by Lila Zali, artistic director of Ballet Pacifica; technical director is Carl Callaway; storyteller is Douglas Reeve.

Group rates are available for 15 or more tickets purchased for one performance with one check.

Information and mail orders may be obtained by contacting Sally Reeve, P.O. Box 241, Laguna Beach, Ca. 92652.

Odd British Play 'Comedians' Dazzling

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) – The odd British play "Comedians" shines with theatrical dazzle in its Broadway incarnation.

Fine acting and polished direction by Mike Nichols, an expert at maximum impact, distinguish the story that unfolded Sunday night on the stage of the Music Box.

Quite in keeping with the title, laughter cascades through the plot, but there is a subcurrent of bizarre meaning and caustic metaphor that make it much more than blithe comedy.

Trevor Griffiths, the author, tells of a half dozen Manchester laborers who take night classes with a veteran comic in the hope of eventually becoming professional entertainers.

In the first act, they are preparing to audition for an agent from London. The second act consists of their eager, dreadful premieres at a bingo club. Finally, come the judgments which for most mean failure and defeat.

The dramatic leverage centers upon the conflict in comedy purpose enunciated by the teacher, who regards humor as a knife to cut through illusion to truth, and the agent, who tells the lads their only purpose is to sugarcoat life.

Prominent too in the strange but superbly developed play are the tormented hangups of a chap named Gethin Price. He is enacted by Jonathan Pryce, the only member of the present company to have been with the play during its original production at Nottingham in 1975 and subsequent triumphant London visit.

Tall and lean, Pryce's clown with a heart of gall is a chilling and unforgettable study of private anguish.

MOVIE RATINGS FOR PARENTS AND YOUNG PEOPLE

The objective of the ratings is to inform parents about the suitability of movie content for viewing by their children

G	General Audiences. All ages admitted.
PG	Parental Guidance suggested. All ages admitted.
R	Restricted Persons under 17 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or guardian.
X	Adults Only. No one under 18 admitted.

NOTE: If two features have different ratings, the more restrictive rating prevails.

Crosby Show Warms Chilly Las Vegas

JOHN M. WILLIS

LAS VEGAS (AP) – It was a cold and windy desert night, but Bing Crosby warmed the hearts of an estimated 6,000 persons with his first-ever appearance on the Las Vegas Strip.

Close friends and business associates said the benefit performance for a Roman Catholic church will also likely be Crosby's last here.

The show was staged Friday night to help the Rev. Ben Franzinelli, an activist Catholic priest who wants to move his flock into a new church.

Father Ben, as he is called, started Holy Family parish about 18 months ago, holding services in a country-western saloon. But the establishment has changed. It's a topless disco now and Father Ben wants to move his congregation into a real church. Crosby agreed to do a benefit to get the construction fund rolling.

For more than two hours, Crosby and members of his family, along with singer Rosemary Clooney, the Joe Bushkin Quartet and British comic Ted Rodgers entertained a captive audience in a sparkling new theater. There are no slot machines in the theater, and friends said that might have been one of the reasons Crosby agreed to come.

Also on stage was Bing's partner from the old road show movies, Bob Hope.

"He was funny years ago," Crosby said when asked if he remembered Hope.

Noting that Hope has played golf with many a president, Crosby said the most famous foursome ever was Hope, Martin Van Buren, Millard Fillmore and John Quincy Adams.

Crosby opened the show with some memories going back to his start a half-century ago in a small West Los Angeles night club. From there the night unfolded, switching from current pop to the old songs, with a few Hope jokes and a little soft shoe mixed in along the way.

Two of Crosby's sons were in the show – Harry playing classical guitar and Nathaniel singing. Crosby's wife, Kathryn, and daughter Mary Frances danced in flowing gowns.

The highlight of the night came when Bing announced he would "reach into the embers and pull out a few old chestnuts."

From there he moved casually, and sometimes humorously, through more than a score of his greatest hits, including "Swing on a Star."

LOS ANGELES – "The Flying Dutchman" docked his black spectral ship Friday at the Port of Los Angeles (Music Center) in one of the most cohesive productions ever delivered to this city by the visiting New York City Opera.

Featuring lots of rigging and shivering timbers, this Robert Darling-designed and directed production reeks of brine and teems with in-depth sea-faring music drama.

Richard Wagner's "Der Fliegende Hollaender" Overture as conducted by Julius Rudel was symphonically sound and secure but seemed interminable, especially as one sits a bit transfixed by the projected backdrop of wispy clouds rolling by, actually screening past a ghostly sorrowful-looking visage of the Dutchman.

The curtain opens on a cutaway ship heading straight toward us on storm-tossed seas, the crew hauling hawsers amidst flashes of lightning and orchestral effects of donder und blitzen (with rolling of der shippen). It's all quite atmospheric right up to the swaying creaky-looking gunwales.

As the storm subsides, a menacing black sail looms right beside (or is it aft?) the intrepid Norwegian vessel of Capt. Daland. It looks like the Dutchman is on a collision course.

By now, most are familiar with the Wagner text and the James Mason movie, to wit: the Dutchman is under a satanic curse – doomed to sail the seas till judgment day unless or until redeemed by the faithful love of a woman.

Making his debut here with the NYCO, Guillermo Sarabia proved to be the weakest link in the production. He's a stoic Dutchman at best. As Vanderdecken, Sarabia unveiled a sturdy Pinza-like vocal instrument of throbbing vitality. But a paragon of theatrical animation he's not.

Sarabia has ample blue chip credits. Originally from Mexico, he's appeared with the Dusseldorf, San Francisco and Vienna operas and at the Met, no less.

Even though he has the credits and the vocal resources, Sarabia's Dutchman is phlegmatic. One supposes this can be a valid interpretative approach to the role since the Dutchman is a doomed man and therefore he could be a creature of pure pessimism.

But might not Sarabia show some glimmer of hope or optimism at meeting Senta, his potential saviour?

What a radiant saviour the NYCO has in soprano Johanna Meier. Her Senta is a pure aural joy of rich, lubricious throaty allure and captivating Wagnerian potency. Her bountiful, earthy good looks and accomplished acting make her a worthy prize for any traveling Dutchman.

Tenor Jerold Siena makes the most of harrowing and tender vocal moments as the steersman in Act I, displaying obvious fear of the storm and, as it subsides, singing lucidly and tenderly of his longing for home.

Diane Curry as Mary, Senta's guardian, is properly solicitous and sings attractively of her concern for her charge. (She will be replaced Dec. 5 by Sandra Walker.)

Also concerned is Senta's suitor, Erik, a huntsman. As Erik, tenor Stan Unruh was plaintively dry-sounding while delivering most of his vocal lines from a stiff "parade-rest" stance. At times, he looked like a growing redwood tree, his legs seemingly planted in the stage.

By far, the most engaging performance of this voyage is the Daland of baritone William Wilderman.

As the burly captain of the Norwegian vessel, Wilderman exuded an old-salt authority. And, as Senta's father, he was paternal without being doting.

Wilderman conveyed a lieder-like performance, singing with svelte dynamic shadings with the best German diction of the voyage, all of which would make a Fischer-Dieskau proud.

Maestro Refuses To Conduct

MONTREAL (CP) – The Montreal Symphony Orchestra says its musical director, Spanish conductor Rafael Fruhbeck de Burgos, refused to conduct the orchestra's concerts this week after a dispute with some of the musicians.

The announcement said the management would "do its utmost" to get Fruhbeck de Burgos to return for the rest of his contract. He was to have conducted eight pairs of Tuesday-Wednesday concerts and three Sunday concerts in the remaining eight weeks of the season.

The conductor returned to his native Spain Saturday after receiving a letter from members of the orchestra complaining about his criticism of some of the musicians.

"In order to achieve good results a conducter must be in accord with his musicians and establish a bond with them," the statement from the orchestra's managers said.

He will be replaced this week by Franz-Paul Decker.

FLORIDA WATER SKI SHOW TO MAKE FIRST WEST COAST SPLASH

ANAHEIM – Florida's famed Cypress Gardens Water Ski Show will be one of the many entertainment attractions at H. Werner Buck's 12th Annual Southern California Sports, Vacation & Recreational Vehicle Show due at Anaheim Convention Center Jan. 2-9.

The picked team of Aquamaids and Champions, as the performers are billed, will headline the twice-daily Parade of Outdoor Champions stage show, a popular feature at producer Buck's Anaheim spectacular. It will be the first time the Cypress Gardens group has played in the West.

For their performances the talented Florida water skiers will skim the surface of a large, specially-constructed pool, presenting graceful water ballets, precision pyramids, amazing jumps and hilarious comedy routines. A high-speed power winch, to be installed poolside, will pull the aqua-acrobats across the water.

Cypress Gardens, built out of Florida swamp lands by impresario Dick Pope and his family, held its first water ski show in 1942, during World War II. Six soldiers from a nearby Army installation were enthusiastic spectators. The following Sunday a convoy of 800 arrived. Now, 36 years later, a nationally-known tourist attraction, Cypress Gardens owes much of its popularity to its stunning water ski show, so frequently seen on TV network programs and in various moving pictures.

The Anaheim Sports, Vacation & RV Show is actually five big shows in one.

'Villain' Gert Frobe Gets Good Guy Role

Germany's Gert Frobe, famed as the title-role villain of the James Bond thriller "Goldfinger," is now on the side of the law as Berlin Police Inspector Bauer in Ingmar Bergman's "The Serpent's Egg," currently filming in Munich. Presented by Dino DeLaurentiis from an original screenplay by Bergman, "The Serpent's Egg" stars David Carradine and Liv Ullmann. The picture, for United Artists release, is a coproduction of DeLaurentiis and Rialto Film of Berlin.

Frobe has appeared in about 100 films in addition to the above-mentioned "Goldfinger."

When Bobby Grich Tackled Anaheim

You know, in a way Bobby Grich SHOULD have come to play for the Angels. In a way the nimble free-agent infielder owed Anaheim something.

How come? Well, it's a long but interesting tale and dates back to the high school football season of 1966 when Grich was the first string quarterback (ahead of even Dennis Dummit) for Long Beach Wilson.

With Grich passing for 16 touchdowns and running for five, Wilson scored 376 points and boomed through 10 straight games before running smack into coach Clare Van Hoorebeke's Anaheim Colonists in the mud of Long Beach Veterans' Stadium. Grich's luck ran out that evening. Anaheim was a 20-0 winner leaving Grich, like the other Wilsonites, frustrated and disappointed.

Late in the game Anaheim substitute Larry Bashford was motoring down the Wilson sidelines toward an apparent touchdown when suddenly he was unexpectedly sideswiped. There was instant confusion. Bashford ran over to Van Hoorebeke and swore that somebody had come off the Wilson bench and tackled him. Nobody else on Anaheim's side had detected this but (later) when the films were developed they showed Grich was the bencher who made the tackle, then had hustled right back into the obscurity of the Wilson bench.

HATED TO LOSE

Even in those days Bobby Grich hated to lose. He signed a statement of intent to enroll at UCLA but went for pro baseball in Baltimore instead.

When he was presented with uniform No. 4 during his introduction at an Anaheim Stadium press conference, someone asked Bobby if he wouldn't prefer the No. 3 he wore at Baltimore.

"As a matter of fact," Grich grinned, "I wore No. 4 when I played at Rochester."

Why then, didn't he request the same number after his promotion to Baltimore? "Because it belonged to (manager) Earl Weaver," Grich smiled.

IT'S ONLY MONEY

Mike Goodwin, producer of major motocross races (including the Super Bowl of Motocross in the Los Angeles Coliseum each summer) has a pretty good size expense incurred in putting on Saturday's American Motocross Finals at Anaheim Stadium.

When the final load of dirt is in place and things are ready for a start of the first race, Goodwin says he will have expended $367,000 in production costs.

Goodwin figures his gross will be $420,000 if all 43,000 seats are sold. "But I am sure this won't happen," he says. "Establishing quality stadium motocross racing is our prime effort and we will spend what we feel is necessary. It may take a few years to get our investments back, but it can happen. The Coliseum is an example. Our first three races were a loss but last summer we drew more than 65,000 fans so all our previous efforts paid off."

THE SCOURGE OF S.F.

Probably the San Francisco 49ers don't give a rap who the Rams start against them at quarterback next year. They only hope Monte Jackson gets lost before 1977. The corner back from San Diego State intercepted two Niner passes last Sunday but that isn't the whole story. He has become a San Francisco scourge. Earlier in the season he blocked a 49er punt, picked it up and rambled 50 yards to score. And in his rookie campaign of '75 Jackson picked up a punt that had been blocked and took it in for a touchdown....

Chick Hearn has quite a string going for him as radio-television broadcaster for the Lakers. Tonight will be his 1005th consecutive game (888 regular and 117 playoff). Hearn has been the club's anchor man since the Lakers moved to L.A. in 1960. He missed only one game. That was because of airline flight problems.

PHI BETA KAPPA CAGER

A quick mind doesn't necessarily shoot baskets in basketball but it helps. Tustin's Dave Trotter, beginning his senior season on the court for Occidental College, is a Phi Beta Kappa and you aren't in that lodge unless you are a superior scholar. Orcidental plays California Lutheran tonight and then heads for the Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo) tournament this weekend. Oxy opened by beating Westmont by four last weekend.

The six-four, 190-pound Trotter is one of the athletic sons of George Trotter, former Tustin High School coach and athletic director. A pre-law major, he summer-worked in Washington D.C. for Congressman Charles Wiggins. And Dave isn't the only Phi Beta Kappa on Occidental's side. So is Craig King, out of Glendale.

Dave is one of three former Tustin based athletes in the Trotter family. Lt. George now is a B52 navigator stationed at the Kincheloe Air Force and Jack (who went to Foothill High) teaches Spanish and German at Glendale High School.

Reggie's A Yankee---For $3 Million

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) – Reggie Jackson was officially welcomed to the New York Yankees Monday, accepting a five-year, $3 million contract as baseball's richest free agent.

To get him, Yankee owner George Steinbrenner had to beat out the Montreal Expos, who had offered what has been decribed as "a king's ransom" to bring Jackson to Canada.

In the end, it was Steinbrenner's dynamic salesmanship and the lure of New York, the media capital of the world, that Jackson could not resist.

"The reason I'm a Yankee is that George Steinbrenner just outhustled everybody else," said Jackson. "The Yankees were sincere and beat everybody else to the punch."

Jackson refused to confirm the financial aspects of his deal but he admitted that he could have signed with other teams for more money.

"Financial arrangements are very personal," the veteran slugger said. "It's offensive to talk of things of that nature. That's no one's business but mine."

Pressed on the question, Jackson said "other clubs offered more. Some clubs offered possibly seven figures more." One of those teams was known to be Montreal.

"We did everything we could," said John McHale, president of the Expos, who had made Jackson the No.1 choice in the historic Nov. 4 free-agent draft. "It just came down to his own decision on where he wanted to play, he decided he wanted to play in the American League and with the New York Yankees.

McHale said the Expos' money bid was "what I understand to have been the best offer. But there were other considerations which we as a club and we as individuals had no control over."

Gary Walker, Jackson's agent, confirmed that the Yankees' money bid was nowhere near the top dollar offered to his client. "Four teams offered more than the Yankees," he said.

Then why did Jackson come to New York? Perhaps to make a point.

"Look," he said, "money isn't going to get you everywhere you want to go. You have to consider the people you'll be dealing with. I got good feelings from Stein brenner and that's why I'm a Yankee.

"Certain things mean a lot more than money. It's easy to become rich when you're in my situation - free-agent. Steinbrenner dealt with me as a person, man-to-man. I respect him for that."

Jackson's agreement made him the most expensive instant millionaire created by the new free-agent arrangement. Until he signed, the richest free-agent agreements were reported to be the $2 million deals which Joe Rudi received from California and Don Gullett got from the Yankees 10 days ago.

At that time, the Yankees were expected to pursue infielder Bobby Grich as their second free-agent to complete their quota. But then Steinbrenner decided he preferred the charisma of Jackson and aimed at him instead. Grich eventually signed with California and the Yankees plunged into the Jackson sweepstakes.

Reggie spent a weekend in Montreal, looking over the Expos organization and considering the team's huge offer, rumored to have gone as high as $4 million.

Then, last Monday, he came to New York to spend a day with Steinbrenner. The Yankee owner lunched with him at the posh 21 Club, outlining the Yankee offer on a restaurant napkin. That is Steinbrenner's style. The Yankees' contract details with Catfish Hunter were written on a napkin and Steinbrenner used a napkin to make his later-aborted bid for free-agent Andy Messersmith last winter.

Jackson, who will be 31 in May, is the third leading active home run hitter in the American League with 281 for his career. He hit 27 and drove in 91 runs for Baltimore last season after being traded to the Orioles by the Oakland A's just before the start of the season.

In that deal, the A's sent Jackson and Ken Holtzman to Baltimore for outfielder Don Baylor and pitchers Mike Torrez and Paul Mitchell. Jackson, Holtzman and Baylor all were unsigned at the time the trade was made.

Subsquently, the Orioles swapped Holtzman to the Yankees, where he signed a fat, multi-year contract. Now, he has been reunited with Jackson again, through the free-agent route.

Part of the welcoming committee at Jackson's unveiling included New York City Commissioner Neal Walsh. When the Yankees signed Hunter almost two years ago, Walsh came to the press conference and presented Catfish with a fishing pole.

"But everybody knows the financial problems we've had," he told Jackson, "So all I can offer this time is a Big Apple."

And with that he pinned a lapel decoration on Jackson's suit jacket, welcoming him to New York, officially.

49ers Rush Vikings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – Delvin Williams and Wilbur Jackson each rushed for more than 150 yards against Minnesota's highly respected defense, making things easy for rookie quarterback Scott Bull as the San Francisco 49ers upset the Vikings 20-16 Monday night.

The 49ers made their record 7-5, staying barely alive in their bid to make the National Football League playoffs, and dropped the playoff-bound Vikings to 9-2-1.

Williams became the 49ers' first running back since 1959 to gain 1,000 yards in a season with his 26-yard burst off right tackle early in the final period, giving him 155 yards for the game and 1,014 for the year. He sprained his right ankle on that play as he was pulled down by cornerback Bobby Bryant. He limped off to an ovation and sat out the rest of the nationally televised game.

A blocked extra-point kick on one of Minnesota's touchdowns left them trailing by four points in the closing minutes, killing a possible field goal try which would have tied the game forcing Minnesota to try for a first down at the San Francisco 15-yard line. Chuck Foreman was stopped cold by the right side of the 49ers' line on the fourth-and-one situation and the lead held up.

Bull made his first NFL start, filling in for Jim Plunkett who pulled a side muscle in practice last Wednesday. The rookie from Arkansas restricted his work mostly to handoffs, completing just three of the eight passes he threw for 32 yards.

San Francisco, which had lost four straight games to fall behind the Los Angeles Rams in the National Conference West race, dominated the early going and led 10-0 after Steve Mike-Mayer booted a 45-yard field goal early in the second quarter. Mike-Mayer had missed a 25-yard attempt in the first quarter after the 49ers drove 55 yards.

But the Vikings' Fran Tarkenton, who had missed on his first seven passes, threw for touchdowns of 18 yards to Sammie White and eight yards to Ahmad Rashad as Minnesota moved into a 13-10 lead. Fred Cox' second extra-point attempt was blocked by defensive tackle Cleveland Elam.

Bull's one-yard quarterback sneak with 41 seconds left in the first half completed an 83--ard drive, putting San Francisco ahead again at 17-13.

Williams began the go-ahead drive with a 23-yard run off right tackle and Bull followed with his longest completion, 16 yards to Gene Washington. Pass interference was then called on cornerback Nate Wright, who bumped Washington in the end zone, giving the 49ers a first down at the Minnesota one-yard line.

A 37-yard field goal by Cox, following an interception by the Vikings' Paul Krause, was the only score in the third period. It trimmed the 49ers' lead to one point, 17-16.

Mike Mayer restored the four-point edge at 20-16 with a 38-yard field goal in the opening seconds of the last quarter.

The Vikings got possession four more times.

A sack of Tarkenton by defensive end Tommy Hart stopped the first opportunity cold and the Vikings moved only to midfield on their next try.

Minnesota took over at the San Francisco 24 with 3½ minutes to go following a punt from the end zone by Tom Wittum. But four Foreman rushes failed by about a yard to get the first down.

JRB To Invite 'Potato' Champ

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) – The winner of the Potato Bowl at Bakersfield on Saturday night between College of Sequoias and Bakersfield will represent California in the Dec. 11 Junior Rose Bowl.

Ellsworth of Iowa Falls, Iowa, already has been chosen to represent the East in the renewal of the game matching two outstanding teams from two-year schools.

Glenn Davis, game director and Director of Special Events for the sponsoring Los Angeles Times announced that the Potato Bowl will determine the California representative for the game in the Rose Bowl.

Both Sequoias and Bakersfield are at 9-1 this season while Ellsworth posted a 9-0 record.

Bakersfield has appeared in the Junior Rose Bowl on three previous occasions – defeated Northeastern Oklahoma 13-6 in 1953 and Del Mar, Tex., 36-14 in 1959. In 1961, Bakersfield lost to Cameron, Okla., 28-20.

The Junior Rose Bowl matched two-year colleges until 1966 and then went with four-year schools through 1971 when the postseason game was abandoned.

Zachry, Metzger Co-Rookies

NEW YORK (AP) – Two young right-handed pitchers, Pat Zachry of the Cincinnati Reds and Butch Metzger of the San Diego Padres, shared the National League Rookie of the Year award announced by the Baseball Writers Association of America Monday.

It marked the first time in the 25-year history of the award that it went to more than one player.

Both Zachry and Metzger received 11 votes from the BBWAA panel of two writers in each of the 12 NL cities. The remaining two ballots went to third baseman Hector Cruz of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The rookie voting names a single player on each ballot with no point system involved.

The closest previous rookie vote came in 1968 when Johnny Bench of the Reds edged New York Met pitcher Jerry Koosman 10-1/2-9-1/2.

Zachry began the season in the bullpen for the Reds before being moved into the starting rotation by Manager Sparky Anderson in May. He finished the season with a 14-7 record and 2.74 earned run average which was fifth best in the league.

He made 28 starts for the Reds, completed six and struck out 143 batters in 204 innings.

Going Gets Tough For NFL Contenders

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

There is a favorite locker room axiom in all sports that says: "When the going gets tough, the tough get going."

The going has gotten tough in the National Football League division races. It remains to be seen which teams will get going in the final two weeks of the regular season.

Two division races have been clinched. Perennial division winners Minnesota wrapped up the NFC Central and Oakland clinched the AFC West a week ago.

Los Angeles was one step away from ending the NFC West, needing only one more victory or one more San Francisco loss to eliminate the 49ers.

Minnesota played San Francisco Monday night and a Viking victory would clinch the division for LA.

Elsewhere, the playoff picture is somewhat more complicated.

Baltimore clinched a berth Sunday. It could be the AFC East crown for the Colts, who are 10-2, or it could be a wild card ticket. That depends on what they do in their last two games and what New England does.

The Patriots, 9-3, still have a shot at first place in the AFC East. If they win their last two games against New Orleans and Tampa Bay and Baltimore loses two, the Pats could sneak off with the title.

If the Pats win one more, they would clinch the wild card spot and their first playoff berth in 13 years.

In the Central Division, Cleveland and Pittsburgh are both 8-4, one game back of Cincinnati, 9-3, with two to play. The strange situation there is that one of those three will win the division and a playoff berth. But the other two will likely lose out in the wild card scramble to Baltimore or New England, assuming the Patriots can handle one of those last two lightweight opponents.

The key AFC Central game comes next Monday night when Cincinnati plays at Oakland. If the Raiders beat the Bengals and Pittsburgh defeats winless Tampa Bay Sunday, the Steelers will tie Cincinnati for first place with one week to play. But the Steelers would have the edge because of their two victories over the Bengals, the latest a 7-3 decision Sunday.

Cleveland's outlook is bleaker. For the Browns to win the division, they would have to win their last two contests against Houston and Kansas City and hope that Pittsburgh loses one game and Cincinnati drops its last two.

In the NFC East, Dallas, 10-2, still holds a two-game edge but hasn't nailed down its playoff spot. The Cowboys are only a step away though.

Meanwhile, behind them, Washington and St. Louis are in a life-and-death struggle with the survivor likely to take the wild card. Both are 8-4 with two games left but the Redskins have an advantage by virtue of having beaten the Cardinals twice.

Oddly, Chicago, 6-6, still could sneak off with the NFC wild-card berth through an odd set of circumstances.

If the Bears win their last two, all three teams would finish at 8-6. But Chicago would get the playoff spot by virtue of a better inter-division record than the two other clubs.

'Crosby' Invites Two Gal Golfers

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) – Two women golfers, U.S. Amateur champion Donna Horton and national collegiate champ Nancy Lopez, have received invitations to play in the $240,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Jan. 20-23.

They are the first women invited to play in the prestigious tournament, the only event on the Professional Golfers Association tour in which amateurs are allowed to play with pro partners in all rounds.

Miss Horton, from Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Lopez, from Roswell, N.M., both played on the 1976 Curtis Cup team which defeated Great Britain's top women amateurs.

Five Of Six County Preps 'Home' Friday

BY DAVID OSTERMAN

With five of its six high school teams drawing home assignments, Orange County will be hopping with key games this week in the CIF football playoffs.

Only El Modena will be on the road, facing a potent Temple City team in Pasadena.

All other county teams drew assignments close to home, while St. Paul, the top-seeded 4-A team, plays West Covina at Citrus College.

Westminster, a third-place team in the tough Sunset League, plays its second straight playoff game at home, facing Santa Monica. Fountain Valley, also plays at home, facing Fontana at Orange Coast College.

In the 3-A ranks, Villa Park puts its offensive show on display at Fred Kelly stadium against Damien of Pomona, while Anaheim plays undefeated Crescenta Valley at Glover stadium. All 4-A and 3-A games start at 8 p.m.

Esperanza, the only county 2-A team still in the playoffs, challenges undefeated Antelope Valley (10-0-1) at Valencia High in a 7:30 game.

Titans Tough, But Arizona Wins By 11

(Special to The Register)

TUCSON – Forward Bob Elliott and center Phil Taylor led 11th ranked Arizona University to a 91-80 victory over visiting Fullerton State Monday before a sellout crowd in the Wildcat Fieldhouse.

The Titans, in a game similar to last year, stayed with the bigger, physical Wildcats until the final 10 minutes of the game, before the difference in size began to make a difference.

Elliott, a 6-10 forward, pumped in 23 points, while Taylor, a 6-9 center, scored 21 points and grabbed 15 second half rebounds.

Guard Herman Harris all hit in double figures, finishing with 22 points for Arizona.

Fullerton was led by forward Greg Bunch, who hit 13 of 22 shots from the field and had nine rebounds.

The Titans outshot Arizona from the field, making 38 of 70 attempts for a 54.3 per cent shooting average, while Arizona hit 37 of 81 shots for 45.7 per cent.

But Fullerton got only five free throws in the game, making four of them, while Arizona hit on 17 of 21 shots from the charity stripe.

"They're very physical and strong," said Titan coach Bob Dye. "I can't think there are many teams in the nation which are stronger than their front line.

"They just overpowered us inside."

The Wildcats still had to fight before earning their second victory without a defeat.

Fullerton trailed by only one point, 42-41, at halftime and tied it 54-54 with 13:40 to play.

But forward Kenny Davis hit two shots and Taylor added another two go give Arizona a 70-54 lead it never relinquished. Beside Bunch, sophomore guard Keith Anderson also scored in double figures, finishing with 18 points.

The Titans, 1-1, return home today and play Loyola Saturday in the Fullerton gym.

FULLERTON (80) – Bunch 27, Davis 6, Shaw 9, Anderson 18, Heenan 8, Niles 8, B. Miller 2, Welch 2.
ARIZONA (91) – Marshall 1, Taylor 21, Elliott 23, Harrison 6, Harris 22, Davis 8, Gordy 6, Gladney 4.
HALFTIME SCORE – Arizona 42, Fullerton 41.
FOULED OUT – Greg Buch (F).

Weinert Prepares For Big A Motocross

By ART PARRA

Jim Weinert, 1976 Stadium Motocross champion and resident of Laguna Beach, is looking forward to displaying talent before fans Saturday night at the Anaheim Stadium American Motocross Finals.

The 25-year-old Kawasaki ace has been a top rider in American Motorcyclist Assn. activity for the past 10 years, winning the professional division national title twice since its inception five years ago. Prior to MX going professional, Weinert was a threat in all amateur action.

Weinert, out for two months this season with a broken leg, is still notching his best year as far as total money earnings is concerned.

"I have already gone over the $100,000 mark for this year and a win Saturday will just make it that much better. Just think, if my leg hadn't been broken, this figure could have been closer to $150,000" he said.

Continued Weinert, "However, being on the shelf did accomplish something. It has given me time to assess the sport...where it has been and where it is going. Usually we are too busy getting ready for a race. It is obvious our sport is advancing but the surface hasn't been scratched. Successful stadium MX races will quickly turn our activity around. People will find it is entertaining and not necessary to brave elements for an enjoyable spectacle."

The "King of Stadium Racing" returned to Orange County Monday after a Trans-Am Series appearance in Phoenix Sunday. His bike developed mechanical trouble, thus Weinert didn't place high at the Arizona meet. However, he accumulated enough points to finish third in the series, something he won in 1974 and 1975. The other two occasions, Weinert was second and fourth.

"Actually my heart wasn't in the Phoenix race. I had just finished participating in the American Broadcasting Company "SuperStar" competition at Rotunda, Florida, and was plenty tired. This week I am going to try and catch up on some rest and train for Saturday's race," he told The Register.

Weinert qualified third in his SuperStar heat, making the finals to be held in February. He was beaten by Guy Drut, French Olympic Games hurdle star, and Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

By virtue of the third place finish, Weinert finished ahead of Graig Nettles and Roy White of the New York Yankees, Jim Lonborg of the Philadelphia Phillies and Ken Griffey of the Cincinatti Reds. Where were five other outstanding sports personalities in his group.

"I was hoping to make a good showing, proving motocross riders have to be good athletes. Bowling was my downfall and it should have been the easiest," laughed Weinert as he examined plans for the Anaheim Stadium track featuring the gigantic King Kong jump.

Weinert won the SuperStar swimming, finished second in rowing and bicycle races.

Come Saturday night, Weinert is hoping to get the checkered flag first in the motorbike race of the year.

Phil Lombardo Don-Of-Year

Sophomore defensive end Phil Lombardo, one of the top performers in Southland JC football ranks, was named Don of the Year to highlight Santa Ana College's annual football banquet.

A graduate of Villa Park High School, Lombardo was a two-award winner at the banquet held at the Moose Lodge in Santa Ana. Lombardo also was honored as Santa Ana's outstanding defensive lineman.

Sophomore tailback Clarence Jackson, a graduate of Saddleback High, also won two awards. Jackson was named the Most Improved Don and was honored as the offensive back of the year.

Linebacker Richard Bartlett, a graduate of Kamehameha High in Hawaii, won the Most Inspirational award and was named team co-captain.

Defensive end Kevin Vasquez was honored as co-captain of the Dons with Bartlett.

Joe Schmit won the Hal Tucker Memorial award, center Pat Gomes was named offensive lineman of the year and Noble Franklin was honored as defensive back of the year.

Vasquez is graduate of Villa Park High, Schmit is a Don freshman from Mater Dei High, Gomes is a sophomore from Kamehameha High in Hawaii and Franklin is graduate of Santa Ana Valley High.

Tift Worried About UCI-49ers Opener

By CHUCK ABAIR

"We're not as far along as I had hoped we would be and they have a real good team, but we'll be there," says Tim Tift about tonight's 8:05 opener of his eighth season as UC Irvine head basketball coach against Long Beach State.

"They have good starters and depth while we're slowed by injuries, having to tackle a team that is playing its home opener. The setting might have been different later if we could have caught them between conference games."

His only advantage over counterpart Dwight Jones is that he scouted the 49ers in their exhibition win over the Brazilian Nationals when "they probably didn't play as well as they wanted to."

Now 190-78 after going 14-12 a year ago, Tift says his lineup will depend upon who is healthy at Long Beach Arena.

Veteran guard Kevin Davis got over a long siege and then suffered an ankle injury so returnee Tim Tivenan and Barstow College transfer Lou Stephens are the likely backcourt starters. Vets Dan Hair (6-6) and Scott Jenkins (6-5) will open on the frontline with a newcomer. Frank Chandler (6-7) seemed set at center until he was hit by the flu bug. That could mean Hair going to the pivot with Kirk Christ (6-6) at forward. Chandler (De Anza) and Christ (Mt. San Antonio) are JC transfers. The latter started slowly due to a wrist fracture.

Freshman forward Steve Rogers and 6-4 former jayvee standout Terry Lovingier may also see considerable action.

"I think our capability will be much better later," says Tim. "We're the unknown right now."

Long Beach is probably the strongest team on Irvine's schedule.

Back from the PCAA co-champions are all hands to go with several impressive newcomers.

Dale Dillion (6-4) has started two seasons and played three years. Larry Hudson (6-6), 6-4 Glen Gerke, Ron Austin and Jim Dawson, both 6-7, and Rich Johnson (6-5) have played two years although Johnson sat out last winter with a hand fracture after making honorable mention All-America.

Tony McGee (6-4), who led the scoring last season and now is a reserve, 6-8 Clarence Ruffen and Dan Marques (5-11) are other returnees.

Lloyd McMillan (6-5) was a redshirt after starring at Loyola in Los Angeles while JC transfer Mark Stefl (6-10) has been impressive. Talented freshmen include Francois Wise (6-5), Jim Hughes (6-4), Mike Wiley (6-8) and 6-2 Don Martin.

Bike-A-Thon At Chapman

Seeking $50,000 to be used to equip a planned physical education and shorts complex on the campus, Chapman College will stage a Bike-A-Thon Sunday in Irvine.

It is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Sky Park Circle under the direction of Dick Bertea of the school's board of trustees.

He stresses that the participants will come from the college and throughout the southland. Even small children will be able to ride bikes on the one-mile circuit.

College representatives have pledge cards and will be out to obtain sponsors from various corporations, businesses and community people.

Bertea feels a successful event will enable Chapman to have one of the finest facilities in southern California.

A $2 Million project, it is to include a gymnasium with seating capacity for 2,500, four new tennis courts, a 50-meter swimming pool and other features.

JC Cagers Tune Up For Tourneys

Three Orange County community college basketball teams return to action tonight as they continue tuning up for holiday tournament action.

Cypress College's Chargers host the Los Angeles State JV team at 8. Santa Ana College visits Oxnard College at 7:30 and Golden West travels to Barstow College looking for its first win of the season.

Coach Don Johnson will use tonight's game to keep his Cypress club trim for Thursday's tournament opener at Azusa where the Chargers are matched with Pasadena City College at 3 p.m. in the seventh annual Don Edwards Memorial Tournament at Citrus College. The Chargers are the defending champions of the tourney.

Coach Dick Stricklin's Golden West team will be after its initial victory of the season at Barstow. The Rustlers absorbed defeats at the hands of Los Angeles Mission and Cerritos opening week.

Coach Rolland Todd's traveling Dons continue to keep their show on the road by visiting Oxnard, which is coached by Bill Bloom, the former Corona del Mar High coach.

Oxnard trimmed the Dons in early December tournament action a year ago, so Santa Ana will be looking for a measure of revenge.

The Dons got off to a quick start last week, taking third place in the Valley of the Sun Tournament at Scottsdale, Ariz. Santa Ana downed Phoenix, lost a six-point decision to eventual tourney champ Mesa of Arizona in the second game, then bombed defending champ Eastern Arizona to claim third place.

"We learned a great deal about our club in the tournament," said Todd. "Except for a cold streak against Mesa, we probably were the best team in the tournament."

Santa Ana hit only 27 per cent of its shots against Mesa. "I'll be surprised if we do that again this season," said the Don coach. "We are a better shooting team than that."

The Dons continue their traveling Saturday when they play the Long Beach State JV team at Long Beach Arena at 5:45 in a preliminary game to the Long Beach State vs. Los Angeles State feature.

Vitelli, Chaves Saints' MVP

Jim Vitelli and Ray Chaves made off with the most significant trophies after Monday night's annual Santa Ana High School Awards Banquet, closing out the Saints' season.

Vitelli was voted the "most valuable player" as well as the scholar-athlete award. Running back Chavez is Saint-of-the-Year, a designation that has been a coveted trophy for 40 years.

Other winners:

VARSITY: David Reyes, best defense; Mike Williams, best offense; Jim Vaca, most improved; Davis Bright, most inspirational.

SOPHOMORE: Rudy Espinosa and Jim Lancaster, Leland Rule Award; Emanuel Bland, most improved; Rick Valdez, most valuable.

FRESHMEN: Kelly Masanai, most inspirational; Ricky Stewart, most improved; Chris Gavin, most valuable.

DH MEN FAIL YANKEES

NEW YORK (AP) – Designated hitters failed the New York Yankees in the World Series in their last 15 trips to the plate. Only designated hit for the American League champions came in the first game when Lou Piniella doubled and eventually scored on Graig Nettles' sacrifice fly.

Meanwhile, Dan Driessen did all the designated hitting for the victorious Cincinnati Reds, getting five hits in 14 efforts in four games. He also drew two walks and figured in four runs. Two of his hits were doubles and one a home run that gave the Reds a four-run lead in game three, won 6-2.

Dons' Smith Averaging 26

Steve Smith's fast start gives Santa Ana College's talented sophomore guard a quick lead in Orange County's community college basketball scoring derby, but many points remain to be scored before the final buzzer next March.

Smith, the only returning letterman in Santa Ana's lineup, put games of 29, 18 and 33 points together last week to help the Dons take third place in the Valley of the Sun Tournament in Arizona.

Saddleback College freshman Tim Shaw indicated he will be in the thick of the scoring race for keeps. He scored 34 points in his first college game and is averaging 24 points per game after two starts to press Smith at the top of the scoring ladder.

Dennis Smith of the Gauchos won the county JC scoring derby last season as a freshman and will be a contender again. He's averaging 18 points after two sophomore starts.

Vikings Favored At Antelope V. Cage Tournament

LANCASTER – Defending state JC champion Long Beach City College will be the team to beat Wednesday when 16 community college basketball teams from north and south open the Antelope Valley Invitational Tournament.

Off to another fast start, the Vikings are 2-0 following impressive wins over San Diego City and Santa Monica College. Long Beach is matched with Palomar in Wednesday's first round.

Other first round pairings in the tournament hosted by Antelope Valley College are West Los Angeles vs. Arizona Western, Canyons vs. Riverside, Mt. San Jacinto vs. Porterville, Los Angeles Mission vs. Compton, Yavapai of Arizona vs. Pierce, Sequoias vs. Mira Costa and Glendale vs. host Antelope Valley.

County Girls Win At Age Group CC

Katie Denz of Garden Grove won the championship and two other Orange County girls finished in the top six of 110 contestants over the past weekend at the National AAU Cross Country age group finals.

Miss Denz had an 11:11 time for two miles while finishing fifth was Kelly Certa of Fountain Valley and the Blue Angels Club in the Miami, Fla. meet.

Taking sixth was Sharon Hulse of Edison High School, a teammate of Denz on the county's Patriots in 11:30.

Gillis Readies Bucs For 'Eaton' Debut

Orange Coast College's "new look" Pirates and the defending champion Corsairs of Santa Monica College will be on display Wednesday night in the first round of the sixth annual Miles Eaton Invitational Basketball Tournament at OCC's Peterson Gym in Costa Mesa.

New Pirate coach Tandy Gillis got his Orange Coast team off to a winning start with a 47-45 win over Los Angeles Trade Tech last Saturday. The Pirates displayed a tenacious man-to-man defense and a disciplined, passing game offense.

Gillis will send his Pirates after their second win in Wednesday night's tourney opener at 7 p.m. against the UC Irvine JV team.

Santa Monica, loaded again following a 23-6 campaign last season, tangles with Fullerton College at 9. Coach Jim Wagner's Corsairs opened the new season with a 76-56 win over Ventura College last week, then bowed 62-56 to defending state champion Long Beach on Saturday night.

Coach Ezra Van Horn is rebuilding at Fullerton this season. His Hornets take a 0-2 record into the tournament following opening losses to Los Angeles Valley and Southwestern.

Two more first round games are booked Thursday night with Imperial Valley facing Santa Rosa at 7 and Phoenix going against Saddleback at 9. Former Chapman College star Bill Trumbo, the former Garden Grove High coach, brings another talented team south from Santa Rosa.

Saddleback takes a 1-1 record into play following a tough overtime loss to San Diego Mesa and a comeback victory over Grossmont. Coach Bill Mulligan's Gauchos are expected to be a major contender for the tourney title along with the defending champion Corsairs and Santa Rosa.

Mounties Top Glendale, 77-65

GLENDALE – Rebounding and hot shooting carried Mt. San Antonio College to a 77-65 basketball victory over Glendale College Monday night.

Playing without star forward Angel Santiago who was absent with the flu, the Mounties rushed to a 36-25 halftime lead on the strength of Robert Vigil, Earner Mays and Dick Rockwood who stormed the boards, then coasted to the victory.

Rockwood led all scorers with 25 points, Mays added 16 and Vigil 12. Mays also grabbed 11 rebounds.

MT. SAC (77) – Vigil 12, Mays 16, Rockwood 25, Love 7, Gagne 4, Nichols 7, Beck 4, Lugo 2.
GLENDALE (65) – Southworth 5, Reed 22, Loveton 6, McCourtney 4, Knudsen 4, Anderson 6, Carter 18.
Halftime: Mt. Sac 36, Glendale 25.
Fouled Out: McCourtney.

Doubleheader Tops CIF Polo Playoffs

A doubleheader at the Independence Park pool in Fullerton highlights the second round pairings of the 4-A and 3-A CIF water polo playoffs, today and Wednesday.

Sunny Hills, the top-seeded team in the 4-A playoffs, faces Newbury Park in a 4:30 p.m. game at the new complex, and Anaheim faces Los Altos in another 4-A game in the 6 p.m. nightcap.

Sunny Hills and Anaheim are two of 12 county teams still alive in the post season tournaments.

Other 4-A matchups involving county schools have El Rancho challenging Corona del Mar at Newport Harbor, Huntington Beach hosting Long Beach Wilson at Golden West, University playing Beverly Hills at Santa Monica High and Newport Harbor traveling to Lakewood High. All those games start at 3:15 p.m.

In the 3-A division, top seeded Los Amigos of Garden Grove travels over 200 miles to face an unknown opponent. All 3-A games are today.

The Lobos are paired against either Arroyo or Santa Ynez in a 6:30 p.m. game at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. Arroyo and Santa Ynez played last week, but a protest has forced the game to be replayed. The two northern teams will play at Cal Poly SLO at 4 p.m. with the winner facing Los Amigos that night.

In other county 3-A games, Villa Park hosts Indio, Crescenta Valley invades Servite, Cabrillo faces El Dorado at Esperanza High and Foothill travels to Monte Vista High for a game against La Serna. All those games also start at 3:15 p.m.

Brea-Olinda fills out the county contingent with a 3:30 game at La Canada High.

Bud Tucker's TODAY

A Careful Study Of Low Profile

It is significant to note that while the alumni is running hither and yon playing pepper with the head of the football coach, the basketball coach is eating lunch in his office with the door closed.

The college basketball coaches of the nation offer an incredible study in low profile behavior which a government could offer as a refresher course for its undercover agents.

There are rare exceptions, of course. An individual the likes of Bobby Knight pops off because of his nature and Gene Bartow is expected to speak because he is operating in the wake of a legend.

Generally, though, the basketball coaches go quietly about their business oblivious to the commotion caused by the results of the football team. A basketball coach rarely has a face, but this is by choice and it is proven strategy.

Bob Boyd of the USC Trojans is entering his 12th winter in the most unique situation of them all. He has operated in the same town as the UCLA Bruins whose dynasty created a thing called a "legend in his own time."

Some Assignment

Boyd coached in the same community as John Wooden. Nobody ever had to coach a college football team in the same town as Knute Rockne, or a pro team in the same city as Vince Lombardi.

Despite rising approximately 6-7 feet in the air, Boyd managed to slip around quite unnoticed although nobody is perfect. I mean, Boyd made a few minor mistakes. Not the least of these was hanging the only two defeats on Wooden that The Legend was to endure on his home floor at Pauley Pavilion.

Then, a year ago, Boyd pulled off a masterpiece. He went through the entire schedule of the Pac-8 Conference without winning a game.

Under ordinary circumstances, this would be carrying the low profile thing a trifle too far. But Boyd lost all his conference events after compiling a non-league record of 11 wins and only one loss and there were those scientists who were touting the Trojans as the new empire in college basketball on the West Coast.

"Blowing all the games was my first mistake," Boyd says. "Waiting so long was the second and the biggest mistake. You should not wait eleven years to lay an egg like that. You should do it after four or five years when it is still in the minds of people to forgive.

"After eleven years, they run out of forgiveness and patience and just about everything else."

Boyd probably has an important thing going for him. That is, it is highly unlikely his team could plod through another conference season without getting on the board.

"That sure as thunder wouldn't be low profile," Boyd says. "It sure doesn't figure, but if it happens, it happens."

Made Dons Big

Boyd established this frame of mind after gaining coaching experience on all levels of the pastime. He spent five years teaching high school youths before moving on to Santa Ana College where he led the Dons to their first championship in 48 years.

After two years at Seattle University, Boyd of his own volition found himself on the road selling shoes, basketball shoes that is.

It was on a sales trip to the high desert in 1966 that Boyd heard on his car radio that the coaching job was open at USC. He hurried to the radio station in Yucca Valley to ask the disc jockey on duty for details. The DJ read Boyd the full wire service story and Boyd left with a prediction.

"I'm going to get that job," he said, "and when I do, I promise you an exclusive on the story."

When Boyd was named coach on March 22, 1966, the assembled press of Los Angeles waited for an interview but Bob excused himself and placed a call to the high desert.

The story was written in Yucca Valley while the metropolitan press cooled its heels.

This is low profile stuff.

Bartow 2-0 But Only Slightly Relaxed

LOS ANGELES (AP) – With the first two games of the season already under his belt, UCLA basketball coach Gene Bartow said that he feels only a little more relaxed.

"After two games," he said, "we're just glad that we're 2-0."

The Bruins defeated San Diego State 74-64 on Friday night, and then held off DePaul for a 76-69 victory on Saturday night.

"Our play was not what I expected it would be," Bartow said. "We weren't agressive, we didn't play with the intensity I expected and our outside shooting was atrocious. We weren't just bad, we were real bad."

The Bruins play Jacksonville University on Wednesday night, and then meet the Brazilian National team on Saturday in a non-counting game before taking a week-long break for final exams.

"In practice, we're going to try to motivate our players to be more aggressive defensively and on the offensive board," Bartow told the regular Monday meeting with newsmen.

Senior forward Marques Johnson led UCLA with 46 points and 25 rebounds in the two games. According to Bartow, Johnson will be even more effective when the team's outside shooting improves.

Brad Holland and Roy Hamilton, the starting guards, made only 10 of 32 field goal attempts over the weekend.

"All the guards are better outside shooters than they showed," Bartow said. "If we can make teams get out of the zone and play us honestly, it'll make us much stronger because Marques is almost impossible to cover one on one.

"The ability of the team, game in and game out, to be consistent from the outside is very important for us."

Bartow said that he expects to see a lot of teams use a zone defense against the Bruins in an attempt to stop Johnson.

"If you're playing against us, you're probably going to play a zone and make us prove that we can shoot from the outside, he said. "But our guards can hurt you from the outside.

"I believe Marques will be a 60 per cent shotter so we've got to get the ball to him. If we open it up against those zones a little from the outside, we can go right into them."

Bengals Still Scrappy

CINCINNATI (AP) – After losing what many of their supporters had called the biggest game of the year, the Cincinnati Bengals insist they can retain their leadership in the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

"The best position to be in is to be backed up completely to the wall," said Bengals linebacker Ron Pritchard. "For anybody it is. Because a person even without very much courage with his back to the wall may do something extraordinary.

"We're a courageous team with our back up to the wall. There's no question we'll do something extraordinary."

That something will have to be beating the Oakland Raiders next Monday night. Sunday's 7-3 loss to the Steelers made that necessary.

Had the Bengals beaten the Steelers, they would have clinched the AFC Central Division title.

Now they must win their final two games to stay in the lead if the the Steelers, one game back, win their last two.

Several Bengals are quick to point out that they are still in the commanding position in the division.

"Everyone thinks this is the end of the world, but we're still a game ahead with two games to go," said quarterback Ken Anderson, who completed 10 of 26 passes for 145 yards.

Ron Carpenter had similar thoughts.

"We still control our own destiny, but now we're just going to have to bite the bullet for two games," Carpenter said.

Biting the bullet became necessary when the Bengals' emotional first-half play was tempered by an increasingly heavy snowstorm which made second-half heroics almost impossible.

Anderson admitted he couldn't remember ever playing under as severe snow conditions.

Cordova Joins Pisarkiewicz On North Roster

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) – Quarterbacks Steve Pisarkiewicz of Missouri and Mike Cordova of Stanford head a list of 15 players who have signed to play for the North squad in the annual Blue-Gray Football Classic Dec. 24, game chairman Tom Zenner said Saturday.

The 6-3, 210-pound Pisarkiewicz became Missouri's all-time leading passer this season, completing 236 passes out of 509 attempts for 3,413 yards and 25 touchdowns.

Among the targets of the North's passers in the Christmas Eve battle will be wide receivers Tony Hill, also of Stanford, and Keith Hartwig of Arizona and tight end Don Peterson of Boston College.

Colgate Coach Calls For Indictment Over Ruling

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) – Colgate football Coach Fred Dunlap said Monday officials at the Colgate-Rutgers game "should be indicted either for their incompetence in not knowing the rule or for their lack of courage in not overruling" a controversial call.

Dunlap reviewed films of a third-quarter play in the regionally televised weekend game which Rutgers won 17-9 and criticized field judge John Goldsmith's clipping call against sophomore linebacker Pat Horan, which cost Colgate possession and 53 yards.

On a fourth down on the Colgate 46, a high snap to the Rutgers punter resulted in a loose ball. Horan used his hands on the back of the Rutgers player to push him out of the way and recovered the ball on the Rutgers 16.

But Goldsmith's clipping call reversed the situation.

"In light of the incident, it would be difficult indeed to assess with any credibility 'unnecessary roughness' for" Horan's action, Dunlap said.

"The point is that an impossible call was made and an atrocious penalty assessed. The error was entirely that of the official," Dunlap said. "John Goldsmith, the field judge, made a call that does not even exist in a loose ball situation."

Dunlap said he based his views on article 43 of section one of rule nine of the 1976 "Official Football Rules and Interpretations."

Waltmire CC All-America

Duane Waltmire of Costa Mesa is the first Azusa Pacific cross country runner to gain NAIA All-America honors.

He accomplished the feat by finishing 10th in the national meet in Kenosha, Wis., after previously repeating as District III runner of the year.

UCLA 3rd Behind No. 1 Wolverines

The Michigan Wolverines gathered an impressive 38 of 48 first-place votes in the first Associated Press regular season college basketball poll Monday as they captured the top position by more than 100 points. s

Michigan, which beat Western Kentucky 94-70 in its season-opener, collected 896 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation. The Wolverines easily outdistanced runnerup Marquette, which has yet to play a game. The Warriors were first on three ballots and totaled 772 points.

UCLA won twice last week but barely managed to keep ahead of defending national champion Indiana for third place in the poll. The Bruins edged San Diego State and DePaul to move up a notch with 613 points, while Bobby Knight's Hoosiers, unbeaten the past two regular seasons, overwhelmed South Dakota 110-64 to also advance one place. They received two first-place votes and 603 points.

Kentucky was fifth with 503 points and one first-place selection. The Wildcats inaugurated their 23,000-seat arena with a 72-64 victory over Wisconsin.

Rounding out the Top 10 were No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas, 1-0 and up one spot after a 102-87 beating of Nevada Reno; Louisville, up two places to seventh and with two first-place votes, despite not playing yet this year, No. 8 Notre Dame, which surprised Maryland 80-79 in overtime and advanced from 14th while dropping the Terrapins from eighth to 16th; ninth-rated North Carolina, 1-1, and No. 10 San Francisco, 2-0.

The Big Four Tournament in Greensboro, N.C. produced some surprises and had a profound effect on the Top 20. Wake Forest upset North Carolina in the tourney finals and moved into the 14th spot on the list, while the Tar Heels dropped from third to ninth. North Carolina State, 15th last week, lost to both North Carolina and Duke, and fell out of the Top 20.

Also ranked this week are Arizona, No. 11 after a 92-91 overtime defeat of arch-rival Arizona State; Cincinnati, which earned one first-place vote and a 12th-place ranking without playing a game; No. 13 Alabama; No. 15 Tennessee; 17th-ranked Southern Illinois, which upset previsouly-ranked Missouri; No. 18 DePaul, 0-1 after a close loss to UCLA; idle 19th-rated Rutgers and No. 20 UNC-Charlotte.

Erickson Sidelined

PHOENIX (AP) – Forward Keith Erickson will be sidelined for three to six weeks following a knee injury suffered in basketball practice Monday, Phoenix Suns' officials said.

Doctors reported that Erickson suffered a partial tear of the medial collateral ligament in his right knee. The 6-foot-5, 11-year veteran of the National Basketball Association was put on crutches but surgery was not required.

Center Alvan Adams, who has missed eight of the Suns' 14 games this season, rejoined the team for a road swing to Indianapolis Tuesday and New York Wednesday. Adams suffered a sprained right ankle.

The Suns' management, meanwhile, reported that attendance at home games is averaging 2,000 per game more than last year. Eight teams in the NBA report reduced attendance, while 14 others report an increase, a spokesman said.

The Suns return home Friday to host Portland, and Sunday they entertain San Antonio.

Phoenix is 6-8 for the season.

Eight Trojans All-Pacific 8

By The Associated Press

Eight Southern California Trojans, including linemen Gary Jeter and Marvin Powell who each made the list a third consecutive season, were named Monday to the All-Pacific-8 football team.

Guard Donnie Hickman and All-American tailback Ricky Bell joined tackle Powell on the all-conference offensive first unit chosen by head coaches. The four defensive selections besides Jeter were linebackers David Lewis, Clay Matthews and Rod Martin and defensive back Dennis Thurman.

Three sophomores won All-Pac-8 honors, Washington State's record-breaking quarterback Jack Thompson, UCLA defensive lineman Manu Tuiasosopo and UCLA linebacker Jerry Robinson.

The UCLA Bruins, conference runners-up to USC, had seven first team players.

First Team Offense

Q-Horse Trainers Suspended In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) – The New York State Racing and Wagering Board took action Friday against a jockey, two owner-trainers and two trainers whose licenses were suspended at the Tioga Park quarterhorse track in Nichols, N.Y. last August and September.

The board upheld the recommendation of its assistant counsel, Cyril Rooks Jr., who conducted hearings into the matter after investigators had found prohibited implements including syringes and battery prods in the posession of the five men.

Jockey Wendell Zipperer had his riding license revoked and was fined $500. Donald E. Anderson and Paul L. Hitchcock, the owner-trainers, both had their license suspensions continued through Dec. 31. Anderson was fined $500 and Hitchcock $250. Trainers Peter W. Neu and Dr. Sam Fargnoli both were suspended for the balance of the year and fined $250.

Bell Heads West Coast All-Stars

By DAN BERGER
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Rickey Bell, the bruising running back from Rose Bowl bound Southern California, heads a list of six first-team repeaters to the 1976 Associated Press All-West Coast football team announced today.

The 6-foot-2, 220-pound Bell, despite injuries which forced him to miss part of the season, rushed for 1,417 yards to bring his three-year total to 3,673.

His running mate in the All-Coast backfield is UCLA sophomore Theotis Brown, the hard-running 215-pounder who helped UCLA to a 9-1-1 record in the regular season and a berth in the Dec. 20 Liberty Bowl.

And the All-Coast quarterback, in one of the closest votings ever, was Jeff Dankworth, the quick-reacting pilot of UCLA's complex Veer-T attack. Dankworth, a senior, nosed out Washington State's pass-minded Jack Thompson, a junior who was rated only No. 2 on his own team when the season started.

Others getting votes for the quarterback spot were Guy Benjamin of Stanford and Joe Roth of California. Roth was the second-team All-Coast quarterback last year, but was injured part of 1976.

Besides Bell, others making it back to the first team from the 1975 squad included three Stanford players – wide receiver Tony Hill, offensive guard Alex Karakozoff and defensive end Duncan McColl; and two more Trojans, offensive tackle Marvin Powell and defensive tackle Gary Jeter.

Seven Trojans were named to the first team, either offense or defense.

Injuries hurt some first-team candidates' chances. Wendell Tyler, UCLA's all-time leading rusher, was named to the second team last year and a late-season injury prevented him from challenging teammate Brown for the first-team this year. Roth and Cal wide receiver Wesley Walker both were bumped from first-team consideration because of injuries.

One of the strongest men in football, Long Beach State noseguard Kise Fiatoa, anchors a mighty defense which is one of the finest ever selected as an all-coast squad.

Maybe that's because it contains 12 men.

So balanced was the voting, that five down linemen were selected – Fiatoa, Wilson Faumuina of San Jose State, Jeter, Charles Jackson of Washington and McColl.

And a sixth man, UCLA sophomore Manu Tuiasosopo, was barely bumped to the second team.

The linebackers were USC's top twosome of David Lewis and Rod Martin, Travis Hitt of San Diego State and sophomore Jerry Robinson of UCLA.

And the defensive backs were Dennis Thurman of USC, Oscar Edwards of UCLA, Jay Locey of Oregon State and Gerald Small of San Jose State.

Cal's Ted Albrecht stepped up from a second-team offensive line spot to first team this year. Other 1975 second-teamers to move up to the first team were Kahn, Lewis, Faumuina and Edwards.

All in all, it was one of the closest votes ever seen for an All-Coast team.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Some notable quotes from this week's National Football League games:

"We still control our own destiny. Now we're just going to have to bite the bullet for the next two games." – Cincinnati defensive tackle Ron Carpenter, after the Bengals lost 7-3 to Pittsburgh and had their divisional lead shaved to one game with two to play.

"He's one hellacious football player." – Detroit Coach Tommy Hudspeth on Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, who gained a record 273 yards rushing in a losing effort as the Lions beat the Bills 27-14.

- - -

"I don't know if I could go through another game like this one. There is no better team than St. Louis in that last-minute situation." – Dallas Coach Tom Landry, after his Cowboys fought off a late threat at their goal line and beat the Cardinals 19-14.

"We considered this a playoff game. I like what I see on this team. We're playing our best football at the proper time." – Washington Coach George Allen, whose Redskins kept alive their playoff hopes, beating Philadelphia 24-0.

"It was a big win, but I'm afraid it cost us some people." – Coach John McVay, after the New York Giants beat Seattle 28-16 but lost running back Larry Csonka and guard Tom Mullen with knee injuries in the process.

- - -

"It all boils down to the fact that I blew it." – Miami quarterback Bob Griese, who called for a last-play run at Cleveland's goal line instead of a pass, a play which failed to work, allowed time to run out and permitted the Browns to hold onto a 17-13 victory over the Dolphins.

"We made them look good today." – Denver quarterback Steve Ramsey, on the New England Patriots' 38-14 thumping of the Broncos.

"He's in a class by himself. He will continue to learn mentally but physically there's nobody better in the game." – New York quarterback Joe Namath on Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones, who passed for three touchdowns in the Colts' 33-16 romp over the Jets.

"It is a matter of pride to play good defense when you are forced to." – Houston linebacker Robert Brazile, who batted down a fourth-down pass with 1:18 to play, preserving the Oilers' 20-14 victory over Atlanta, their first triumph in seven games.

"We were able to move the ball on the ground on them. That's what we wanted to do. Besides, it made the game go shorter." – Chicago guard Noah Jackson, after the Bears beat Green Bay 16-10 in six-degree weather with a wind that made it feel like 14 below zero.

"I like to go back to what O.J. Simpson said: 'When you're 26 years of age, that's when your best time for running is in the pros.' I'm 26 now." – Lawrence McCutcheon of Los Angeles, who surpassed 1,000 yards for the season during the Rams' 33-14 victory over New Orleans.

"When you need something and Ed is there, he gets it." – Kansas City Coach Paul Wiggin after Ed Podolak, sidelined for five weeks with a groin injury, scored two touchdowns against San Diego, including the winner with five minutes to play, giving the Chiefs a 23-20 victory.

"Things went just as we expected." – Tampa Bay Coach John McKay after the winless Bucs were slaughtered 49-16 by Oakland, the league's winningest club.

Arizona, ASU Move To Pac-8 Green Lighted

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) – The University of Arizona and Arizona State University, pillars of the Western Athletic Conference, can begin negotiations on a move to the Pacific-8 Conference.

The Arizona Board of Regents voted 7-2 Saturday to allow the schools to accept a PAC-8 invitation under conditions satisfactory to both the schools and the regents.

The vote paves the way for the PAC-8 presidents to consider on Dec. 13 whether to invite the Arizona schools. A unanimous vote would be needed.

Supporters of the move say recruiting and gate receipts would be enhanced by the prestige of the PAC-8, but opponents charge the Arizona schools would be second-rate in the conference for several years.

Tar Heel Back Tabbed By ACC

RALEIGH, N.C.(AP) North Carolina tailback Mike Voight, who became the fifth leading career rusher in NCAA history, has been named the Atlantic Coast Conference's outstanding player for the second straight season.

Voight closed the regular season Nov. 20 with a spectacular performance in the 39-38 victory over Duke. He ran for 261 yards from scrimmage and scored four touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

He received 54 of the 114 ballots cast by members of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. Mark Manges, Maryland quarterback, was second with 29. Bill Armstrong, Wake Forest free safety, was third with 26.

Others receiving votes were Joe Campbell, Maryland tackle; Billy Bryan, Duke center; Ted Brown, N.C. State running back; James McDougald, Wake Forest running back, and Mike Dunn, Duke quarterback.

Voight will lead the Tar Heels, who are 9-2, against Kentucky in the Peach Bowl Dec. 31 in Atlanta.

He gained 1,407 yards this season on 315 carries, giving him a career total of 3,971. The only runners head of him in the career rushing total are Tony Dorsett, Archie Griffin, Ed Marinaro and Joe Washington.

Chapman Off And Running

Two home romps have given Chapman College a good start into a new basketball season, but this week the going should get rougher.

The Panthers will be on the road to meet Westmont tonight at Santa Barbara and Grand Canyon Thursday in Arizona before hosting Northridge State Saturday.

"We need more concentration on defense," says coach Rich Rider about the second week of action. "We were pleased with the play against LaVerne despite opening game jitters. We showed good team speed. The offense has been fine, but the defense was sloppy Saturday. We've scored in spurts and that probably has hurt the defense."

Shooting .556 from the field and .623 on fouls, Chapman has average 93 points a game while yielding 67.

Reg Newson (.682) leads five players scoring in double figures with a 16 average. Tim Davis (.591) is at 15, Dave Maze 14.5, Marv Thurman and John Johnson 11 each. Right behind are Henry Rucker (9) and Ty Bauler (8). Johnson has 12 assists while Davis is first rebounding at 18 to Maze's 15 and 14 for Guy Kinsley.

"It gets tougher this week," acknowledges Rider. "Westmont lost twice by four to Occidental and two to Point Loma, but this will be their first home game. We've used nine and 10 guys successfully so far. I would have to single out Newson for his overall play."

Westmont has three starters back from a team that dropped 13 of 24 games last year.

Two big Specials from AMC, the small car specialist.

Unlike the other manufacturers, who build cars of all sizes, AMC is exclusively a small car producer. Therefore, we have a lot at stake on the success of small cars.

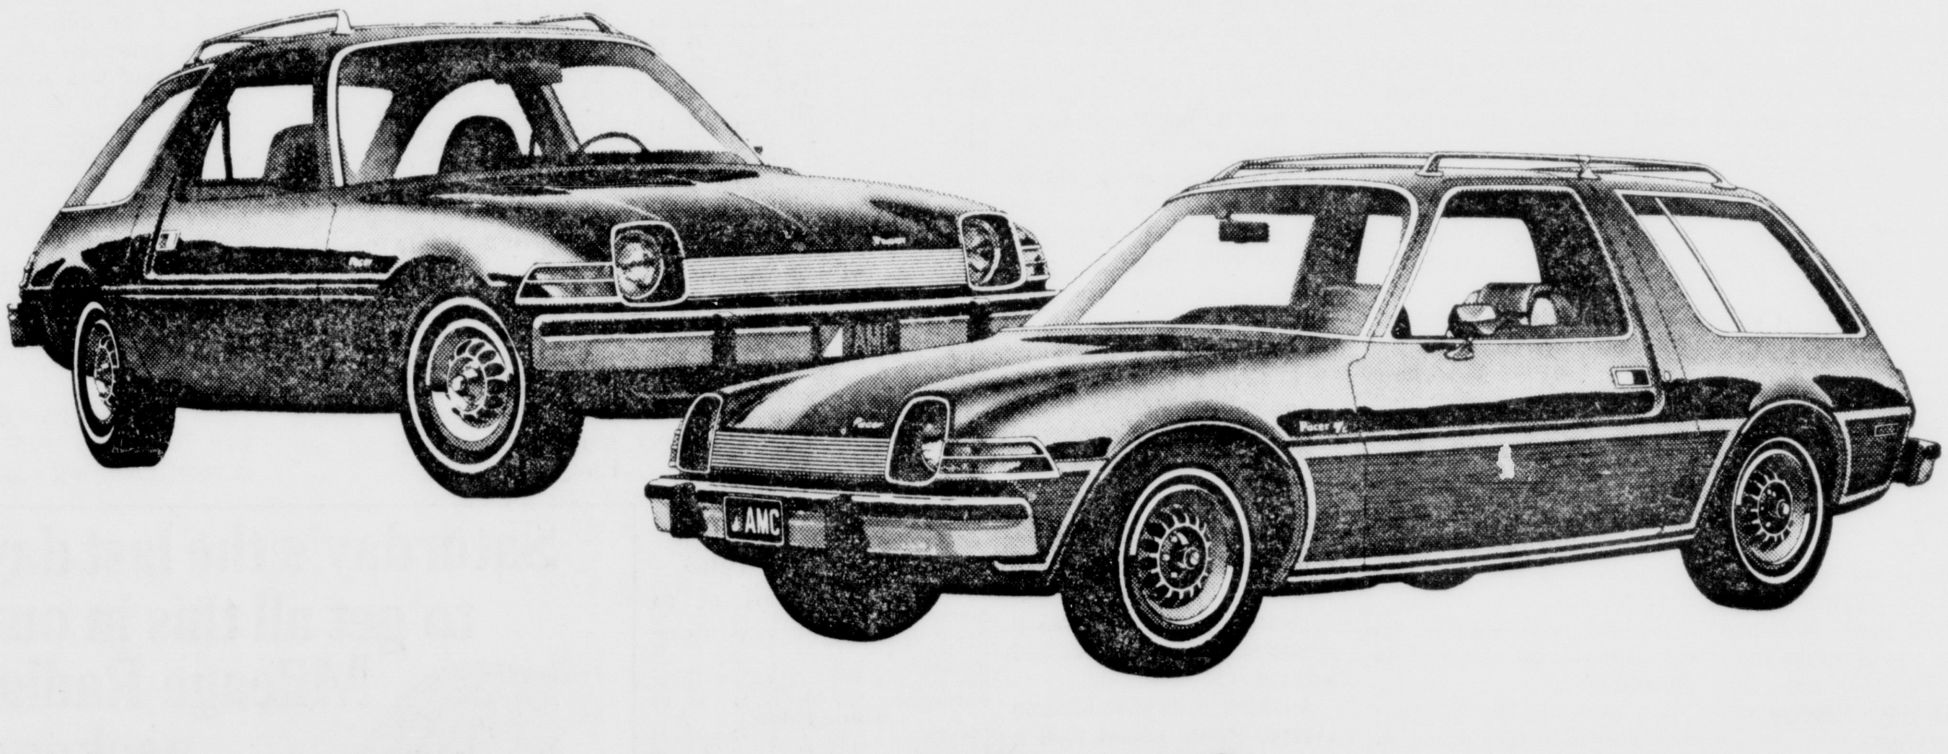
Recently, the small car market has diminished substantially. Over the last five years, increased costs have forced prices up more than $1,000. As a result, American car buyers have pretty much stayed away, not only from AMC small cars, but from all small cars.

At American Motors, we're doing something about it. By attacking the problem in the most direct way we know how. By initiating pricing programs designed to save you a lot of money.

Our goal is to increase our sales volume by encouraging you, the car buyer, to return to the small car market. If we can get you to consider a small car, we're confident that the small car you buy will be an AMC.

1) $253 cash rebate on every new AMC Pacer and Pacer Wagon.

Right now, you get a $253 cash rebate when you buy any new 1976 or 1977 AMC Pacer. Make your best deal with your AMC Dealer and American Motors will send you a $253 cash rebate. Or, if you like, you can apply the $253 to your down payment. This cash rebate offer is good on all AMC Pacers and Pacer Wagons delivered from stock by January 10 or ordered by December 10. Excluding military and fleet sales.



2) $257 price reduction on every new 1977 AMC Gremlin.*

The list price of all 1977 AMC Gremlins has been reduced by $257. This reduction applies to all Gremlins now in dealer stock, and to all orders placed on or after November 5.

AMC Gremlin now only $3392.*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Gremlin is now just $3392 including California emission controls $70, front bumper guards $16, and destination charges $212 Los Angeles. White walls $42, wheel covers $34, other options, state and local taxes not included.

With these two specials, plus AMC's exclusive BUYER PROTECTION PLAN II...

Best bet — Cachuma Chief (5)
Best chance bet — Maryland Bruiser (4)

By FERMO CAMBIANICA

Harness driver Eddie Dunnigan and his family moved from New York to Orange County last summer, and when they moved into their new home at Westminster a month ago, the neighbors welcomed them with a cake and refreshments.

"You don't see those kind of neighbors much anymore," stated Jim Dunnigan, Eddie's father. The children – John, 10; Joseph, 9; and the twins, Mark and Mary, 7 – really enjoy school and their new friends in Westminster.

The Dunnigans moved to Orange County last summer in time for the children to enroll in school for the fall semester. They purchased the home formerly owned by harness driver Jack Bailey, who is missing his first Western Harness meeting at Hollywood Park in more than 15 years to campaign in the midwest.

Eddie, who celebrated his 38th birthday, today, has been involved with harness racing all of his life. His grandfather, a New York state senator, introduced the bill that legalized pari-mutuel harness racing in New York.

Familiar Figure

Jim, of course, is familiar to Orange County racing fans, being one of the principal stockholders who brought harness racing to Los Alamitos five years ago. Currently chairman of the board with the Los Alamitos harness group, Jim ran Buffalo Raceway, N.Y. for many years.

Eddie was second trainer to famous drivers John Chapman and Bill Haughton before opening his own public stable in 1973. Haughton still sends some of his horses to Dunnigan when they are campaigning at different tracks.

The 1973 season was Dunnigan's best as he visited the winners' circle 127 times. He currently is enjoying a good Western Harness meeting, winning at a clip of one out of every six starts and having in-the-money percentage of about 55.

Although he is now living at Westminster, Dunnigan may not campaign at Los Alamitos next spring. It all has to do with the status of his New Zealand pacer, Skedaddle N., of which he is part owner.

Skedaddle N. is one of the nation's outstanding pacers at the moment, having just finished fifth in the $113,750 American Pacing Classic at Hollywood Park last Friday night.

During the time Los Alamitos is holding its meet, Skedaddle N. could be racing for $25,000 and larger purses in the midwest, and Dunnigan has to go where the horse can win the most money.

Steelers Thawing Out – And Hoping

PITTSBURGH (AP) – Tackle Joe Greene eased into a warm whirlpool Monday, thawing out after Pittsburgh's National Football League victory over Cincinnati and wondering if his Steelers will get the help they need to make the playoffs.

"Normally, I only care about us, but I've done a lot of pulling for other teams lately," mused Greene, whose team edged the Bengals 7-3 Sunday in a snowstorm in Cincinnati.

The Steelers' seventh victory in a row raised their record to 8-4 after a 1-4 start.

Yet they still trail first-place Cincinnati by one game in the AFC Central Division with just two to play.

And to make the playoffs, the two-time Super Bowl champs will have to beat Tampa Bay and Houston and hope the Bengals lose to either the Oakland Raiders or the New York Jets.

"It was a big letdown a couple of weeks ago when Los Angeles didn't beat Cincinnati. I thought they were the team that would," said Greene.

"Then a couple of other teams that we didn't think had the opportunity to beat them came close.

"And, well, after all that, I'm right back where I started from. If we win, we win; if we don't, the fault is ours. We got ourselves into this predicament."

Snow covered the field during the second-half of Sunday's game, and the Steelers scored the only touchdown in the third quarter on a four-yard run, slide and dive by Franco Harris.

"The weather was a factor, but the thing that made me happy was the spirit with which our team played this game," Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said Monday.

"Had it been better field conditions, I think the thing would have been even more in our favor."

Although Tampa Bay brings an 0-12 record into next Sunday's game here, Noll insisted he was not taking the Buccaneers lightly.

"We have to prepare for this game as hard as we did the last one, because if we lose, whatever happens after that won't matter."

The main happening after the Steelers' encounter with Tampa Bay will be the Monday night clash between the Bengals and the Oakland Raiders.

Oakland, with an 11-1 record, already has clinched its division title.

It's possible the Raiders may need a victory over Cincinnati to be assured the home field advantage in the playoffs.

However, it's also possible the Raiders may have the home field already wrapped up before the Cincinnati game.

That has given rise to speculation about just how much the Raiders will be motivated to beat the Bengals and put the Steelers, one of the hottest team's in the NFL, into the playoffs.

"I don't think the Raiders would intentionally throw a ballgame," said Joe Greene.

"But if they have their division and the home field sewed up, it could be hard to get motivated.

"I remember how we felt last year when we had it sewed up and went out to Los Angeles and lost.

"We went out there to win the game, but the intensity, the edge we needed just wasn't there. That could happen to Oakland. We'll just have to wait and see."

CARRY BACK CARRIES ON

OCALA, Fla. (AP) – Carry Back, the colt from the other side of the tracks and winner of the 1961 Kentucky Derby, is doing well in stud here at Dorchester Farm. At last count, the Jack and Kay Price-owned colt had sired the winners of more than $3,350,000.

Peter Lobell Syndicated

Peter Lobell, a five-year-old son of Adios Vic owned by Ralph Stokes and Al Mukdski of Marina del Rey, is being syndicated for $250,000 and will stand in California.

A winner of 26 of 92 lifetime starts, Peter Lobell took a mark of 2:00 4/5 at two, lowered it to 1:57 4/5 at three, and was timed in 1:56 4/5 at four.

This past season, prior to shipping to Hollywood Park, Peter Lobell took a new lifetime mark of 1:56 in winning an invitational affair during the Sacramento meeting.

Stokes and Mukdski will retain two shares apiece and have announced a list of 15 shareholders who already have joined the syndicate. Only six of the 21 shares at $10,000 each remained open at the time of the announcement.

Peter Lobell made the last start of his career in last week's $113,750 American Pacing Classic. He will be unwound for a couple of weeks and then sent to Neil Kelly's Ranch at Hollister.

METS GO GOLFING

NEW YORK (AP) – The New York Mets probably have more golfers than any major league team. Even in the late fall and winter a number of Mets are booked for tournaments in warmer climes, one being the El Conquistador baseball event in Puerto Rico.

Willie Mays, Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool, Joe Pignatano, Jon Matlack, Tom Seaver and Joe Torre do their golfing in the off season. Former third base coach Ed Yost also likes to slug the little ball around.

Six Definite For Alamitos Opener

Six championship caliber horses are listed as definite starters for the Horsemen's Quarter Horse Racing Assn. $20,000 Inaugural Stakes Saturday afternoon at Los Alamitos.

Trainers polled in the stable area today reported that they expected an outstanding race with such horses as Vim and Vigor, Little Blue Sheep, He Flys, Heza Charger, Delilah Go and Native Creek all given positive nods for the opening event of the winter season.

She's Precious, horse of the meeting last summer, and Smooth Me, winner of last spring's Bay Meadows Championship, are rated as possible starters for the 350-yard dash that kicks off the fifth annual meeting at the Orange County track. She's Precious worked out in 18.2 Monday.

Most of these will be using the Ingaugural as a tuneup for the Sunday, Dec. 19, running of the $75,000 Champion of Champions.

Vim and Vigor and Little Blue Sheep were among the fastest speed horses in the nation when they burned up the Katella Ave. track last summer, and both were reported sound and ready.

A new star to the quarter horse ranks, I'm Gorgeous, will make her 1976 Southland debut this winter at Los Alamitos.

The Grafton Moore three-year-old is expected to vie for top honors during the winter season after a spectacular 1976 campaign. She has run extensively in the southwest during the past year and earned a berth in the $75,000 Champion of Champions invitational off a winning performance in the rich $281,000 Rainbow Derby last summer.

Six inches of snow fell on the El Paso, Tex. area over the weekend, forcing the cancellation of Sunday's entire racing program at Sunland Park and thereby postponing the running of the Sunland Derby.

Winner of the race was to receive the 10th and final invitation to the Dec. 19 renewal of the $75,000 champion of champions. The race has been rescheduled for Sunday and again figures to draw a field that will include Mr. Breakthru, Hyjonijet, Reller's Image and Windy Ryon.

Lomita Pace At Hollypark

Western Harness swings into its second to last final week of racing tonight as a wide open Lomita Pace is carded as the feature race.

Tavers Sam, a winner of his next to last outing, figures as one of many contenders in the one-mile pace with Gerald Longo. After winning in 1:59 2/5 Taverns Sam came back to finish second in his most recent effort to register his sixth win of 1976.

Dennis Crane will handle the consistent Busy Time Babe which had her streak of three consecutive wins snapped last outing when she finished third behind Nevele's Rose and Taverns Sam.

Following tonight's nine-race program, only 10 more race dates remain on the Hollywood Park calendar. Five exactas are being offered through the remainder of the meeting.

WINNING 25 SEASONS

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) – Arthur (Bud) Metheny, a New York Yankee outfielder in the mid 40s, has had 25 winning seasons as the baseball coach at Old Dominion University. Metheny's career record shows 381 victories, 251 setbacks and six ties.

Csonka's N.Y. Career: Bright Lights To Agony

NEW YORK (AP) – Larry Csonka's first year in New York began in the glare of strobe lights with a tangle of writers and broadcasters at a jam-packed news conference– just the kind of media event you'd expect for the signing of a multi-million dollar free agent football player.

It ended in the gloom of Giants Stadium Sunday, with his leg planted firmly on the artificial surface and about a thousand pounds of football players straining the ligaments in his left knee to their breaking point.

"I don't think it would have happened on grass," said Csonka, after being injured in New York's 28-16 victory over Seattle. "I could feel three or four of 'em on top of me. If I could just have slid my foot out a little, just an inch or two. But I couldn't."

Artificial surfaces, the manufacturers like to point out, supply firm footing that doesn't give way. So, as the players piled up, Csonka's knee gave way instead.

"I watched it happen," he said. "I could see it coming."

What the big fullback never could have anticipated was the brutal season he and the Giants have been through.

Csonka had left the National Football League for a lucrative million dollar deal with the World Football League. But it was a dismal, short-lived stay in the doomed WFL and now he was a free agent, anxious to return to the NFL.

The bids were out and Csonka's decision came swiftly. The Giants, losers on the field for the last decade, had won the auction and some people thought the addition of the big, power runner would turn New York into an instant contender in the National Football Conference.

It didn't work out quite that way.

Csonka said he came to New York because he genuinely believed the Giants had a chance to be a winning team under his old coach from Miami, Bill Arnsparger. But that went up in smoke early as the team lost its first seven games and Arnsparger, the man whose presence in New York had lured Csonka to the Giants, was fired.

It was the 10th week of the season before the Giants won a game and the blame for most of the defeats rested with a punchless offense, an offense that was supposed to be juiced up by the arrival of Csonka. There was one stretch of 20 consecutive quarters in which the New York attack was unable to generate a single touchdown.

Csonka still wore his old number 39 but it wasn't quite the same as his glory years with the Miami Dolphins. There were 5,900 rushing yards in seven seasons with the Dolphins and three straight 1,000-yard years.

The Short Circuit

Escalera, Everett In Welter Title Go

PHILADELPHIA (AP) – Tyrone Everett, a hometown fighter who mixes caution with confidence, takes a shot at a share of the world junior lightweight championship tonight when he meets Alfredo Escalera, who is confident but not known for caution.

The scheduled 15-rounder will be the unbeaten Everett's 19th appearance in the Spectrum. But the champion from Puerto Rico is used to going to his challengers. Of his seven previous title fights, five have been away from home.

The left-handed Everett has won all his 34 fights as a pro, and has demonstrated power with 18 knockouts. He also has demonstrated caution in the ring, for which he has been criticized.

"When I was taught to fight I was taught defense," he said. "I'm the number one challenger by being cautious...I can't afford a mistake."

But caution to Everett is part of a style, not a frame of mind. He is talking about challenging lightweight champion Roberto Duran if he beats Escalera.

"All I got to say about Escalera is if he can take what I got for him, he deserves to be champion," said the 23-year-old challenger.

The 24-year-old champion, who is an attacker in the ring, predicts he will win inside 10 rounds, adding "maybe I will lose some day, but not now."

Escalera's handlers point out that Benjamin Ortiz, a Puerto Rican featherweight and an Escalera sparring partner, knocked Everett down before losing a 10-round decision last year.

Escalera, who has a 35-7-2 record, won the WBC title by knocking out Kuniaki Shibata of Japan in five rounds in Tokyo July 5, 1975. The closest he has come to losing the title was in his first defense when he fought a draw with Leonel Hernandez of Venezuela in Caracas. In his last defense two months ago, Escalera stopped Ray Lunny III of Redwood City, Calif., after 12 rounds.

SEATTLE (AP) – The Seattle Mariners announced Monday a two-year player development program with Bellingham in the Northwest League.

Lou Gorman, director of operations for the American League expansion baseball team, said Bellingham would be the Mariners' only full minor league affiliation next season.

Gorman said the team will be called the Bellingham Mariners and will play at 2,700-seat Civic Field. Players for the Class A club will be rookies the parent team will acquire in free agent drafts in January and June.

Bellingham has been affiliated with the Los Angeles Dodgers the past four seasons.

ATLANTA (AP) – The Atlanta Falcons had a little more bad news Monday, announcing that All-Pro defensive end Claude Humphrey may miss this week's National Football League game with Los Angeles because of a groin injury suffered in Sunday's 20-14 loss to Houston.

Humphrey was listed as a doubtful starter for Saturday's game against the Rams in Los Angeles.

WACO, Tex. (AP) – Six Baylor seniors have accepted invitations to play in post-season all-star football games, it was announced Monday.

Defensive back Gary Green of San Antonio and offensive tackle Gary Gregory of Kermit will both play the East-West Shrine Classic at San Francisco.

Green will also play in the Senior Bowl at Montgomery, Ala. Gregory will join linebacker Tim Black in the Blue-Gray Classic at Mobile, Ala.

Offensive guard and co-captain Rell Tipton will play in the All-American Bowl game at Tampa, Fla. Tight end Davi Steven and safety Mike Nelms will appear in the North-South Shrine Classic.

More Red Tape Pollution

The politicians and bureaucrats are at it again! This time they are going to force each business and industrial establishment covered by air pollution regulations to pay an annual permit fee.

Recent legislation requires that the Southern California Air Pollution District (SCAPD) to issue permits that are valid for only one year. Prior to this legislation business concerns in Orange and Los Angeles counties only had to obtain a permit one time and it was good for the period that ownership remained unchanged.

The new legislation changes this, stating that all permits are now only good for one year.

SCAPD has scheduled a meeting in Pomona this Friday for a public hearing on "Rule 301." This rule establishes the permit fee for each business and type of equipment.

There are some types of business and equipment excluded from this process. But the district estimates that this annual permit fee will raise about $4.2 million in new taxes from affected concerns.

Legislation mandating this annual permit are AB 250 and AB 4461, said Ralph George of the SCAPD.

The SCAPD covers the four counties of Orange, Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino.

New Procedure

Riverside and San Bernardino counties have had the annual permit situation for a period of time. But Los Angeles and Orange have not.

Cost of this new legislation to business has not been calculated. The $4.2 million is only one part of the cost. It does not include the cost to the business which must fill out the necessary forms and of the employes time to complete the detail work involved. This would mean millions of dollars more than the permit fee.

The business climate in California has been under fire for the past few years. California was ranked the 47th worst state in the mainland 48 for business climate. New York was ranked 48th.

If our politicians and bureaucrats keep adding to the business burden, California will soon replace New York and the number of unemployed will continue to increase.

If you fight against the imposting of restrictions and permits that "supposedly" help to alleviate air pollution – you are in the wrong.

Nature Is Polluter

The major polluter of the earth's atmosphere is nature. Man has added to it. But the problems or air pollution cannot be taken by themselves. Other problems must be considered.

I can remember 20 years ago walking down a downtown street in Los Angeles with tears streaming down my face from pollution.

Some studies show that air pollution in the South Coast Air Basin has been improving.

This has taken place during a time when the population in the basin has been growing.

The number of licenses and permits from governmental authorities is growing. So is the cost burden. This all tends to eliminate the small business operator. He cannot afford the time and the dollars to start up a new enterprise.

This in turn deprives our economy of new sources of employment.

This new permit situation along with anti-business legislators and the no-growth advocates – we are heading for more economic trouble.

When you hear people cry about unemployment problems, remember the number of businesses that never got off the planning boards because of governmental red tape – and the number of businesses that have closed down because the owners couldn't afford to keep the doors open in the face of the increasing tax load and bureaucratic red tape.

Int. Harvester Reports Record

CHICAGO (AP) – International Harvester reported Monday a record fiscal 1976 income from continuing operations of $174 million, a 50 per cent increase over last year.

Sales were a record $5.488 billion, up 4.6 per cent over last year, the farm and heavy equipment manufacturer reported.

Brooks McCormick, president and chief executive officer, said the strong demand for agricultural equipment, especially in this country, a profit turnaround in truck operations and improvement in finance sales operations contributed to the 1976 results.

"We are especially pleased with the increase in the return on sales, 3.2 per cent for 1976 against 2.2 per cent last year," he said. "At year end, the parent company was totally free of short-term borrowings and total company debt had been reduced by $218 million from Oct. 31, 1975."

Profits in 1976, after dividends on preferred stock, were $6.02 per common share compared with $2.77 in 1975, the company reported.

Memorex Buys Back HQ Location

SANTA CLARA (BW) – Memorex Corp. reported it is buying back the 55 acres of land on which its headquarters complex is located at the intersection of San Tomas and Central Expressways.

In 1972 the company participated in a "sale-and lease-back" transaction in which the property was sold and the buildings, which are not being re-purchased, were then leased back under a long-term occupancy agreement.

"We are delighted our renewed financial strength enables us to make a variety of investments in the future," said Robert C. Wilson, Memorex chairman and president.

New Mortgage Record Set By Western S&Ls

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — Savings & Loan associations in Arizona, California and Nevada closed a record $1.65 billion in mortgage loans during October, reflecting contra-seasonal strength in both construction and purchase lending, the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco (FHLB) reported.

The lending volume was virtually the same as for September but exceeded the previous high for October — set in 1975 — by 38 per cent.

New net savings at 11th FHLB District S&Ls also broke records, according to the FHLB. Savings inflows during October totaled $797 million, outpacing September volume by more than $300 million and marking the third "reinvestment" period of 1976 during which savings inflows exceeded three-quarters of a billion dollars.

The previous October savings inflow record — $516 million — was set in 1975.

On a year-to-date basis net new savings at district S&Ls through October exceeded the record inflows for all of 1975 by $748 million (12 per cent) and mortgage lending volume shattered the full-year record of 1975 by $4 billion (35 per cent).

Gen. Automation Gets Big Order

General Automation Inc., Anaheim, announced it has received an order valued at more than $2 million from Armour-Dial Inc. for computer automation of its meat-canning facility in Fort Madison, Iowa and its Dial Soap plant in Aurora, Ill.

Applications involve monitoring of smokehouse, meat canning, and soap production using Ga topics software; receiving department data entry; maintenance scheduling; inventory control; stacker crane controls, and management information report generation.

Harrah's To Offer

NEW YORK – (BW) – Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, Inc., as manager of the underwriting group, Tuesday announced the public offering of Harrah's $50 million 9-1/2 per cent First Mortgage Bonds, Series A, due Nov. 1, 1996, at 100 per cent.

Net proceeds to the company from the sale of the bonds will be used by the company to retire about $20 million of existing secured intermediate term bank debt and to help finance the company's continuing expansion program, including Harrah's World.

BA Card Signs Agreement With Master Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – The Bank of America announced Monday that its application for membership in the Interbank Card Association has been approved.

The approval means Bank of America will be able to sign merchants and cardholders into the Master Charge program as well as its BankAmericard program, senior vice-president Kenneth V. Larkin said.

Larkin said the approval was granted at a meeting of the Interbank board of directors in Phoenix on Nov. 18.

"Until recently, merchants accepting both cards had to deal with two banks — one to process drafts through the BankAmericard system, and another to process drafts through the Master Charge system," Larkin said.

"Now, merchants can save time and simplify their overall procedures by dealing with one bank instead of two."

Cadillac Sales Set New Record

DETROIT – Cadillac dealers continued their record-breaking sales pace as the mid-November 11,466 domestic deliveries reported are the best of any November sales period ever, according to F. T. "Ted" Hopkins, general sales manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division.

"The 11,466 sales exceed the 11,025 record set in the first 10 days of this month and result in 20-day sales of 22,491 – the best Nov. 1-20 period in the division's history," Mr. Hopkins said. "The former Nov. 1-20 record of 19,435 was set in 1973 and the new record is over 15 per cent greater. "The Nov. 11-20 deliveries of 11,466 compared to the 10,262 deliveries of the same period a year ago, are an 11.7 per cent increase," Hopkins added.

He summarized saying, "For the 1976 calendar year – Jan. 1-Nov. 20 – Cadillac sales of 267,874 are 14.6 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Plus Products Doubles Income

Plus Products, Irvine, reported net sales for the three months ended Sept. 30 of $3,433,000 compared to $2,756,000 for the like period of 1976.

Net income for the three months totaled $172,000, or 12 cents a share, compared $88,000, or six cents a share, for the three-month period of 1975.

Auto Firms Set Dec. Production At 9-Year High

DETROIT (AP) – The nation's automakers, hoping to dispel fears of a faltering new-car market, are scheduling their strongest December auto output in nine years, according to an industry trade weekly.

Ward's Automotive Reports estimated planned domestic production for the month at 701,000 units, the highest since 1968 and a 23 per cent increase over the 569,000 assembled in December 1975.

Ward's said industry giant General Motors Corp. planned to build 405,000 cars next month, up from 342,000 a year ago. Ford Motor Co. has scheduled 185,000 new-car assemblies, up from 136,000, and Chrysler Corp. planned to build 94,000, compared with 72,000.

However, small-car specialist American Motors, which remains mired in a sales slump, planned to build only 17,000 autos in December, down from 21,000 in 1975.

The industry's production schedules could be trimmed – as occurred this month – if new-car sales remain flat, Ward's noted.

Prior to a national strike against Ford Motor Co., the four major U.S. car makers had planned to build a total of 850,000 cars for November. However, the Ford walkout, combined with a softer than anticipated market lowered actual output for the month to about 770,000 units, according to Ward's.

GM's Allison Unit To Expand

DETROIT (AP) – General Motors' Detroit Diesel Allison Division said Monday it plans to add 800,000 square feet to its suburban Romulus complex in two expansion projects that will create 300 new jobs.

James E. Knott, division general manager, said one project calls for a 574,000-square-foot addition to the parts distribution center. The other is a 230,000-square-foot addition to the engineering test facility.

Work on the projects will begin next spring, with the parts center to be completed by the end of 1978 and the engineering facility by mid-1979.

Diesel Allison is a major supplier of diesel engines and transmissions for trucks and a variety of other transportation and industrial uses.

New Heath Offer

SEATTLE (BW) – Heath Tecna Corp. has extended to Dec. 6 its offer to purchase its common stock from all holders of 10 or fewer shares at $16.50 per share net to the seller.

The company said this will be a final extension. The offering price is $2 per share above the average of the bid and asked prices for Nov. 8.

Construction Rises Sharply Above October 1975 Figure

NEW YORK (AP) – Construction companies recorded a surge of new orders for future work during October, McGraw-Hill Information Systems Co. said Monday.

The sharp increase, following a lull of several months, was due mostly to plans for building new electric power plants and multi-family dwellings, said the company's F.W. Dodge Division, which regularly surveys the construction industry.

The month's total construction contract value was $10.06 billion, a 31 per cent increase from October last year.

"October's sharp housing and utilities gain will amount to a split benefit for the sagging economy in the months ahead," said George Christie, Dodge's chief economist.

"The portion of October's strong total of new construction that reflects the recent improvement in housing starts will bring an immediate payoff in jobs and building material sales. However, electric utility projects typically stretch out over many years and offer little in the way of immediate stimulation to the economy."

The value of contracts signed for non-building construction jumped 71 per cent to $3.27 billion in October, with five new electric generating facilities started in North Central and South Central states, according to the survey.

These plants, all coal-fired, ranged in cost from $150 million to $600 million.

Contracts for residential building rose 28 per cent to 4.064 billion, including a 72 per cent increase in multi-family building due in large part to the acceleration of Department of Housing and Urban Development programs.

The non-residential building category of contracts totaled $2.73 billion in October, a 6 per cent gain over last year, according to the Dodge survey. Increases were recorded for stores, offices and hospitals, while decreases were recorded for schools, public buildings and recreational facilities.

Contracting for manufacturing plants was about even with the year-ago level.

USS, Republic Raise Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) – U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, followed the lead of other major producers and raised prices Monday on steel used in consumer goods.

The increase averages about 6 per cent on sheet and strip products, and it matches those announced by other steel companies, including second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Republic Steel, which raised prices earlier Monday.

U.S. Steel said the increase "reflects a continuing strong demand for flat-rolled products and continuing cost increases."

Bethlehem announced in a brief statement from company headquarters in Bethlehem, Pa., that it would increase prices about 6 per cent on sheet and strip products effective Dec.1.

Republic, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, did not specify the amount of its increases, but said they would be in line with its competitors.

Dividend Raised

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (BW) – Audiotronics Corp. directors have approved a 20 per cent increase in the dividend rate to 3 cents a share, up from the 2-1/2 cents previously paid.

Wheat Hurt By Currency

CHICAGO (AP) – Problems with the dollar in Australia and Canada that could make foreign grain more attractive to buy influenced selling of wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday and produced a 5-1/2 cents a bushel loss.

Soybeans had been 11-1/2 cents lower at one time, but short covering and small, late buying turned prices uneven at the last bell. Corn and oats lost 2 to 3-1/2 cents. Soybean meal was mixed, while soy oil declined about 1/3 cent a pound. Iced broilers were steady to 3/4 cents a pound lower after a fairly actively traded session.

Live cattle were steady to some 42 cents higher per hundredweight after an early advance of twice as much. Live hog futures declined 72 cents per hundredweight as most 1977 deliveries set new crop lows.

Pork belly futures were down nearly 100 points, to levels just a shade above crop lows. Shell eggs gained up to 60 points, but the nearby January delivery was up nearly 70, reflecting the bitter cold temperatures in the country.

Australia devalued the dollar 17.5 per cent over the weekend, and the Canadian dollar declined to its lowest in months, under 99 cents, against the American dollar. The actions could lower wheat prices in both countries and give more competition to wheat from the United States.

Another factor in the selling was a report from the International Wheat Council that worldwide production of the bread grain in 1976 totaled a record 409.5 million tons, compared to the 1975 total of 352 million tons and the previous record of 371 million tons in 1973.

There was some fair demand early, but it fell off as sellers turned more active. Corn and oats also weakened, although commercial support held on in corn for a longer period.

Soybean, meal and oil selling also was linked with the wheat weakness, but independent selling came from commercials early.

At the final bell, wheat was 5-1/2 to 5-3/4 cents a bushel lower, December 2.51-3/4; corn was 2-3/4 to 3-1/2 lower, December 2.39; oats were 3/4 to 2-1/2 lower, December 1.50-184; and soybeans were 1-1/2 lower to 2-1/2 higher, January 6.71.

Lower grain prices and prospects of increased marketings influenced selling of live hog futures. The weak hog market, an easier wholesale market and lower grains tended to work on sellers of pork belly futures.

Light receipts and a higher steer market influenced buyers of live cattle futures.

Bonds Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) – Corporate and government bond prices were mixed Monday, Salomon Brothers investment bankers reported.

Corporates were unchanged to ¼ lower at the close after rising as much as ¼ during the session.

Municipal general obligations bonds were up ½ in strong activity, while other issues were unchanged.

Two-year Treasury notes were unchanged in price. Seven-year government bonds were down 3-32 and longer governments were down 1-32.

Three month Treasury bill yields were down one basis point to 4.49; six-month yields were even at 4.58; and one-year yields were off four points at 4.69.

Federal funds were quoted at 4 7/8 bid.

World Wheat Output Seen Nearing Record

LONDON (AP) – World wheat production this year is heading toward an all-time high, the International Wheat Council said Monday.

The IWC said production is expected to reach 409.5 million metric tons, surpassing the previous record of 371 million set in 1973. A metric ton is equivalent to about 2,200 pounds.

According to the IWC, this year's wheat crop also is likely to surpass last year's total by 57.4 million metric tons.

The Wheat Council, which had issued its latest monthly report in the last week of October, said it revised its estimates because of the Soviet Union's announcement on Nov. 1 which put its total 976 grain harvest at 220 million metric tons.

It was estimated by the council that of the total, about 100 million metric tons was wheat.

Another major contributing factor to the revised estimates, contained in the December report, was the latest report from Argentina which put this year's final wheat crop figures at 12 million metric tons.

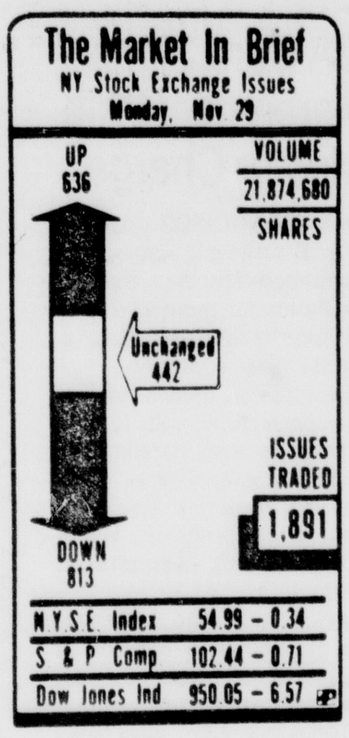
Heileman To Buy Rainier Brewing

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) – Tentative agreement for the G. Heileman Brewing Co. of La Crosse to purchase the Rainier Brewing Co. of Seattle was announced today.

Russell Cleary, president of Heileman, said the purchase would be made for approximately $7 million cash, and must be approved by the directors of both firms and the shareholders of Rainier Companies, Inc.

Cleary said Rainier would continue to produce its own brand of beer, but Heileman may eventually shift some of its own production to the Seattle plant.

Heileman now has breweries in La Crosse; St. Paul, Minn.; Newport, Ky., and Evansville, Ind.



Hilton Faces Breach Suit By Pa. Firm

PHILADELPHIA (AP) – Hilton Inns, Inc., and three of its subsidiaries have been sued for more than $92 million by a Pennsylvania corporation and its president who charges breach of contract.

Sol Grossman, president of Age Corp. of suburban Bala Cynwyd, and his wife, Esther, of Wyncote, Pa., filed the action on grounds that Hilton "willfully and maliciously" prevented completion of a multistory motel in the vicinity of U.S. 22 and Interstate 76 in Monroeville, Pa., near Pittsburgh.

Age and the Grossmans, in the lawsuit recently filed in U.S. District Court by attorney Barry Lyons, allege that Hilton Inns, based in Elmsford, N.Y., accepted $20,000 for a licensing agreement and then "fraudulently, willfully and maliciously refused to execute it."

Stocks Move Downward

NEW YORK (AP) – The stock market turned downward Monday in a mood of caution as traders waited for government figures on the economic outlook.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, up nearly 29 points on Monday, dropped back 6.57 to 950.05.

Losers ran ahead of gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume was a moderate 18.75 million shares, up from 15 million Friday when many investors were taking an extended Thanksgiving holiday.

The market's attention seemed to be focused on Tuesday's scheduled report from Washington on the index of leading economic indicators for October.

"There's considerable feeling that we're going to have a decline in the index for the third month in a row," said Saul Smerling at Standard & Poor's Corp. "I suppose people were drawing back today in anticipation of that."

Smerling said the message of the index, which is designed to detect future economic trends, might be garbled somewhat because of some recent strikes that are now settled.

But he also noted the traditional rule of thumb that a trend in the index begins to take on significance if it extends to a three-month span.

Faced with the uncertainty of what the index would show, and of how the market would respond, some traders evidently deemed it prudent to cash in profits and otherwise lighten their positions Monday.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrial stocks posted a .84 loss to 114.18, and S&P's 500-stock composite index dropped .71 to 102.44.

Oil stocks, among last week's strongest performers, fell back across a broad front. Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard Oil of California all declined fractionally.

An official of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countires denied reports that OPEC members had agreed on a five-day postponement of their Dec. 15 meeting to set prices.

Standard Oil of Indiana, which reported on a successful well in west Texas, held steady.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel both lost fractions as the companies joined in a round of steel price increases.

A favorable look at the pollution control industry's prospects in Barron's magazine sparked gains in such issues as Peabody-Galion, Envirotech and Marley Co.

Alcan Aluminium slipped a notch after the company was turned down in its bid for a Supreme Court hearing on a 1971 import duty surcharge.

The NYSE's composite index declined .34 to 54.99.

In other markets, the American Stock Exchange market value index fell 1.13 to 99.39, and the NASDAQ composite index of over-the-counter stocks lost .34 to 91.08.

VW Board OKs Stamping Plant In Pennsylvania

WOLFSBURG, West Germany (AP) – The Volkswagen board approved a new stamping plant Monday to be built near the New Stanton, Pa., assembly facility it bought earlier this year.

A spokesman said the final site for the stamping plant, estimated to cost "well under" $100 million, had not yet been chosen.

A report from New Stanton earlier this month said an estimated 2,000 jobs would be created in addition to the estimated 5,000 brought by the assembly facility. Volkswagen has not confirmed the report.

A Volkswagen spokesman said the company hoped to have the new stamping plant in operation early in 1978, at the same time assembly of Volkswagen Rabbit cars begins at the other plant.

The stamping plant will produce sheet metal components for the auto assembly operation.

Columbia Hikes Coffee Prices

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) – Colombian coffee will be priced at over $2 a pound within the next few days on the international market, the National Association of Coffee Exporters forecast Monday.

Colombia raised its domestic coffee prices by 1 per cent last Friday, and it is expected that this increase will be reflected in the international market, said Gilberto Arango president of the exporters' association.

The association met in Bogota over the weekend to study the coffee market. Arango said world coffee prices will increase further as the shortage of coffee continues.

Colombian coffee is currently priced at $1.90 a pound and due to the favorable situation in the international market, Colombia has launched a plan to increase production.

MHDS Sale Mapped

NEW YORK – Informatics, Inc. of Los Angeles, a subsidiary of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, has agreed in principle to acquire MHDS Inc., of Columbus, Ohio, from FNCB Capital Corp., a Citicorp subsidiary.

Help-Wanted Ads Rise Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) – The volume of help-wanted advertising in 51 major newspapers across the country increased slightly in October, the Conference Board, a non-profit business research group, said Monday.

The board's help-wanted index stood at 96 in October, with the 1967 level equalling 100. The October reading was two points above September's level, one point below August's level and 13 points above October last year.

The index is sensitive to changes in the demand for labor and to general business conditions, the board said.

Want ad linage rose in seven of the nine regions covered by the survey. The largest percentage gain, 5.8 per cent, was recorded in the South Atlantic region.

The East North Central area showed no changes, while the Middle Atlantic registered a loss of 3.7 per cent.

EVER STRIVING FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

No Health Risk?

Three news items appearing in the November 19 Wall Street Journal proved most instructive when taken in conjunction.

In the first, we were informed that Transportation Secretary William Coleman has ordered U.S. airlines to modify or replace their present airliners so as to reduce noise up to 50 per cent no later than 1985. The order affects more than 1,600 aircraft and will entail the expenditure of billions of dollars.

The second news story revealed that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has initiated a suit in federal court as a means of imposing its pollution control program on the city of Cincinnati. The suit demands that Ohio's highway-safety department deny license plates to Cincinnati drivers whose cars fail to meet EPA dictated emissions tests.

And, finally, in the third Journal news item, readers were informed that Red China detonated another nuclear device, and that the radioactive fallout from the explosion would arrive in the U.S., according to the Environmental Protection Agency. Most of the radiation, the EPA said, would be confined to the upper atmosphere, unless rain brings it down. A much smaller test by the red Chinese this past September, the Journal noted, produced fallout that contaminated milk in the Eastern U.S., "but the EPA said it wasn't a health risk."

In short, putting the information supplied by the three news stories together, we are forced to the conclusion that the federal agencies concerned are quite willing to impose multi-billion dollar costs upon U.S. airlines, with the resulting increase of air fares to U.S. travelers, so as to reduce noise pollution, and to deny U.S. motorists license tags for their autos, thus possibly cutting them off from their means of livelihood, if their car exhausts fail to measure up to EPA-dictated standards. But, when it comes to the Red Chinese government, and the sending of radioactive fallout from nuclear explosions to drift over our country, that is an entirely different matter and is dismissed by the EPA as constituting no health risk.

Only U.S. citizens and U.S. private enterprises are guilty of polluting, it seems.

Big Brother Again

Since drunken drivers are said to be responsible for at least half the nation's annual toll of traffic deaths and accidents, it would seem to make sense, if possible, to remove these menaces from the highway before they caused accidents, not after.

To see if it is, in fact, possible is the object of a $797,000 federally funded experiment currently being conducted in the District of Columbia. Since April, more than 4,000 applicants for drivers licenses in the district have been asked to fill out a questionnaire designed to identify "problem drinkers," which includes alcoholics as well as those with less chronic drinking habits.

Psychologists have established that certain personal situations and attitudes and health problems can be indicators of problem drinking. Thus in addition to direct questions about drinking habits, the Washington questionnaire asks such things as: "Would you describe yourself as being lonely a good deal of the time?" "With whom do you live – Alone? With friend? With relative? With wife or husband?"

Or true or false: "Sometimes I feel very guilty." "I usually sweat at night." "I sometimes feel that I am going to pieces."

Responses to the questions, which are voluntary, have been put into a computer and indicate that about 15 per cent of those questioned so far are problem drinkers, say officials.

What critics of the experiment are afraid of is that what is voluntary now could be made mandatory in the future and that license applicants identified as problem drinkers would be required to undergo some form of medical evaluation or treatment or education as a condition for obtaining a license. The people in charge of the project admit they are thinking of just that.

Now in a sound society, not only potential alcoholics but potential criminals and nobody with any kind of life-adjustment problem would be identified early and helped before he caused difficulties for himself and others.

But psychology is still an inexact science and this is still supposed to be a society where a person is considered innocent until proven guilty – by what he does, not by what someone thinks he might do. Those who complain that the Washington experiment is a gross invasion of privacy and evidence of creeping Big Brotherism are not being paranoiac.

The fact is that we already have plenty of people who have unmistakenly identified themselves as problem drinkers, yet are allowed to keep on driving.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 30, the 335th day of 1976. There are 31 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1782, the United States and Britain signed preliminary peace articles in Paris ending the Revolutionary War.

On this date –

In 1710, Turkey declared war on Russia.

In 1864, one of the bloodiest conflicts of the Civil War, the Battle of Franklin, Tennessee, was fought.

In 1874, the British statesman Sir Winston Churchill was born.

In 1939, the Soviet Union attacked Finland.

In 1942, during World War II, U.S. bombers struck at Japanese forces holding Rangoon, Burma.

In 1949, the Chinese Communists captured Chungking, China.

In 1962, General U Thant of Burma was elected Secretary General of the United Nations.

Ten years ago: U.S. artillery in South Vietnam killed three Vietnamese and wounded 14 in a mistaken shelling of a friendly village which had been accidentally bombed by the U.S. only five months earlier.

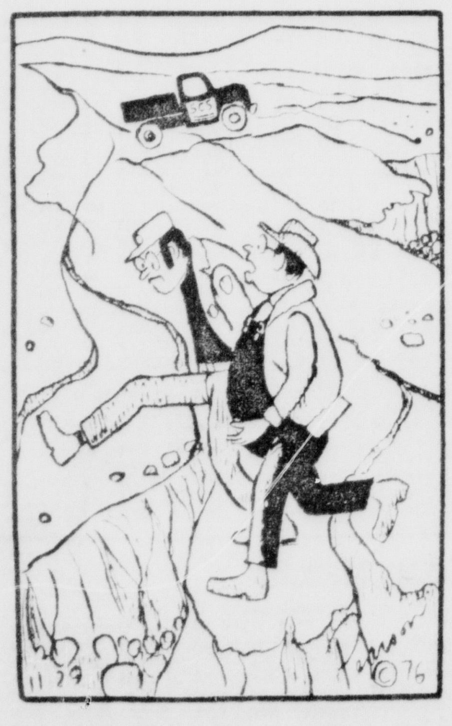
Five years ago: Iranian forces took over two British protectorates in the Persian Gulf.

One year ago: President Ford flew to China to expand the new relationship that President Richard Nixon had begun in Peking more than three years earlier.

Today's birthdays: Actor Efrem Zimbalist Jr. is 53. Comedian Allen Sherman is 52.

Thought for today: "The fundamental defect of fathers is that they want their children to be a credit to them." – Bertrand Russell, British mathematician and philosopher, 1872-1970.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the British command in captured New York City promised pardon to Americans who would swear within 60 days not to carry out any acts of treason.



It wasn't this way until we began overproducing to feed the world.

Pay As You Go

The other day I was sitting in my favorite barber's chair when someone broached the subject of property taxes. I immediately complained that my property taxes had increased 128 per cent this year. My barber replied that it was my own fault for living in such a high rent district, and if I didn't like it I should move. I replied that I've lived there for over 20 years, and can't afford to move. When he looked at me in disbelief, I explained further that due to a physical disability, I had given up my full time job the first of the year and was subsisting on the meager returns from 40 years of contributing to the Social Security fund.

"Well," said my friendly barber, if you want fire protection, and police protection and all the other government services, you have to expect to pay for them." I don't mind paying a reasonable fee for police and fire protection, but I do object to paying out a lot of money and getting absolutely nothing in return. For instance, nearly 60 per cent of my property taxes go to the schools. Since my wife and I have no chidlren, why should I have to contribute to the education of someone else's kids, especially when their parents have incomes four of five times greater than mine, and often pay less taxes than I do? Do you think that's fair? He said I should be glad to contribute to the education of my fellow citizens because it makes things better for everybody. Well, voluntary contributions are one thing, but when a government agency can deliberately, legally and without recourse, confiscate the property of a citizen with a very low income, and use it to promote the interests of anoither citizen with a much higher income, I think that's going a little bit too far. He remarked that if it's all for the common good, then it's better for everybody.

There was just no way I could extract any sympathy from my friendly barber, and that brings up an interesting point. Complaints about unfair increases in property taxes are beginning to sound like replays of a broken record, and it would seem that those of us who are being so immorally ripped off, are in the majority. However, if we take in to account the attitude of my friendly barber, plus those government employes who are the recipients of these ill-gotten gains, plus the parents of children in public schools, we could be very much in the minority. It then follows that those of us who are complaining about being forced to pay 60 to 75 per cent of our property taxes solely for the benefit of others, could very well be beating our gums, and editorializing for nought.

It seems to me, therefore, that the only answer to this whole unfortunate and unhappy situation is to eliminate property taxes entirely, and formulate a program that would enable people to pay only for services received. It has been proved many times over that better quality services at less cost, can be provided in the open market by free enterprise. Why not try it?

Uncle Sam's Diet

I have been instrumental in distributing a TRIM Bulletin, which means Tax Reform Immediately, or in other words, put our Uncle Sam on a diet.

Uncle Sam is getting too fat for his clothes and should be put on a diet. It seems to me that no matter what happens, we are continually being taxed, and now the former director of OCTD is proposing taxes on cars and gasoline just to force the public into using the public bus system, which has cost the public hundreds of thousands of dollars and has not been very efficiently operated.

It seems the general public is so naive that they don't know what is going on and should be educated along this line.

Playing With Fire

Re: Karen Capper's letter, "News Pictures" (Nov. 24).

She criticized The Register for printing a picture of the children after their friends perished in a fire (set by children playing with matches.)

Just the day before this photo appeared, I found my 9-year-old daughter playing with matches. I tried to explain to her the tragedy she could cause by doing this, but not until I showed her that picture and had her read the caption, did it leave a very deep impression.

Handgun Vote

As the dust finally settles on our last election, a curious anomaly conspicuously obtrudes itself upon the consciousness of the American people, despite stalwart attempts by the liberal element of our news media to ignore it. That great Bay State of Massachusetts, that hotbed of liberalism and anti-gun sentiment, voted in referendum against the banning of handguns by a margin better than 2 to 1 (70 per cent vs. 30 per cent)!

What say now our pontifical pollsters of that great land of fantasy, Opinionland, whose denizens routinely tell us that over 40 per cent of the American people favor the banning of handguns? And what say our meretricious mind-molders of the mass media who continually and speciously promulgate the fiction that depriving law-abiding citizens of handguns will curb crime?

Your silence is deafening, but ever so golden, and even more so sweet!

Your Tax Dollars

From both ends of the spectrum we hear the same story. Sen. Edmund Muskie, a liberal, asks: "Why can't liberals start raising hell about a government so big, so complex, so expensive, and so unresponsive that it's dragging down every good program we've worked for?"

Ronald Reagan, a conservative, says: "Washington is spending a billion dollars every day and goes into debt a billion and a third dollars every week. The absorption of revenue by all levels of government, the alarming rate of inflation, the toll of unemployment all stem from a single source: the belief that government, particularly the federal government, has the answer to our ills."

BE HAPPY

The Slavemaster Himself Is Enslaved

By BUTLER D. SHAFFER

I have come increasingly to the conclusion that there are no real "problems" in the world: there are only "conditions" to which we have learned to react emotionally.

There is nothing inherently "evil" or "malicious" about life – including other people – or about the conditions with which we must contend in seeking to promote our happiness and well-being. Nature, in short, is neutral, functioning in an orderly and predictable manner, working its inexorable logic from cause to effect.

Many persons, however, are not content with this natural system of order. They come to imagine that the forces of nature are allied in a conspiracy against them and must, therefore, be brought under their direction and control. The perceived villainy may involve the economic, religious, or idological behavior of other people; the felt misemployment of natural resources; or such abstractions as "social conditions," "public attitudes," or "rates of growth." Regardless of the source, many people believe that such conditions – external to themselves – are the causes of their unhappiness or economic misfortune. Further they come to believe that their own frustrations can be relieved by the elimination of such malevolent forces.

When one reaches the conclusion that his happiness and well-being is dependent upon changing the behavior of others, he is, likely to react emotionally. If, after all, other people – over whom one has no natural means of control – are regarded as essential to one's success, he is likely to experience a felt sense of urgency. He now has a "problem."

There are many conditions with which people have contended for centuries: poverty, racial and religious bigotry, wars, disease, violence, and environmental pollution. Such conditions are clearly detrimental to human well-being and I am not suggesting that we ought to learn to "accept" them.

What I do wish to suggest, however, is that when people come to regard such conditions as problems – the solutions to which are prerequisites for their own happiness – they not only lay the foundations for the control of other people but, in the process, put those they would control in positions of influence over their own lives as well. The "controller," in effect, finds his own happiness and well-being subject to the behavior of the "controlled."

Thus, one who believes that he cannot truly be happy until racial discrimination is eliminated, will not only seek to control those who practice such behavior, but suspends his own happiness until the time such other people conform to his designs.

It requires little imagination to see how the practice of looking outside oneself for one's happiness has a tendency to proliferate political manipulation and coercion. Since people are motivated by their own self-interest, such methods become essential to those who believe that their well-being is dependent upon getting others to change their habits. It is readily understandable, therefore, why polititicians are so anxious to foster this attitude: their offices can be used to broker the disputes involved. If labor unions believe that their success requires the political control of employers, the politicians are only too happy to entertain the cause, just as their doors will remain open to the employers who later contend that their well-being demands political control of the labor unions.

Likewise, telephone and electric power companies will argue, in the political arena, that their fortunes depend upon the control of those who might otherwise choose to compete with them, while consumer groups – arguing on behalf of the persons who must pay the higher prices for such regulation – demand further controls upon the utilities.

Each of us – whether we choose to acknowledge the fact or not – is responsible for the actions upon which our happiness and well-being depend. Each of us encounters conditions in life which we can deal with successfully or not. Neither nature nor other people are aligned against us, and yet, if we believe otherwise, we have the power to create artificial conflicts, engendering the very "problems" which many believe only political institutions can overcome.

ST. JOHN'S JOURNAL

Businessmen A Doomed Class?

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN

WASHINGTON – "The private corporation has been an enormously productive social invention," observes Michael C. Jensen and William H. Meckling of the University of Rochester Graduate School of Management, "but it is on its way to being destroyed. Large corporations will become like Conrail, Amtrack and the Post Office."

These words were written in a policy paper published last May by the Center for Research in Government Policy and Business, at the University of Rochester in upstate New York.

"Government is destroying the individual incentives which are the wellsprings of economic growth," states the paper.

"We see large corporations as one of the casualties of this process. The corporate form of organization is likely to disappear completely, but even if it survives in some form, the larger corporations as we know them are destined to be destroyed. Indeed, in a few industries we believe their demise is imminent."

These seemingly pessimistic conclusions in May are corroborated by the results of the Carter victory in the presidential election. The coalition of anti-business groups, minorities, organized labor, consumer environmental and urban political bosses who insured Mr. Carter's narrow victory made it clear only days after the Nov. 2 balloting that they want legislation enacted that would have the direct result of further regulating and controlling the private business sector.

In fact, Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House ways and Means Committee, said on Nov. 4 that when the new Congress convenes in January he will move to "Strip corporations of their tax privileges."

In the numerous political postmortems conducted in this city, the most persistent criticism has been the widespread nonparticipation of business groups in the election process. The major reason given is fear of the new campaign spending laws that have severely restricted corporations while leaving labor unions and their political allies free to elect national, state and local anti-business candidates. Many businessmen, frightened or ignorant of what they could do under the new law largely created by organized labor and its allies, withdrew completely from the 1976 political process rather than run afoul of the Democratic-controlled Federal Election Commission.

Otto J. Scott, author of a number of corporate histories and historical biographies, contends that businessmen have made the same potentially lethal mistake as their counterparts in the United Kingdom.

"U. S. businessmen have accepted the British idea," notes the historian, "that politicians will save them. To believe that politicians will work to dismantle their own authority is stupid – no politician is that stupid, even if businessmen are." Scott proposes the establishment of a fund of perhaps $500 million to $1 billion to underwrite efforts in the areas long neglected by business: for example, legal, cultural and intellectual now dominated and controlled by their enemies.

Such a fund, he says, would "reach people through all avenues: plays, lectures, rallies, demonstrations, lawsuits, charges against abusers of power, petitions of recall for office-holders who break their pledges; impeachment of misusers of power."

Businessmen have cowered for decades under attacks from the political left. Now, however, the direction of attacks is about to change. We have learned that one of the major themes of a meeting of national conservative leaders in Chicago in early December will be an all-out public assault on the business community and its policy of subsidizing liberal efforts in the arts, the media and in the political arena. Until recently business has found its most persistent defenders among conservatives and libertarians. Now even that support is slipping away.

What we are witnessing in all these events is an historical obituary being written for American business. The undertakers of private enterprise – the politicians armed with the powers of government – are preparing the coffin for the corporation, and the businessman himself has fashioned the nails to seal tight the lid.

Strike Thirst

Strike! Strike! Strike! and we're out. Uncle Sam has lost the ball game. Our nation has become waterlogged by the insatiable "strike thirst" of unions. We read a different news story every day about the labor bosses and their sheep stirring up a furor regarding their "rights" for more money and fringe benefits. They are not concerned about the facts that with every strike production and living costs go up; inflation is increased; their dollars devalued and Uncle Sam is headed for the poor house.

The labor bosses must instigate strikes in order to justify their existence and perpetuate themselves in office. They don't give a damn about our national debt, or pricing ourselves out of world markets through the high cost of labor.

The more money the bosses get for their union members, the faster their salaries and expense accounts grow. Greed and Power are the prime motivation for the strike thirst.

It's time the workers awakened and realized how they are being robbed. When they do, they will kick out the scoundrels and adopt a "share-the-profit" program, which actually offers more than the unions at a lesser cost for everyone.

OCWD Health Plan

It is very interesting to read where the Orange County Water District Directors approved a plan whereby the County of Orange furnishes them with a prepaid Health Insurance Plan (Register, Nov. 19).

Upon what basis do these people feel that they are entitled to health insurance? Do the few meetings they attend a month subject them to such emotional and physical stress that somehow the taxpayers of Orange County should be responsible for picking up the tab for any potential illness?

No, this is another example where the bureaucrats by constantly feathering their own nest at the expense of the already over-burdened taxpayer continue to increase the tax structure.

This health insurance in itself does not constitute a large expenditure. But it demonstrates how constantly the public servants by taking a little here and a little there have increased the taxes to where they become insufferable.

Out On Bail

Isn't our judicial system just wonderful! If you're poor, you stay in jail, but it you're Patty Hearst, rich and brainwashed (?), you can have bail. Of course, it cost the taxpayers only over $1 million to find her, but then no one really cares, do they?

Well, I do! I want to know why. Why is she getting bail when there are other charges pending against her? Why did she go to such a "plush" penal center? Why was she moved? I say, because she's rich, because her family has money and influence.

No wonder crime is so prevalent. If you make enough, you can buy your way out. But if you don't, God help you, because the state won't.

Red Objective

I oppose any diminution of U.S. sovereignty or control over the Panama Canal or the Panama Canal Zone.

The late Dr. Charles Callan Tansill, the highly respected historian at Georgetown University, warned a decade ago that "the expulsion of the United States from the Panama Canal Zone has been an objective of the Communists ever since they took over the government of Russia in 1917. The slogan to internationalize the Panama Canal was first minted in Moscow, and has been actively implemented during several decades.

While the mass media concentrate their efforts on developing to prepare for surrender of our sovereignty over the U.S. Canal Zone and the Panama Canal, another fundamental issue begs the asking: To whom are we trying to surrender?

The Panama Canal is ours; let's keep it that way!

Tolerance

There have been many comments made in regard to the living condition of some of our new Vietnam residents.

Children can be excused for many things, especially children of an entirely alien origin. They have to learn the ways of a whole new country and environment. I can imagine it is not the easiest thing in the world to have to change an entire lifestyle.

We can and should excuse our unfortunate and alien residents. They will hopefully learn accepted manners in time, but what excuse can you make for a fully grown man standing in front of his camper, relieving himself, not only in front of passing motorists but his own family? This occurred on the freeway just this past Sunday (Nov.21) between Riverside and Beaumont. I know, I was one of the passing motorists. It seems that maybe it isn't only the new residents from a foreign land that need lessons in modesty and hygiene.

'CANALIZATION'

Israelis Have Energy Potential At Hand

By FRANK BRECKBILL

The tiny state of Israel, though surrounded by oil-rich neighbors, is more blessed than they, or even most Western industrialized nations.

The Arabs' oil will eventually run out. But Israel could double her energy base without purchasing another barrel of oil, ton of coal or pound of uranium – energy that would last forever, or until nature changes the level of the Mediterranean Sea.

The difference in elevations between the Mediterranean and the Dead Sea – nearly 1,300 feet, or eight times the drop of Niagara Falls – is one of the greatest untapped energy resources in the world, and exploitable only by Israel.

The Israelis have long been aware of this. Last January, a government - commissioned panel headed by Prof. Shlomo Eckstein of Bar Ilan University recommended that a 13-foot-diameter concrete tunnel be constructed to carry water from south of Tel Aviv 50 miles to the Dead Sea, where a power station could generate 10 per cent of Israel's electrical needs by 1980.

In the 1940s, James B. Hayes of the Tennessee Valley Authority and Walter C. Lowdermilk, an official in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, assembled hard data on the irrigation potential of Palestine. But the idea is much older than that.

In 1898, Theodor Herzl, the father of political Zionism and early prime mover for the establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine, met briefly with Kaiser Wilhelm II just outside present-day Mikve, Israel, when the Kaiser visited Palestine as a "pilgrim."

"It needs water, very much water," the Kaiser said.

"Canalization on a grand scale," replied Herzl.

Herzl later wrote of the Israel - that - could - be in his fictional book "Altneuland" (Old New Land), describing how canalization and hydroelectric power had by 1923 transformed the once arid and desolate land. He envisioned a huge power plant situated at the Dead Sea, its high-tension lines stretching out in all directions, and chemical plants recovering the treasures of that great 394-square-mile body of salt water.

Herzl's diary reveals that the concept came from Johann Kremenetzky, a Jewish electrical engineer from Vienna, who became a great admirer of Herzl and was the first president of the Jewish National Fund.

My wife and I discovered these and other facts in the course of investigating what we thought was our original recognition of the immense energy potential of a Mediterranean-Dead Sea link-up. We firmly believe a feasibility study of the Kremenetzky-Herzl plan should be made by TAHAL, Israel's water planning commission.

We have proposed to TAHAL that instead of a tunnel a canal be dug, and that it begin at the Bay of Haifa as in Herzl's original plan, in order to avoid the high mountains between Tel Aviv and the Dead Sea. Approximately eight miles from Haifa, near the settlement of Nashe, the canal would divide.

Two channels, each leading toward the Dead Sea, would serve several purposes. The first channel would carry water first to Tiberius and the Sea of Galilee and then into the West Bank lands for pool and lake formation. The second could extend at a higher level on into the Negev Desert, again providing water for high-level lakes and pools along its route.

Both channels would eventually empty what water was left after evaporation losses into the Dead Sea. We estimate that only a fraction of the flow of Niagara Falls would provide eight times the electrical power of the tunnel plan.

The major disadvantage of a proposed canal is political. While it would begin and end in Israel, it would have to pass for part of its length through the disputed West Bank lands. Indeed, this is probably the major reason why Herzl's eminently commonsensical idea has never been implemented.

We believe, however, that this apparent disadvantage may actually be the canal's greatest blessing in disguise.

There would be other benefits. With locks to the newly created lakes, freight and passenger travel would open new commercial and scenic areas for visitors and investments. Distillation of water from the open channels and lakes would green nearby arid areas and temper the hot climate.

A lot of manual labor would be required to build, maintain and operate the canal project, as well as greenhouses and resort areas. The Palestinians need work, and the future security of Israel needs something more substantial than F-15 jets, which only guzzle more imported fuel and invite attack.

Perhaps a little water over there could help cool the fires of hatred and distrust – water carried by a canal in which both Arabs and Israelis had a stake.

"Dreams are not so different from deeds as some may think," Theodor Herzl wrote in Old New Land. "All the deeds of men are only dreams at first."

Were Israel to embark on "canalization on a grand scale," it would not be the first of Herzl's dreams to become reality.

LABOR TO TORY

Will Great Britain 'Muddle Through'?

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service

It was about a year ago on a flight from Cairo to London. The British helicopter manufacturer in the next seat was pondering over the economic situation in his country.

"We've got trouble ahead of us," he said, "but, I suppose we'll muddle through."

Today, Prime Minister James Callaghan has serious doubts both about the nation's economy, the future of his own Labor Party and about his own tenure, in office only since last April. He and his seemingly bewildered Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey keep telling the British people there are "more painful adjustments ahead."

The most painful decisions ahead of Callaghan and Healey likely are defeat of their government next February or March, the return to power of the Conservative Party with Mrs. Margaret Thatcher likely to become Britain's first woman prime minister.

The "muddling through" that has been part of British failure to act promptly in crisis for centuries just may not work any more. Drastic action is needed and even the left-wing British newspapers talk of the need for a new thrust that would move the country away from the almost completely socialist state it has become under the current Labor government, first led for two years by Harold Wilson – until he threw in the towel in favor of Callaghan last spring.

The statistical signs are clear and decisive, even though there is a popular demand for change even without these dreary records: A pound sterling that has depreciated 30 per cent in 20 months and caused chaos in Britain's foreign trade; an inflation rate of 14.3 per cent; a 5.8 per cent unemployment rate that is disaster in a socialist-oriented state; a Bank of England interest rate of 15 per cent; a home loan building societies (savings and loan) rate up 1.75 per cent to a record 12.25 per cent.

This last blow to the British consumer already has had dreary impact because it affects 4.5 million home owners who previously had loans at lower rates. Unlike the system in the United States, British loans normally fluctuate with the Bank of England's rates rather than remaining fixed as with Americans.

Britons over the years often grumble but do little to change things. The impact of such a devastating increase in the cost of living, however, has brought action. Labor lost two of three by-elections recently and saw its House of Commons margin reduced to a single vote.

Thatcher, on the result of these elections, had demanded that Callaghan call a new election. "The dry rot has set into the government's house," she said, "and we are very near to bringing them down." Callaghan could call an election now but doesn't have to do so until October, 1979. The odds given by London bookmakers is that an election – and likely Tory victory – will come next spring.

Callaghan and Healey, meanwhile, are being bombarded on all sides – with demands for more stringent actions to curb inflation and increase exports.

The extreme leftist attitudes of most labor unions that once were a bulwark of Callaghan's party thwart him at every turn and he is very close to loss of the basic support that normally is automatic in his party.

As The Times of London puts it, "Mr. Callaghan, if he is to survive, must stabilize the pound, stabilize the economy and stabilize the Labor Party, and the last two objectives are not readily compatible."

There is other evidence that a British public long accustomed to socialized medicine, nationalized major industries and the other trappings of socialism is turning to the right, even though it is a gradual process.

Elections, newspaper editorial comment and public grumbling seem to add up to a consensus that the Labor Party simply cannot govern the nation at this time of crisis – and that the Tories just might be able to convert chaos and disaster into some measure of austere stability.

"There is now a consensus in the country," the Daily Express editorialized, "that the state spends too much of our money, that the consequent inflation is the chief cause of unemployment and that private enterprise has been squeezed too much. This is the view of people who could not normally be called right-wing. So, the climate of opinion is increasingly favorable to what Tories believe and stand for."

Even the Manchester Guardian, no consistent friend of the Conservatives, added this note:

"If the Conservatives are now cutting large and menacing swathes through Labor territory, that is almost certainly because the Conservatives have at last begun to give the impression that they know what they are about."

Healey is pleading for more time. He said there is a tendency of democracies to "desire to produce heaven on earth overnight and this is impossible."

This may be so but if he and Callaghan are planning to "muddle through" with the philosophical attitude of resignation expressed by the Cairo-to-London helicopter manufacturer, they are due for a shock.

They certainly will wake up some morning between now and next spring and find themselves part of the Commons' loyal opposition rather than the rulers of British economic and political destiny.

Thatcher insists in every speech that "Britain is on its economic knees" and she fully intends to use that collapse in propelling herself to a position as mistress of 10 Downing St.

Continuing Hypocrisy At UN

By ALLAN C. BROWNFELD

WASHINGTON – It is high time for Americans to begin carefully to reconsider their relationship with the United Nations. More and more, it seems, the UN has become a danger to the peace and tranquility of the world, not the defender of stability and the non-violent resolution of problems.

While tens of thousands of men, women and children are being slaughtered in Laos and Cambodia, while the Soviet Union continues to persecute Jews and Christians and to deny all citizens the simple right to leave the country if they wish to do so, while the Communist Chinese force all who live under their rule into collective farms or rigidly circumscribed urban lives, the UN remains silent. When it speaks it speaks only to criticize its favorite targets – Israel, Rhodesia, South Africa and the free, democratic societies of the West.

The UN almost outdid itself when it passed a resolution condemning Zionism as "racism." Zionism, of course, is subject to a good deal of legitimate criticism. But what of the legal maxim of coming into court with clean hands? On what basis can the racist regimes of Uganda or Mozambique or Tanzania call Israel "racist"? On what basis can those regimes which deny all freedom of religion – such as the Soviet Union, Communist China, Hungary, East Germany, etc. – describe Zionism as an intolerant philosophy?

Now, the United Nations has moved even beyond its anti-Zionism resolution. The latest outrage is a resolution condeming South Africa, one of the founding members of the United Nations, and declaring that the South African government is "illegitimate" and has "no right to represent the people of South Africa." The UN, goaded on by black African and third world nations, not only condemned Israel and the nations of Western Europe for trade with South Africa but went one step further. It declared the "legitimacy of the struggle of the oppressed people of South Africa and their liberation movements, by all possible means, for the seizure of power by the people."

Thus, the majority of the UN's membership has gone on record advocating the support of the violent overthrow of one of its own members! The U.S. delegate to the United Nations, the Rev. Robert P. Hupp, called this language "tantamount to calling for an urpising in South Africa which would in effect be a racial bloodbath." The Washington Post, itself a critic of South Africa's racial policies, called the UN meeting an "orgy of irresponsibility." The New York Times, another critic of South Africa, called the resolution "double-faced hyprocrisy" and said the anti-South Africa action will only serve to "enfeeble" the UN.

The delegate from Malawi, a black African state, also criticized the hypocrisy of other black African and third world countries. By condemning only specific Western nations for trading with South Africa, he declared, they overlooked their own close relationship with the Pretoria government, which they enjoy publicly attacking but privately doing business with. A recent study by the American Jewish Congress bolsters this argument. It shows that, among others, South Africa receives arms shipments from the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Saudi Arabia – among its most vocal critics at the UN.

In addition, the Marxist dictatorship of Mozambique, which was in the forefront of the anti-South Africa action, permits more than 100,000 Mozambiquans to work in South Africa earning gold which is remitted directly to the Government in Maputo, providing it with desperately needed foreign exchange. Privately, the Mozambique dictatorship is on very friendly terms with South Africa. Publicly, it calls for the overthrow of the government in Pretoria. By any standard, this is the rankest sort of hypocrisy.

Whatever is wrong with South Africa – and much is wrong – will not be made better by taking lessons in democratic government and individual rights from the one-party dictatorships of Africa which surround it.

The double standards of the United Nations have, of course, been commented upon by many observers. After serving as a U.S. delegate, William F. Buckley, Jr., in his book United Nations Journal: A Delegate's Odyssey, described a situation in which, "One learns almost instantly at the UN that the convention is very simply to ignore Soviet infractions against the stated ideals of the organization....This becomes something in which everyone is automatically trained; even as, say, altogether spontaneous conversations deploring drunkenness will take place in households in which a principal is an alcoholic; after a while nobody notices."

Many long-time supporters are now coming to see that the UN can hardly be a force for peace if those who least desire peace are in charge. In a speech at the Virginia Military Institute, Colgate Darden, a former U.S. delegate to the General Assembly and former Governor of Virginia, stated, "The UN has shown with its greatly enlarged membership a marked disposition to impose unreasonable burdens upon the more advanced industrial nations....The structure of the present organization should be re-examined, and if it cannot be revamped...it should be abandoned...."

The time to abandon the UN seems to be upon us – if only we would have the courage to see things in that body as they now really are.

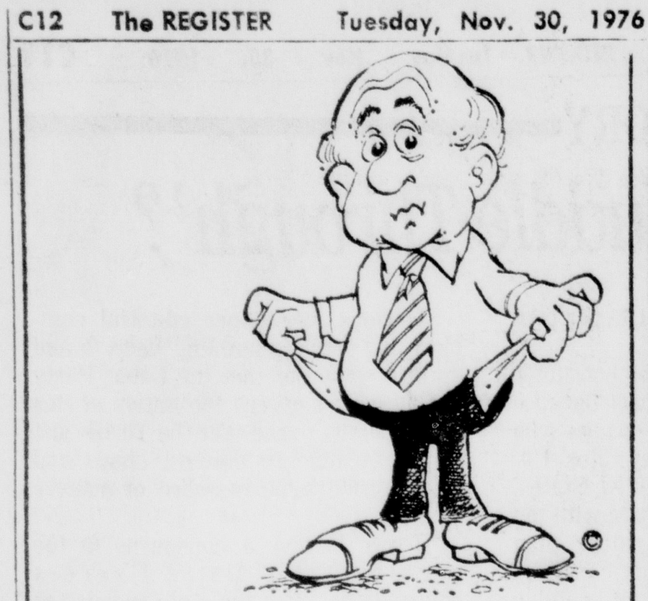
And I Quote

"The government consists of a gang of men exactly like you and me. They have, taking one with another, no special talent for the business of government; they have only a talent for getting and holding office. Their principal device to that end is to search out groups who pant and pine for something they can't get and to promise to give it to them. Nine times out of 10 that promise is worth nothing. The tenth time it is made good by looting A to satisfy B. In other words, government is a broker in pillage and every election is sort of an advance auction sale of stolen goods" –H.L. Mencken

"Two centuries ago, nobody talked about the Right to Work – because that was taken for granted. The American democracy was successful, Alexis de Tocqueville observed in the early decades of this Republic, because of its mores – that is, America's moral habits and beliefs. A belief in the virtue of hard work was conspicuous among those mores. We talk much about the Right to Work, nowadays – because that essential right is denied or endangered. But most Americans continue to believe that men and women ought to be free to work without paying tribute or currying favor. I believe that these United States may be entering upon a period of greater accomplishment, during the next century, than ever before; and part of that achievement may be the recovery of the genuine Right to Work." – Dr. Russell Kirk



SUFFERING FROM A CASH SHORTAGE?

In the past year we've experienced shortages in meat, gas, power, and paper, just to name a few. All of these shortages are new and a little hard to get used to. But one of the oldest and most wide-spread shortages is the shortages of cash suffered by thousands of people every year. Are there remedies to this shortages too? Of course. And one of the quickest and smartest solutions is a low-cost Want Ad. We all have valuable items which we have stored away and rarely use any more. Exchange these items for cash today. Put an end to your cash shortage. Call us today to place a result-getting ad in The Classified "WHITE PAGES."

PARENTS LEARN 'EARLY INTERVENTION'

Course Teaches Methods For Helping Disabled Infants

(Photo By CY NUGENT)

Mary Ann Ford, Director, Works With Infants

"Early Intervention" is a fairly new term and, thanks to the Assistance League of Laguna Beach, it is creating an impact in Orange County. It is a project designed to help the parents of developmentally disabled infants.

The league is funding professionals to guide and to bring hope to many parents in its once-a-week program.

Heretofore the league largely has concerned itself with a Friendship Club for senior citizens, crafts and activities and gathering clothing, toys and dolls for Danny Davey's work with Indians in Arizona.

Wednesday morning at the League has taken on a different look. Because the Early Intervention Program (EIP) has proved beneficial to so many parents, volunteers are eager to help. And help they must – particularly on days when as many as 13 babies, plus a handful of older brothers and sisters look for attention. Six to eight is the average, however. At least four members of the league care for the youngsters and serve coffee to the mothers.

County director of EIP is Mrs. Michael Ford of Corona del Mar, who tells of its beginnings:

"Sharon Shipley started EIP in Fullerton in January, 1974, with a small federal grant. As a teacher in a development center for the handicapped, working with children aged three to five years and their mothers, she realized that intervention was needed much sooner than three years of age. It is the first program of its kind anywhere."

Mrs. Ford, mother of four, has a degree in psychology, credit toward her masters in special education and training in sensory motor development.

The course, and it may be called that, lasts seven weeks and some mothers attend two sessions.

"During the first part of the morning we work on different skills with the children," Mrs. Ford says. "These include motor, language and self-help skills.

"Volunteers watch and entertain the children (some in the current course are only six weeks old) while I talk to the mothers in another room. We discuss behavior management one week, or the dynamics of having a handicapped child living with older children. We have speakers on nutrition, early childhood education and behavior management, all specialists.

"Within recent memory parents of a child who wasn't quite normal were isolated. They didn't face the same problems their neighbors did. Nor did they have access to others with the same problems.

"I've seen mothers come to the first session in very depressed moods. But when they met others with exactly the same problems – and learned that there was help for the asking – their attitudes became cheerful and optimistic."

Perhaps as short a time as a year ago this story couldn't have been written. But the outlook of parents having disturbed children has changed materially, due in large measure to the work started by Mrs. Shipley and carried on by Mrs. Ford.

According to assistance league president Mrs. Francis L. Yohe, her organization learned of EIP through the friend of a member whose child had a learning disability.

"She was going to Los Angeles to participate in a similar program," Mrs. Yohe said, "when she heard about Sharon Shipley's work in Fullerton.

"We asked Sharon to speak to our club about EIP and then we held two trial sessions to see if there was really a need for the program in our area.

"The response was overwhelming and we approved the project last February. We have done so much work with senior citizens that we were looking for something we could do for children.

"It's too bad the need for EPI exists at all, but since it does, we were lucky to find a project so wonderfully worthwhile to become involved in."

"Mothers love to see their children make progress," Mrs. Ford continues. "Through this program and through the support parents get from one another, the small steps of development are really noted and it gives mothers something to cheer about."

A typical starting point each Wednesday is for the mothers and their children to form a circle, "a sort of relaxing break-in exercise," as Mrs. Ford puts it. "The mothers take turns reciting a simple verse while having their babies patty-cake. The infants don't get much out of it initially, but by the age of four, five or six months, they begin to recognize their turn," Mrs. Ford says with enthusiasm. "They may not be able to talk, but the focus of attention centers on that mother and that child. The children do not seem to be participating, but it always amazes mothers when they see their child doing a patty-cake a day or two later. It often happens."

In all of Early Intervention's work, Mrs. Ford puts stress on providing children with an enriched environment and next, to give them as many cues from the environment as possible to help their learning.

This is called tactile play because, Mrs. Ford says, "we know that delayed children do not seek out from their environment as rapidly as other children will. So we let them feel different textures to familiarize themselves with various kinds of feels that he would not find out for himself."

For example, babies are put into Bathinettes half-filled with pieces of styrofoam. Or they are rolled gently on a beach ball.

"If they become used to a lot of textures or different feels, a child — and particularly one with a sight problem – will not become what we call 'touch' defensive," says Mrs. Ford. "If they have felt many different textures, it is not so difficult to change them from baby food to table food."

A tactile board made of carpet squares and other materials is a helpful learning plaything. Or a mother can put her child in a large box and surround him with carpet pieces, flocked wallpaper and smooth objects. The mothers are told that tiny babies delight in playing with little boxes or objects that are easy to open and shut.

Those working in the prorgram have found that children given EIP training who later go to special schools get off to far better starts than those less fortunate. Home visits play an important role in the program and Mrs. Ford sees every family who enters it.

Because of its experimental nature, the National Assistance League is anxious to know all about it, says Mrs. Roy M. Thoroughman, chairman of the local league's projects. A report on EIP in Laguna Beach was given by Mrs. Paul Griem at a recent regional League meeting in San Francisco.

Mrs. Albert C. Vieille and Mrs. Raymond Gilbert, chairman and vice chairman respectively of the league's newest endeavor, and their aides work under the supervision of Mrs. Ford and her assistant, Dorothy Lloyd. Other regular aides include members of Clipped Wings, retired United Airlines stewardesses, among them Stevie Erksneff, Phyllis Healy and Jean Sheeby. The latter two previously had children in the program.

Mrs. Vieille sees the project as an opportunity to give parents support during a critical and traumatic period of adjustment.

"The league is happy to help these parents with like problems to meet to exchange views," she adds. "We are helping to show parents the necessity of providing perceptual and motor experience for the young atypical child.

"We are most anxious to inform parents of the service the League is making available.

"There is hope now where there once was little or none."

Misunderstood Child Needs Mom To Translate Garbled Sentences

We have one child who is misunderstood . . . literally.

From the day he uttered his first word, "Bweaba" (meaning there's a rainbow around my diaper) to present day, no one seems to know what he's talking about.

I don't know why, but I'm the only one in the family who can translate. When he was a toddler, he stood for hours at his father's elbow shouting, "Me no, na, noo noo" and his father would shrug and say, "What's he want?"

"Well, what do you think he wants?" I'd say irritably.

"He's either telling us the dog hates cold spaghetti, he hates the encyclopedia we bought for him, or he just swallowed his pacifier."

"He is trying to tell you he dropped his cookie down his drawers. I mean, how dense can a father be?"

As he got older, things got worse.

"That kid has to have his mouth fixed," said my husband.

"What now?"

"He just told me he has to know all of his bowels by tomorrow because the teacher is having an English elimination."

"He's always had trouble with his V's," I said.

"That isn't all he has trouble with. If he goes around talking like that, they're going to put him in a class where he makes recipe holders out of wooden blocks and clothespins all day."

"All he's ever tried to do," I sighed, "is imitate the rest of the family and he doesn't know how to pronounce the words yet."

"I'll say," said his brother. "He told the whole bus the other morning that you were a syndicated Communist."

"And he told everyone his teacher had hubcaps put on her teeth so they would look better," said his sister.

"And he told a client of mine on the phone the other night that I couldn't come to the phone because I was unapproachable. Really, something has to be done. At a football game the other night he yelled out, 'All we need now is one perversion and we win the game.' "

"What's the matter with that?" I snapped. "I told him myself one player had a mucilage separation in his shoulder and another was having trouble with his nymph gland and with the quarterback having a sensuous shoulder, we needed all the perversions we could get!"

You should have seen my family sit up and look at me. I guess it's because I don't lose my temper too often.

DEAR MOTHER EARTH:

Can Decorating With Plants Be Effective?

By LYNN AND JOEL RAPP

DEAR MOTHER EARTH: I am 18 years old and moving into my first very own apartment. I want to decorate it with plants, mostly because I love plants, but also because my finances are low. Will you suggest what I might do to decorate with plants rather than furniture? – FREE AT LAST

Dear FREE: Creating a Total Environment with plants is beautiful, relaxing and healthy. Don't be afraid to invest in a few large plants, such as Ficus Benjamina, Ficus Elastica (rubber trees – what else?), Kentia Palms or Dracaenas. Large plants, rather than a lot of small ones, create a feeling of "greenery," and will be less work for you.

Dieffenbachias and Scheffleras grow to enormous proportions in good light. Hanging plants are excellent for creating a plant atmosphere. Shop around – we found some plant hangers made of shells in ths dime store. (They weren't a dime, but they were very reasonable and they look super!)

You can make your own macrame hangers. Hang the plants with "toggle bolts," which open up inside the ceiling. You'll rest easier knowing the plants are up to stay. (They're a cinch to use – you'll need a small drill.) For a staggered effect, hang the plants on chains of various lengths. Paint the pots and chains the same color as the ceiling for a professional look. There are so many to choose from – Pothos, grape ivy, ferns, kangaroo vines (Antarticas).

Stick with hassle-free plants and buy wisely according to your light situation. Comb the junkshops and swap meets for colorful containers for the plants. Wall brackets, baker's racks, redwood shelves, all decorative, yet practical ways to live with the plants. Straw baskets, perfect with plants, can be purchased at import stores. (Set a waterproof saucer inside, cover bottom with pebbles and set in the plant.)

White walls reflect the light and complement the plants, so you might want to freshen up the apartment with high-gloss enamel. Sisal carpeting, available at import stores, is reasonable and looks like straw, but wears much longer. (We saw sisal plants growing in Africa.) Shells and a fish tank will add to the feeling of the room. The more natural, the better. If window coverings are necessary, try bamboo shades that can be adjusted to the light, or perhaps inexpensive sheer curtains. Happy growing!

Calendars Used As Popular Tool For Advertising

By Leonard Weiner
Chicago Tribune

It's new calendar time again and manufacturers of the popular advertising tool say sales this year have held up well despite costs pressures and economic sluggishness.

Specialty Advertising Association International estimates advertising calendar sales this year at about 12 per cent to 15 per cent above the 1975 total of $278 million.

Rick Ebel, a spokesman for the trade group, said about 55 per cent of the dollar growth reflects higher prices because of inflation and the rest is actual sales increase.

He said paper cost increases have recently moderated as a price pressure but labor costs remain troublesome.

It is estimated that 400 million advertising calendars are distributed yearly, with patriotism, nostalgia, and scenery the most popular themes.

The Santa Fe Railway has been using illustrations of Southwest Indians on its calendars for more than 50 years. The illustrations come from the railroad's own collection of art.

Larry Longbehn, who distributes calendars, said Bicentennial calendars were "a big flop." A lot of companies saw them as too much a "one-shot deal," he said.

Karl Weindel, president of John Baumgarth Co., a Chicago manufacturer, said there was a drop in sales early in the year but companies have been "catching up" on what they normally would have ordered earlier.

He said 1977 production will continue until the week before Christmas and 1978 production will begin around April.

He said there has been an "upgrading" of calendars in the last decade with better bindings and extra features. The most popular calendar now has a different picture for each month.

George Goes, of Goes Lithographing Co., said there is a bigger demand in small towns for extra large wall calendars.

Banks, insurance companies, and real estate firms are among the biggest users of calendars distributed to the public.

The cost of a calendar can range from as little as 20 cents to more than $5 apiece, depending on quantity and type. Orders can range from only a few hundred to hundreds of thousand.

Speciality Advertising Association traces the first advertising calendar to an Auburn (N.Y.) insurance agent in 1848.

SMALL WORLD-SMALL SANTAS – Santa Claus, alias Gina De Francisco, is delivering mini-Santa centerpieces to be used at the Christmas brunch planned by members of the Small World Guild of Childrens Hospital of Orange County. The 7th annual brunch, proceeds from which will benefit the outpatient services at the hospital, will begin with a social hour at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Tale of the Whale Restaurant in Balboa. A drawing and door prizes will be featured including a Christmas tree complete with handmade ornaments. Mrs. Michael McCain is chairman for the brunch and is assisted by Patty George and Donna Van Slyke, decorations; and Janet Tonkovich and Jackie Powell, invitations. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the guild office at Childrens Hospital of Orange County.

Magazine Endures Since 1919

A lot has changed since 1919, especially American women and the magazines they read. While the women of bygone days were completely pre-occupied with cookbooks, childcare manuals and home improvement magazines, many of today's women are reading up on business, stocks and the economy.

And yet there is one publication that has remained a constant for 57 years. A magazine called 'True Story', first published by health food cultist Bernarr Macfadden in 1919, has a monthly circulation of over 1,700,000.

While it no longer uses letters from Bernarr's Physical Culture magazine as a source for stories, the sense of personal identity remains. And the publication has been joined by an entire group of romance magazines including 'True Confessions', 'True Experience', 'True Love' and 'Secrets', and more, all part of Macfadden Women's Group.

Why has True Story and its sister publications endured? Florence Moriarty, editor-in-chief of all the magazines, believes it is the consistent delivery of stories that relate directly to the problems and issues which affect the readers, and how individuals or families cope with such problems.

"We are not 'Playgirl' or 'Cosmopolitan'," she explains. "While many women's magazines have gone along with the trend for stories that emphasized detailed sexual descriptions, 'True Story' has stayed clear of explicit sex. Although our readers consider sex a serious and important part of life, they are more interested in emotions than anatomy."

Besides emotional love stories and confessions, readers of Macfadden magazines are interested in topical issues according to Mrs. Moriarty.

"We choose not to take a definitive stand on most issues," she said. "But we have presented controversial stories on topics like abortion and gun control which attracted heavy reader response, both pro and con.

Women's service features – food, beauty, fashion, child care, homemaking – have had positive reactions also the editor said. The features have been expanded in all magazines.

An appraisal of the romance market – those women who keep the Macfadden Women's Group in business – was recorded in a recent reader survey.

The typical True Story reader is married, has at least one child, and may hold a non-career job.

She is the wife of a blue collar worker, is under the age of 30, and her life centers around her family. The survey also indicates that she has a strong belief in God, so stories with a religious theme are particularly popular.

To Mrs. Moriarty, being editor-in-chief of the magazines means maintaining a rapport with these readers and having respect for them. That, perhaps, is the best reason for True Story's continuing success, she says.

GW College Programs Focus On Women Alone

"Women Alone Week" at Huntington Beach's Golden West College will focus on a series of special concerns of women in five noon programs Monday through Friday, Dec. 6-10.

Presented by the Women's Center, the programs are planned for women who live alone through divorce or widowhood or who prefer to remain single as well as for women who feel alone because of communication barriers.

All women in the community may attend and there is no admission charge. Pre-registration is not required.

Attorney Stu Katz will conduct a seminar on legal and financial aspects of divorce Monday in the community center. Tuesday's program, aloneness and how to deal with it, will also be held in the center. Speaker will be Joan Woodland, a family counselor.

Don Miller, college instructor in human services, will address problems of children and separateness in the college activities conference room on Wednesday.

According to Miller, children have mixed feelings about separateness – their distortions, fantasies and feelings of isolation will be explored in his presentation.

"Chris and Bernie," a documentary film about single mothers, will be shown Thursday in room 123 of the Math/Science Building. Colleen Kilcoyne, Women's Center director, will lead discussion afterward.

On Friday, a single women's rap session will take place in the community center, bringing together issues that have been dealt with in the four workshops. Leader will be Nancy Kidder of the guidance staff.

Polly's Pointers

Try turpentine on tar stains

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I am at my wit's end. I have a lovely white nylon dress that was only worn twice, when I noticed tar around the hem. The column has been a life saver to me in many ways, so I will keep my eyes peeled for an answer to this. — ROSE.

DEAR ROSE — A U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Bulletin says to use a grease solvent for tar stains. If that does not work, try turpentine. Test on an inconspicuous spot first to see effect on your particular fabric. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — I have still another way to remove deodorant stains from a polyester blouse. My mother used a liquid detergent that she rubbed in full strength and then washed as usual. She did this to remove such stains from several blouses. My husband works in a steel plant and I have found that liquid detergent rubbed in will also remove rust and oil stains from his clothes. — BRENDA.

Thank you, Brenda. This may help Mrs. G.J.S. who has just written to ask for such information. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — I have a recipe for an inexpensive window cleaning solution. Fill a gallon size jar with one pint rubbing alcohol, two tablespoons liquid dishwashing soap, three tablespoons ammonia and fill to top with water and blue or green food coloring. The last is just for looks, so your neighbors will think you are using the expensive stuff. Label the jar and keep it out of reach of children. — JEAN H.

DEAR POLLY — Nice short sleeved shirts can be made from men's or boy's long sleeved shirts that are worn, stained or whatever. For a man's shirt measure and mark eleven inches from the shoulder and eight inches from the underarm, draw a line and cut. Then sew in a one-inch hem. For a boy, the sleeve should be cut somewhat shorter depending on his size.

I received so many terry cloth fingertip towels as wedding gifts. For five years they sat on my linen closet shelf, until I finally found a use for them. Cut a semi-circle out of one end, cover edge with bias tape and leave ends for eight inch-long strings. You have a pretty baby bib that will last longer than any store bought ones I have ever seen. — KATHY.

Polly will send you one of her "peachy" thank-you cards, ideal for framing or placing in your family scrapbook, if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write Polly's Pointers in care of The Register, P.O. Box 11626, Santa Ana 92711.

CURLY
PERMANENT

This easy, comb-in discovery curls even the straightest hair. Called Perform® Hair Set with Protein, it's safe for all types of hair. After you shampoo, spray on Perform with the easy finger pump. Comb it in. Set your hair. Let it dry. Then watch your hair fall into thick, soft curls that last and last! Mussed a little? What freedom! Just comb and those lovely curls fall back into place! The 8 oz. bottle for regular or hard to curl hair gives eight Perform-do's. Find out for yourself. Send 25¢ for a trial supply of Perform. Dept. PW36 Box 268, Hampshire, Illinois 60140

MOBILE HOME
BUYERS & SELLERS
DO YOU KNOW??
What a NET listing is?
What an EXCLUSIVE listing is?

SELLERS....
Why list your mobile home on a net or exclusive listing that stops you from selling it yourself, but lets the mobile home broker add $2000 to $4000. on your price for his own profit!

BUYERS....
Can you afford to pay that $2000. to $4000. extra for a home over what the owner is asking.

THE MOBILE HOME LOCATOR introduces buyers to sellers by appointment, lets you agree on your own price, then does all the necessary paper work & financing to complete your sale.
